The Pope Protests.
Texas Surprises Them.
Whiskers the Fashion.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

BIG FLYING NEWS, as the week begins.

The Hunter brothers continue their non-stop flight above Chicago, with the world's record long since broken. They propose to fly on until the Fourth of July, then drop firecrackers. Their feat is a tribute to their courage and endurance and to the quality of their machine.

WILLIAMS, Boyd and Connor plan new deeds, having flown from New York to Bermuda and back non-stop in 17 hours and 5 minutes. And Dorothy Hester, 19-year-old girl in Portland, Ore., does an "outside loop" after one year's flying. Three times, with two failures in five tries, the young Western girl did what few men have ever done, and no woman ever attempted.

HENRY FORD thinks flying makes Prohibition absolutely necessary, here. Europe does not find it so, but demands moderation. As a rule, European flying companies forbid drinking by pilots for some hours before, and during flight.

Curiously enough, all European countries combined have had fewer aviation accidents due to drinking than this country, in proportion to miles flown.

POPE PIUS complains of Protestant activity in Rome. The plotting is described by the Pope as an unceasing work of invasion and conquest."

The Pope Pius mentions no Protestant sect, but is believed to refer to activities of the Methodist Church.

FIVE NEW CARDINALS were named yesterday. Their names, Rossi, Serafini, Silveira, Selvaggianni and Leinart indicate the supremacy of Italy in the College of Cardinals, is not diminished.

ANOTHER young American surprised the world yesterday in London. This one, Wilmer Allison, from San Antonio, Tex., beat Henri Cochet, the world tennis champion, in three straight sets.

London could not have been more surprised if the young Texan had lifted up the Nelson monument with one hand.

IF YOU plan a trip to London, and want to look fashionable, let your beard grow, in Stone-man fashion. Young Oxford men and the "young set" generally are doing that.

Britain decides that whiskers are necessary to celebrity, a man cannot look convincingly eminent clean-shaven.

They overlook at least three, Alexander, Caesar and Napoleon. They were clean shaven and quite convincing.

THAT STYLE will not last. Whiskers are nests for germs, traps for crumbs, needed only by those that lack character. In the case of doctors they should be made illegal. Scarlet fever and other germs cling doggedly to whiskers.

DR. HARVEY W. WILEY is dead in his eighty-sixth year. He rendered public service and proved the soundness of his theories on diet. He did not, however, equal the record of the famous Italian Cornaro. The latter specialized, long ago, in light eating. He lived to be 94, in good health, and his wife, upon whom he urged his theories, lived past 100.

IT WILL shock good prohibitionists to hear that he limited himself to twelve ounces of solid food and fifteen ounces of wine each day. Thirty-three per cent more wine than food seems a good deal. There is no telling, of course, how much longer he might have lived, had he taken fifteen ounces of ice water.

LACOSTE, second among tennis players, yesterday married Mademoiselle de la Chaume, best female golfer in France.

According to eugenists, their child should be earth's greatest tennis or golf star.

Very probably it will play neither game, and take to flying. Charles A. Dana used to tell of two highly intellectual agriculturists that married, determined to have a family of geniuses. They had one child. Weakminded.

Nature keeps us about even.

MUSSOLINI adds $26,000,000, large sum in Italy, to his annual military expenses. The people patriotically accept more taxation when Mussolini tells them he is "meeting the increasing military expenditures of neighbors," referring to the heavy French border guard.

A WOMAN complains that Jugo-Slavian officials beat her brutally, and frequently, to get political confessions from her. Poland exhausts her resources, keeping in futile readiness for what Russia may do. Only a match is needed in that situation. It is fortunate that the League of Nations, or World Court, back-door League, ties us up with those dangerous conditions. We have war enough in our own bootleg-crime league.

THE RUSSIAN newspaper PRAVDA urges Communists in America to "intensify their activities among Negroes and workers of foreign nationality." The advice is not sound. Negroes and workers, foreign born, are usually willing to work for a living.

Lack of employment is the Communists' best friend, of course. But in ordinary times, propaganda would be most ef-

CITY READY FOR BLUE LAW PARLEY

Plaintiff Hurt in Erection Of Pittsburgher Hotel Had Won Verdict of $102,427

Miss Mary G. Hahn, 23, of 835 Concord street, North Side, who won a verdict of $102,427 in a damage suit against Secretary Mellon and R. B. Mellon, has settled the case for an amount reported to be $77,000, it was learned today, although neither side would disclose the amount.

The verdict was for injuries suffered when a workman employed on construction of the Pittsburgher Hotel dropped a hammer and shattered a window, the flying glass cutting her to such an extent she may be an invalid for life.

She had sued the Mellons as owners of the hotel.

Her attorney, H. Fred Mercer, today refused to comment on the amount of the settlement. He said:

"Both sides have agreed not to tell. The settlement is satisfactory to Miss Hahn."

It followed the granting of a new trial on petition of J. Roy Dickie, counsel for the Mellons.

STATE GIVEN LUZERNE VOTE

HARRISBURG, July 1.—(AP.)—The secretary of the commonwealth today received the vote cast in the recent primary election in Luzerne County, certified yesterday by the Luzerne County commissioners.

The vote was received and handled in the usual way by the State Bureau of Elections. Addition of the Luzerne totals to those of the remainder of the state show that Gifford Pinchot won the Republican nomination for governor, inso far as the records of the bureau are concerned.

The secretary of the commonwealth has been notified by the Supreme Court, to which counsel for Francis Shunk Brown carried an appeal against the acceptance of the Luzerne ballots which were perforated, that arguments will be heard on the validity of the majority of the Luzerne ballots on September 29 in Pittsburgh.

This notification, however, is not interpreted here as staying the regular procedure of the State Election Bureau in going ahead with the computation of the returns and plans for certifying the winners to the county commissioners for printing of the ballots 30 days before the general election to be held November 5.

'Ukulele Ike' Files Suit Against Wife

RECORD FLIERS DEFY FOG

SKY HARBOR AIRPORT, Chicago, July 1.—(INS.)—A saving breeze shortly before noon today blew away the heavy fog that had meant serious danger to John and Kenneth Hunter, pilots of the "City of Chicago" endurance plane, as they flew on in their twentieth day aloft.

In a note dropped to the field when the fog was thickest, John and Kenneth said:

"We are staying up regardless of the weather."

The "Chicago" is in none-too-good shape, even though its motor still drones away with never a break.

Constant vibration has loosened bolts near the motor, and either John or Kenneth will have to snake out on the "cat-walk" and tighten them.

55 HOURS PAST OLD MARK

JADWIN HEADS POWER BOARD

WASHINGTON, July 1.—(AP.)—President Hoover announced today he had appointed Lieut. Gen. Edgar Jadwin as chairman of the newly-created Federal Power Commission.

The Power Commission, the other members of which are yet to be appointed will supersede the three cabinet members serving ex-officio.

Gen. Jadwin, who recently retired as chief of Army engineers, was the author of the plan of Mississippi River flood control, in the flood control act.

Lieut. Gen. Jadwin was district engineer stationed in Pittsburgh for one year, beginning in July, 1916. He left the post to organize the Fifteenth United States Engineers here, which he later led overseas.

No Funds to Pay Capital Employes of Uncle Sam

WASHINGTON, July 1.—(INS.)—Thousands of district government employes went to work this morning for nothing. The municipality is technically broke as the result of the failure of Congress to enact legislation yesterday, the end of the fiscal year, to relieve the situation.

The deadlock over the $44,000,000 appropriation bill for the fiscal year of 1931 did not seem any nearer yielding than it did when the fight over the Federal contribution to the local government started between the Senate and the House.

While no funds are available, various departments will continue to function, on an economical basis, until Congress appropriates necessary funds.

Though $10,000,000 in the United States Treasury is to the credit of the district government, the commissioners are prohibited by law from touching it unless given specific authorization by Congress.

SENATE PERILS NEW PENSION MEASURE

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON, International News Service.

WASHINGTON, July 1.—Congress was heading for further controversy with President Hoover over World War pension legislation today as the Senate prepared to boost the pension rates in the modified bill. Democrats, led by Senators Walsh, of Massachusetts, and Connally, of Texas, sponsored an amendment providing pensions of $10 to $60 a month. They expected to substitute these rates for the administration's range of $12 to $40 a month.

Administration leaders oppose the higher rates on the ground they would so increase the cost of relief that the President again might veto the bill. It was said the Democratic provision would not only increase the average pension but would also admit many thousand more veterans to pensions.

MAY DELAY RECESS

If the new scale is written into the bill as it goes to the White House eventually, adjournment of Congress may be postponed another 10 days. An effort would follow to pass the bill over a veto but if that failed Congress would have to stay in session until a new bill were drafted and enacted, then signed by the President. Friends of the veterans, it was pointed out, would never agree to adjournment until relief legislation is enacted.

Aside from the rates there was general agreement over other provisions of the bill.

SET DISABILITY LOW

Democrats demand pensions be paid for as low as 10 per cent disability, while the administration bill would start relief only to veterans 25 per cent disabled. Both groups would pension only those veterans disabled, but not by their own misconduct in time of peace.

The administration rates, it was stated, would cost the gov-

Ticket Agent Slain, Money Bag Looted

ELIZABETH, N. J., July 1.—(AP.—J. P.) Northrup, 50, ticket agent for the Central Railroad of New Jersey, was slain today as he stepped from the porch of his boarding house, a block from the station.

He was carrying a money bag, containing an undetermined sum. This was found nearby, also considerable change.

Smoot Candidate For Senate Again

SALT LAKE CITY, July 1.—(INS.)—Senator Reed Smoot, who was in charge of the tariff bill recently enacted, will be a candidate for re-election, it was announced here today.

The veteran Senator, an apostle in the Mormon Church, will be married here shortly and leave about July 15 for a honeymoon trip to Honolulu.

Chinese Brigands Free U. S. Missionary

LONDON, July 1.—(INS.)—R. W. Porteous, an American missionary, and his wife, who were captured and held by Chinese brigands since the end of March, have been released and have arrived safely at Kiangsi, it was announced by the China Inland Mission here today.

Crazed Mother's Cliff Murder Fails

GLOBE, Ariz., July 1.—(INS.)—Tranie Best, 40, crazed from narcotics, according to police, today was being held following the beating of her three small children into insensibility and then attempting to hurl them over a 200-foot cliff.

Stop Criticizing, Begin Helping, Says Coolidge

NORTHAMPTON, July 1.

To the Editor of the Sun-Telegraph:

We need more faith in ourselves. Largely because of some decline in trade we have set about finding fault with nearly everybody and everything. We are told the President is wrong, the Congress is wrong, the Supreme Court is wrong, and the cabinet departments, the Federal Reserve Board, the chain stores, the power companies, the radio and even the religious bodies, all are wrong.

CALVIN COOLIDGE

Yet our government, our physical properties and our industries have changed very little from a year or two ago when people were fairly content. We have the same country in charge of almost entirely the same people with substantially the same laws and administration. The most casual consideration shows us that this whole structure could not turn sour over night. But our estimate of it has changed.

Our country, our people, our civil and religious institutions may not be perfect, but they are what we have made them. They are good enough so that it has been necessary to build a high exclusion law to prevent all the world from rushing in to possess them.

My countrymen, it is time to stop criticizing and quarreling and begin sympathizing and helping.

CALVIN COOLIDGE.

CITY ADMITTED IN RATE CASE

WASHINGTON, July 1.—(INS.)—The City of Pittsburgh today received permission from the Interstate Commerce Commission to intervene in the so-called lake cargo coal freight rate case, in which northern bituminous operators are seeking to secure a revision of the present rates and relationships on lake cargo traffic.

City Solicitor Charles A. Waldschmidt said today that he is pushing plans to enter the official protest of the city against unfair freight rates before the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Waldschmidt has planned a conference with other attorneys in the case, but has yet to hear from some of them located in Washington who have taken an active part in earlier hearings.

Waldschmidt also expected to appear before the state Public Service Commission in the fall in cases involving intra-state rates.

The city entered these cases officially two weeks ago on a resolution presented by Councilman W. Y. English.

Al Smith Claims 'Victory' Over Byrd

NEW YORK, July 1.—(AP.)—Al Smith has won a race with Dick Byrd. It came out at the New York Athletic Club's dinner to the admiral.

"I started for Washington about the same time the admiral started for the Pole and beat him back by almost 20 months," said Al.

BLUE LAW FOES WIN 2 TOWNS

Results of the poll to date in North Braddock and Fitcairn will be published tomorrow.

Sports and amusements denied by the Blue Law of Pennsylvania are wanted in Munhall and Oakdale. Voters of the two boroughs, casting ballots in the poll of Allegheny County by the Sun-Telegraph, are giving marked majorities in favor of bringing to an end the 136 years' existence of rigid Sunday restrictions. The ratio in each borough is five votes for repeal to each vote for enforcement. The divisions are:

	Munhall	Oakdale
Enforcement	48	9
Modification	26	3
Repeal	236	46

Ballots from all subdivisions of the county to date total 57,846 in the latest poll tabulation. The ratio prevails of five votes for repeal for each vote for enforcement and the total vote is proportioned: 77 per cent for repeal, 15 per cent for enforcement and 8 per cent for modification. The votes are divided:

	Men	Women	Total
Enforcement	5,020	3,936	8,956
Modification	2,897	1,601	4,498
Repeal	30,895	13,497	44,392

Only two more days remain in which registered voters of Pittsburgh who have received ballots may return them. The poll of the city will close this week and the final results will be published Sunday. The poll of the remainder of the county will continue an additional week.

COUNCILMEN JOIN PHILA IN FIGHT

Little, Muldowney, Connelly Named to Meet Easterners In Modification Drive

John S. Herron, president of City Council, today appointed Councilmen Harry A. Little, M. J. Muldowney and C. B. Connelly as a committee, with Little as chairman, to confer with a committee from Philadelphia Council regarding deciding ways and means of procuring modification of the Blue Laws of 1794, prohibiting Sunday amusements.

Little said the committee has not yet been officially invited to meet with the Philadelphians, but would be glad to confer with them at any time and place that would be convenient to them.

He added that the Pittsburgh committee would hold public hearings at dates to be determined later, at which all who are interested will be afforded opportunity to air their views on the Blue Laws.

MAJORITY ANTI-BLUE

An unofficial poll of Council today indicates a majority of the members were in favor of modification, the vote being five for modification, three against and one non-committal.

Robert J. Alderdice is undecided.

Robert Garland, George J. Kamlarch and W. Y. English are opposed to Council's doing anything in regard to the Blue Laws, because, they say, it is not properly Council's business, but a matter for the Legislature.

Philadelphia Calls Pitts. To Conference on Blue

PHILADELPHIA, July 1. (AP.)—After a plea for toleration and liberalization of the Sunday blue laws by Mayor Harry A. DRY LAW CALLED FAILURE AS ENFORCEMENT CONTROL SHIFTS

N. Y. EX-CZAR OUT FOR REPEAL

Fate of Wickersham Inquiry At Stake While Congress Dallies Over Voting Funds

Transfer of prohibition enforcement from the Treasury Department to the Department of Justice was effected today with these developments:

1. Two resigned prohibition administrators declared prohibition a failure, one advocating absolute repeal.

2. The life of the Wickersham Law Enforcement Commission was at stake in a dry fund battle embroiling both houses of Congress.

3. Congressional investigation of charges that political interference hampered enforcement in New York was demanded in the House, while the bill modifying the Jones "5 and 10" law was reported to the Senate.

'EXILE' URGES REPEAL

NEW YORK, July 1.—(INS.)—Andrew McCampbell, New York's new prohibition administrator, assumed his duties today on the heels of a fiery swan song by his predecessor, Maj. Maurice Campbell.

Campbell, for three years administrator here, resigning rather than accept transfer to Boston, issued a public statement. He said prohibition cannot hope to succeed and charged that Republican politicians wanted him exiled so they could obtain brewery whisky and alcohol permits for powerful friends.

HE STOOD IN THEIR WAY

Campbell's explanation follows:

"There are certain brewery, whisky and alcoholic permits that local politicians and certain administration officials in Washington feel must be issued, to secure necessary support for the Republican ticket in New York next fall. With the charge of permits, Treasury officials know these will not be used.

"Prohibition is not the logical solution for temperance in our form of government. I now publicly advocate repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment before our nation is consumed by the fires of its consequences."

DECLARES LAW FAILURE

TOLEDO, O., July 1.—(INS.)—Abandoning the noncommittal attitude he had assumed after announcement of his resignation, William H. O'Neill, former prohibition administrator for the Northwestern Ohio District, today declared prohibition "a failure experiment." He said:

"I see no way in which it can be enforced."

The resignation had been submitted to Commissioner William N. Woodruff of the twelfth district, with headquarters in Columbus.

GIVE TO FLYING START

WASHINGTON, July 1.—(INS.)—Uncle Sam's newest plan for enforcement of the United States got off to a flying start when the Department opened for business at 8 a. m. today.

The Prohibition Bureau began to function under the direction of Attorney General Mitchell, instead of Secretary Mellon, though the latter retained the Industrial Alcohol Bureau, the Coast Guard and Customs Service, the latter being charged with the detection of smuggling.

Thomas W. W. Woodcock, yesterday United States attorney at Baltimore, the new chief of prohibition, had nothing to say definitely about his duties other than the conventional statement that he "intended to enforce the law."

LIFE OF QUIZ AT STAKE

Meanwhile, Congress today was embroiled in a renewal of the prohibition warfare which has been waged intermittently during the long session, with President Hoover's law enforcement program as the issue.

Spurred on by demands of Mr. Hoover, administration leaders were planning a final drive for continuation of the Wickersham Law Enforcement Commission and enactment of the remainder of his program to tighten up dry enforcement.

The Wickersham Commission, created last year by Congress at the behest of the President—had virtually gone out of existence today, as the fiscal year 1930 closed at midnight. The appropriation made for the commission had expired.

HOUSE INQUIRY ASKED

In the House a Congressional investigation was asked of charges made by Maj. Maurice Campbell, ousting prohibition administrator for New York City, that the dry laws are used by Republican politicians "for political purposes. Representative Celler (Dem.), of New York, sponsored this move.

He filed a resolution on the floor of the House, calling for an inquiry to be conducted by the Judiciary Committee.

In the Senate, the House bill amending the Jones law, to provide harsher penalties for first violations of the dry act, was ordered reported by the Judiciary Committee.

WILSON STARTS DRY REGIME

Harold D. Wilson, assistant prohibition administrator, who, upon the departure of Administrator John D. Pennington to Philadelphia, assumed charge of enforcement in Western Pennsylvania, has announced appointments in the personnel of the enforcement unit.

The following were named group heads and special assistants: P. R. McCandless, E. A. Woy, J. D. Knight, R. H. Sparks, A. D. Bressler, R. R. O'Rourke and Charles Barnhart.

The six members of the legal staff were assigned as heads of the following departments: C. H. Whetstone, legal section; J. Y. Piper, case report section; G. W. Rouse, injunction section; D. H. Carragher, libel section; M. H. Hamrick, basic permits, and A. T. Leith, commissioner's hearings.

Wilson's first official act was the holding of a long conference with United States Attorney Louis E. Graham today.

Boy's Killer Moved To Prevent Violence

HOT SPRINGS, Okla., July 1.—(AP.)—Rumors of mob violence after a coroner's jury had recommended that L. W. Harris, filling station proprietor, be held for the killing of Edward Greer, 16, caused sheriff's officers to remove Harris from the Hughes County Jail to the state penitentiary at McAlester.

Henry Greer, 18, Edward's brother, who was wounded at the same time, was reported near death. The boys, it was testified, stopped in Harris' driveway at night to fix a tire on their car. Awakened, Harris opened fire, it was declared. He declared later he thought the boys were trying to steal gasoline.

Negro Held After Crash Hurting Girl

John Stephens, 28, Negro, of 5733 Holden street, is being held by Ingram police charged with operating a car while under the influence of liquor and having no operator's or car license, as a result of a crash on Hodgson avenue, Ingram, at 3:45 this morning. When the car hit a telephone pole and turned over, Edith Lane, 17, Negress, of 7018 Kelly street, was slightly hurt.

fective among those that think the world owes them a living, with little or no work.

ANDREW M'CAMPBELL, new and energetic prohibition administrator for New York, proposes to curb liquor at its source, attacking night clubs and speakeasies.

To dry up the latter, according to New York policemen that know, would be as hard as mopping up the Atlantic.

THERE ARE about 40,000 "regular" speakeasies in New York, and as many irregular drink salesrooms, in private flats, small stores and elsewhere.

Mr. McCampbell need not feel disgraced if he fails to close all those places, for when one speakeasy is shut, its management immediately opens elsewhere, often next door.

NEW NARCOTICS BUREAU OPENS

WASHINGTON, July 1.—(Universal.)—The new separate Bureau of Narcotics, just created by Congress and expected to strengthen greatly the fight against the drug evil, begins functioning today.

Assistant Prohibition Commissioner H. J. Anslinger will be its acting head, pending the appointment of a narcotics commissioner, Secretary Mellon having indicated that an appointment may be made in the near future.

The bureau provides a single control over all narcotics administration. It will operate under Treasury supervision. Heretofore control has been vested in a division of the Prohibition Bureau.

Auto Found Ablaze, Believed Stolen Car

North Side police today were investigating what they believe was an attempt to destroy a stolen automobile. A car without license plates was discovered burning in Mathias road early this morning. Residents of the district reported seeing two men run from the car a moment before the flames were discovered. The damage was $50, firemen said.

June Auto-Death Rate Highest of Year

More persons were killed in Allegheny County as the result of automobile accidents during June than in any previous month this year, according to figures released today by Coroner W. J. McGregor. The total was 35. The next highest figure this year was 30 in April.

Last month there were 20 suicides in the county, believed to be a new high record.

Seven persons were charged with manslaughter and held to await action by the grand jury as a result of the 35 automobile fatalities in June.

Only eight persons were drowned in June, as compared with 15 in May before life guards took up their summer work. Other deaths in June were: Falls, 12; carbon monoxide, four; burns, two; accidental shooting, one; hydrophobia, one; street car, one; motorcycle, one. During the month the coroner's office investigated 240 deaths.

PARLEY CALLED ON BLUE LAW

Council and get the views of its members.

In addressing the committee, Mayor Mackey said he wanted to treat the subject as a churchman.

ALL VIOLATE LAW

He said:

"I refuse to be misunderstood in this respect. I am not for a commercial Sunday. I would not, if I could, open the Sabbath day for free, commercial enterprises. I am merely for liberalization to give, particularly our working people, an opportunity for innocent recreation and amusement that they otherwise could not enjoy.

"It is clearly evident that every one in the pulpit or out of the pulpit, in the church or out of the church, in some particular violates the strict interpretation of this law. [Sunday Blue Laws of 1794.] Therefore, I say it is time to end this bigotry, this regime of intolerance and this false morality.

MANY BALL GAMES

"In Pennsylvania today there is an average of 500 baseball games played every Sunday, and yet in those sections where Sabbatarians have organized a society and hired prosecuting officers, such sections are denied the privileges that nine-tenths of the state enjoy. This is one of the reasons that I am asking for an amendment of this law to bring about uniformity of privileges as well as enforcement.

"My position is that no man in this democracy has the right to violate this law as he chooses and then turn to his neighbor and say, 'You are a bad citizen because you do not adopt my standards.'

SENATE ACTION ON TREATY TO LAG OVER 4TH

Hoover Permits Holiday With Adjournment; Will Call Special Session Monday

WASHINGTON, July 1.—(AP.)—Word that President Hoover will not ask the Senate to meet on the Fourth of July received a cordial welcome today from many weary members of that branch of Congress.

It was announced at the White House that Mr. Hoover would have the special session for consideration of the London naval treaty convene on Monday, if Congress adjourns tomorrow or Thursday.

Previously the President had said the special session would be convened on the day following the adjournment of the regular session.

SENATORS FEAR UPSET

There were a few senators, however, who feared a recess of several days might upset plans for ratification.

They were of the opinion many members would not return to Washington once they had left the city.

Foes of the pact, who are insistent that the treaty debate be postponed until fall, intend to move for a recess until November, if at any time during the special session a quorum cannot be mustered.

BEATTY ATTACKS PACT

LONDON, July 1.—(AP.)—Earl Beatty, admiral of the fleet, attacked the London naval treaties vigorously in the House of Lords today. He declared that England was the only nation under the treaty that made any disarmament or reduction of its sea strength.

Admiral Beatty told the Lords that Britain was obliged to make such reduction that she was rendered impotent and incapable of maintaining control over the various parts of her far-flung empire.

"In the United States," Earl Beatty said, "the conference has had the result of increasing their armaments in cruisers by no less than 232,000 tons."

2 NEW JUDGES TAKE OATHS

The oath of office as judges of Common Pleas Court was administered today to Judge Sylvester J. Snee and Judge Joseph Stadtfeld at a ceremony in the assignment room of the court.

Floral tributes were banked about the room and friends of the two appointees of Gov. John S. Fisher crowded the chamber to witness the ceremony.

The oath of office was administered by President Judge James R. Macfarlane, of Allegheny County Court.

In attendance were other jurists. The commission of Judge Stadtfeld was presented by his son, Attorney Harold R. Stadtfeld.

Both appointees were made by Gov. Fisher to fill existing vacancies on the bench.

MISSOULA, Mont., July 1.—(AP.)—A carnival train rushing down on Bear Mouth crossing today found a truck of high explosive standing in its path.

The engine sheared the truck in halves. Cases of explosive, all intact, rained down upon the spot where many a road agent laid in ambush years ago.

SECOND DEATH IN 150-FOOT AUTO PLUNGE

Police Arrest 70 in Drive To Curb Traffic Toll Here; Survey Need Pointed Out

The toll of the automobile accident in the Boulevard of the Allies, near Miltenberger street, Friday, mounted to two with the death last night in Mercy Hospital of Earl A. Hayman, 55, of 12 Vancouver street, Ingram. His wife, Mrs. Ella Hayman, 45, the first victim, died several hours after the machine in which they were riding crashed through the boulevard railing and landed on the tracks of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad 150 feet below.

A third passenger, Mrs. Elizabeth Rodgers, 50, of 2409 Hobson street, is still in Mercy Hospital in serious condition.

SEVENTY ARRESTS

As a sequel to the accident, motorcycle police acting on orders of Police Supt. Peter P. Walsh launched a crusade against reckless driving throughout the city. Yesterday's drive netted more than 70 arrests.

Fifteen persons paid fines ranging from $5 to $25, nine were discharged, five failed to appear and 27 had their hearings postponed. The other 17 cases concerned minor affairs.

The fatal boulevard crash occurred when the victims' machine was sideswiped by another car.

Traffic accidents similar to those on the Boulevard of the Allies might be prevented by a careful analysis of traffic accident data, George E. Clarkson, chairman of the accident prevention section of the Better Traffic Committee, asserted in a letter to City Council today.

REPORTS SOUGHT

The letter urged the immediate passage of the proposed accident reporting ordinance now before City Council, which would require that reports on all accidents in Pittsburgh be made to the Bureau of Traffic Planning and the Bureau of Police as well as to the state Bureau of Motor Vehicles.

In explaining his assertion, Clarkson said:

"Many kinds of traffic accidents depend upon the physical condition of the road and upon the traffic control system in operation. We feel that the accidents which have occurred on the Boulevard of the Allies recently could have been prevented had we had sufficient data in advance to suggest remedial measures. There are many other hazardous spots in the city which could be made more safe both for drivers and pedestrians. Some of these points have been studied and remedies offered."

ILLINOIS SLUSH QUIZ JULY 14

CHICAGO, July 1.—(AP.)—Senate investigation into campaign expenditures for the Illinois senatorial campaign will go forward in Chicago July 14.

Senator Gerald P. Nye, of North Dakota, chairman of the Senate committee, and Senator C. C. Dill, of Washington, another member of the committee, have been in the city to determine witnesses and draw subpenas.

Both the amount and the manner in which it was expended in the senatorial primaries will be scrutinized, the committee members said. Nye, Dill and possibly Senator Porter H. Dale, of Vermont, will act as a sub-committee for the Illinois hearing.

Other sub-committees will hold hearings in the investigation of expenditures in New Jersey and Pennsylvania and Nye indicated the committee might also look into the Oklahoma situation.

HOOVER DEFIED ON PENSIONS

ernment $31,000,000 the first year, increasing to $82,000,000 in the fifth year. The Democratic rates, it was added, would cost $58,000,000 the first year, increasing to $167,000,000 the fifth year. Other provisions of the bill would add from $6,000,000 to $10,000,000 to this cost.

WOULD BOOST NUMBER

It also was stated that administration provisions would admit 156,000 men to pensions, while the Democratic amendment would give pensions to 288,000. It was further declared the amendment would increase the average pension from $18 to $20 a month.

There appeared little doubt the President would veto the bill if the higher rates prevailed. Consequently, administration leaders were concentrating on holding the cost of the bill to the limits acceptable to the White House. If they lose in the Senate, they hoped to win by having the House reject the increases, so the Senate either would have to kill the bill or take the administration's range.

Russ Famine Riots Send Score to Death

RIGA, July 1.—(INS.)—Famine conditions in Soviet Russia have caused serious strikes and riots and indirectly resulted in the loss of at least a score of lives within the last 24 hours, it was reported in dispatches reaching here today. The fatalities occurred in a city of the Ukraine when a plank bridge over a ravine collapsed beneath the weight of hundreds of Soviet women fighting to storm a public market after announcement of a sale of herrings.

Mr. Gates was elected president of the university on June 9 and will take office in the fall.

BUSINESS UPTURN AHEAD

Governors Told Present Slump Due to Mental Attitude; Faith Restored

International News Service.

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, July 1.—A confident prediction that an upturn in business is near was voiced today by Gov. Louis L. Emmerson, of Illinois, speaking at the annual conference of governors here.

The executive declared that the present slump is due in no small part to the mental attitude of the nation.

He declared:

"It will not end until we forget the stock market crash and remember that the country lost not a single penny of real value in that slump. Every loss sustained was a loss of imaginary values, which were created by speculation and which in reality did not exist.

NATION LOST NOTHING

"In the final analysis the nation as a whole lost nothing in real wealth or real purchasing power, because for every loser there was to be found somewhere along the line a profit taker.

"However, a mental reaction set in which, traveling in a cycle, cut consumption and then production. When we forget the stock market losses and remember that the basic prosperity of America hasn't been affected then business will pick up and conditions improve.

FAITH HAS ARRIVED

"Today we more nearly appreciate our interdependence than at any previous period of history because we understand each other better. With understanding has come faith and confidence."

The governor traced the growth of the great West and visualized America forging ahead to a great future.

Hoover Tells Governors Of Public Works Gain

WASHINGTON, July 1.—The United States has shown a tremendous increase in public works over 1929, President Hoover told the governors' conference at Salt Lake City, in a speech over the radio from his office last night.

Figures just compiled for the first six months of 1930 show expenditures of more than $1,700,000,000, or $200,000,000 in excess of the same period in the boom year of 1929, he declared.

There is every indication that the remaining six months will witness even greater outlays, he said.

DRY MEN RAID CLUB, HOME

Raiding a club and a dwelling in Woods Runs avenue, prohibition agents last night seized a 100-gallon still and a large quantity of moonshine, and arrested one man.

Charles Goetz, 48, was arrested in a raid on the club on the second floor of 1133 Woods Run avenue, agents said. After battering down two steel doors, raiders confiscated large quantities of gin and moonshine, reported.

A 100-gallon still, 22 barrels mash and 40 gallons of moonshine were found in a dwelling, 814 Woods Run avenue, it was reported. No arrests were made.

Gasoline Tax Drop Saves County $100,000 Monthly

Gasoline tax which has been 4 cents per gallon in Pennsylvania for the last year, reverted back to 3 cents today. Allegheny County used 9,786,000 gallons during April and at this rate will save approximately $100,000 per month with the reduced price.

However, on June 1, all the large gasoline supply companies in this district raised their price one cent. Today it is back to the original price of one month ago, 24 cents for ethyl and 21 cents for motor gasoline at retail stations.

C. H. Roth, secretary of the Pittsburgh Motor Club, asks all motorists to keep the reduction in mind because it is probable all the dealers have not been informed of the lower tax by the state department of revenue.

Gasoline tax in Pennsylvania dates back to 1921. The tax was raised to four cents last year in order to meet the demands for new roads and maintenance of old highways, leaders in the Legislature stated.

All states now have a gasoline tax of two cents per gallon or more. Florida has the highest tax, 6 cents per gallon. The average for all the states is four cents, the motor club announces.

LINGLE KILLING ROUNDUP REVEALS NEW GANG MURDER

YEAR'S 42ND VICTIM SHOT TO DEATH

Ten Suspects Seized, One As Man Who Pointed Out Reporter Marked to Die

CHICAGO, July 1.—Another killing — making victim No. 42 in the year's gang warfare—came to light today as police rounded up 10 followers of George (Bugs) Moran in connection with the murder of Alfred Lingle, Chicago Tribune reporter.

The body of the man dead of bullet wounds was found on the bank of the Des Plaines river today near Riverside.

The man had been dead about 10 hours. His body was clad in dark trousers and white shirt. He wore a gray cap and tennis shoes.

Because of the tennis shoes and cap the Riverside police suggested the victim might be Red Bolton, notorious West Side saloonkeeper and gangster who wears sports garb in the summer.

'POINTER' BELIEVED HELD

The 10 members of the Moran gang included the man who police say, trailed Lingle and pointed him out to the killer.

The alleged trailer is Grover Dullard, once a chauffeur for the Druggan beer interests now in the employ of Moran. Seized with Dullard in two surprise raids by detectives were the latter other Moran associates and a girl office attendant in the gang leader's "payoff" headquarters.

Dullard had been sought for days, and according to information obtained shortly after the subway assassination of June 9, it was he who pointed out Lingle to the tall blond killer employed to put the reporter on the "spot."

MOTIVE ESTABLISHED

Investigators say they have definitely established the motive for the assassination. It goes straight to Moran deadly enemy of "Scarface" Alphonse Capone and involves Lingle's alleged use of police in harassing Moran's gambling interests on the North Side, according to detectives of the state's attorney's office.

Lingle was ordered slain, it is said, because he defied Moran when the latter planned to open the Sheridan Wave Club, a gambling resort. Lingle demanded a "split" of 40 per cent in return for a guarantee of police protection, investigation has disclosed, and at this Moran is reported to have balked.

WOMAN HELD IN WEST

LOS ANGELES, July 1.—(AP)—A woman giving the name of Mrs. Frank Bowman, of Chicago, tentatively identified by police as Mrs. Frankie Foster, whose husband has been prominently mentioned in connection with the slaying of Alfred Lingle, Chicago newspaper man, was held here today.

She was arrested at the request of Chicago authorities and is held incommunicado at a hotel.

N. J. Gangster Slain At Wheel of His Car

CAMDEN, N. J., July 1.—(INS)—The staccato roar of a machine gun shattered the early morning stillness here today and the bullet-riddled body of Rocco (Sneezie) Matteo, 25, slumped over the wheel of his automobile. He was slain by rival gangsters or rum racketeers, police said.

Matteo, according to 10 witnesses of the killing, drove in front of his home and was about to alight when another car came to a skidding halt beside his. The nose of a machine gun was trained on him and a hail of bullets was poured into him. The quartet did not stop to see the effect of their volley, but sped away in the darkness.

Former Pittsburgh Mine Engineer Dies

WEST HARWICH, Mass., July 1.—(INS.)—A transcontinental race with death by airplane today had proved futile for Richard H. Robinson, of San Francisco, whose father, Cyrus Robinson, of Mount Vernon, N. Y., mining engineer and friend of President Hoover, died at his summer home here before the son arrived.

Robinson at one time practiced his profession in Pittsburgh.

The fliers, both of whom play want to relieve the monotony.

At 1:01 p. m. Pittsburgh time the Chicago had surpassed the old endurance mark by 55 hours.

At 1:49 p. m. Pittsburgh time today the fliers had been aloft more than 475 hours, and had made plans to stay in the air until their plane fails.

An airplane carrying a short-wave transmitter will fly over the City of Chicago tonight and lower a microphone to the aviators so they can describe their experiences to a radio audience. Their talk will be broadcast over the Columbia Broadcasting System at 8:00 p. m. Pittsburgh daylight saving time.

The National Broadcasting Company also has arranged for a special broadcast from Sky Harbor tonight at 9:30 Pittsburgh time; the announcer to go up in an Army plane and describe the pilots and their planes as they engage in refueling contact.

DANGEROUS CLEAN UP

The new holders of the world record already have put in their order for a supply of fireworks to amuse themselves on July 4.

Kenneth Hunter, who has climbed out on the catwalk daily to grease the motor and tighten various connections, plans to straddle the fuselage of the cabin plane today and wriggle back to the tail assemblage in an effort to remove bits of paper, strings and refuse which have lodged on the elevators and rudder during the contacts.

The brothers fear the refuse might foul the controls.

Dale Jackson, of St. Louis, who with Forrest O'Brine set the former world record, planned to fly over the City of Chicago today in the St. Louis Robin and drop a wreath of flowers into the new champions' plane.

The flier at 1:40 a. m. Pittsburgh time, today had earned $5,500 on a guarantee of $100 an hour.

"Unless something unexpected happens I don't think they will come down before the Fourth of July, anyway," said Walter Hunter, the brother who flies the refueling plane.

Throughout the flight Irene Hunter, a sister, has prepared the food which has been flown to the record-breakers.

SEA FLIERS SET TO CROSS U. S.

NEW YORK, July 1.—(INS.)—Maj. Charles Kingsford-Smith and his three companions, who spanned the Atlantic from Ireland to New York in a one-stop flight, planned a day of rest today preparatory for their transcontinental hop tomorrow.

The fliers hope to take off tomorrow in their plane the Southern Cross, for San Francisco, thus completing their jaunt around the world. They originally flew from California to Australia.

Maj. Kingsford-Smith and others of the Southern Cross crew returned here last night from Washington, where they were presented to President Hoover.

WAIT FOR PARK IN VOTE QUIZ

Wilmerding's empty ballot box and the allegations that James F. Richards, who was defeated in the borough election for tax collector, issued fraudulent tax receipts prior to the election, are awaiting the return of District Attorney Andrew T. Park from his Canadian vacation.

First Assistant District Attorney George F. P. Langfitt said today that the matters were too important to be handled by an assistant. The district attorney will be back next week.

Quake Danger Seen In Mississippi Plan

WASHINGTON, July 1.—(AP)—The opinion that an earthquake in the Mississippi valley may occur at any time" unless the present method of flood control is changed was expressed in a radio address by Representative Stone of Oklahoma.

Speaking over the National Broadcasting Company chain, the Oklahoman urged adoption of the reservoir system of flood control and asserted that unless the Jadwin plan was amended a billion dollars would be wasted and the Mississippi valley would continue to be visited by annual destructive floods.

Carol to Meet Jugoslav Ruler in Peace Parley

BUCHAREST, July 1.—(Universal.)—King Carol of Rumania and King Alexander of Jugoslavia will meet shortly somewhere on the border of their two countries in friendly parley, it was learned today.

The monarchs, it is understood, will discuss vital problems affecting the Little Entente and the peace of the Balkans.

The fact that the two Kings are to confer was revealed when it was learned that Dr. Vojislav Marinkovic, Jugoslavian minister for foreign affairs, yesterday had an audience with the Rumanian monarch at which he discussed the proposed agenda for the meeting.

VIENNA, July 1.—(AP.)—An agency telegram from Bucharest today said Queen Helen had requested her ladies-in-waiting and other attendants never to use the word queen when addressing her, but simply to say princess. The story was accepted here as an indication that reconciliation with King Carol still was remote.

Mix's Allowance Needed To Buy Home, Bride Says

LOS ANGELES, July 1.—(AP.)—An affidavit by Mrs. Ruth Mix Gilmore setting forth alleged promises made to her by her father, Tom Mix, cowboy film star, was on file today in Mrs. Gilmore's suit to prevent Mix from discontinuing the payment of $250 a month for her support.

After her recent marriage to Douglas Gilmore, screen actor, Mix sought cancellation of the agreement under which he was paying for Mrs. Gilmore's support.

Mrs. Gilmore's affidavit, filed yesterday, said Mix promised to continue the $250 monthly payments until she was 21, and had assured her he would make her a motion picture star. The affidavit said he had done nothing toward obtaining motion picture work for her and that she needed the monthly income because she had purchased a $13,000 home.

Alleged Radio Thief To be Brought Here

City Detective James Stratton was in Philadelphia today preparing to return here tonight with Max Joseph E. Hines, 35, said to be wanted for the alleged theft of 100 radios.

Police say Hines obtained a customers' list from a store and visited each new radio owner, declaring a mistake had been made in the delivery and he would take the set back and have a new one delivered in its place.

LOREE RAILWAY HEARING SET

WASHINGTON, July 1.—(INS.)—The Interstate Commerce Commission announced today it would hear oral arguments July 15 on the application of the New York, Pittsburgh and Chicago Railroad for authority to build a line across Pennsylvania from Easton to Allegheny City, a distance of 284 miles. A decision probably will not be reached before fall.

This project, sponsored by I. F. Loree, has been before the commission for several years. It has been vigorously fought by a group of eastern railroads, who claim its cost would be excessive and would divert traffic from existing lines that are capable of handling all the traffic that could be developed.

Mrs. Nellie Ross Fractures Ankle

QUIZ IN DOCTOR HOUSE TO ACT SHOOTING LAGS FOR JOBLESS

Although city detectives are said to have determined that Dr. William H. Semmelrock, 43, of 211 Brownsville road, Carrick, was shot during an argument with his wife, and not accidentally by himself, as first reported, both police and detectives today would not indicate they intended to further investigate the case or push a prosecution.

Lieut. John M. Vandall of No. 14 Police Station today said that since the shooting he has talked to the Semmelrocks twice and they insist that the shooting was accidental and that the gun was in Dr. Semmelrock's hand.

Dr. Semmelrock is in South Side Hospital with a bullet in his cheek.

Questioned at the hospital Dr. Semmelrock is reported to have said he had quarrelled with his wife in the Diehl home and that during the quarrel two shots were fired. One bullet went wild and the other struck him in the cheek.

TWO DEAD, HEAT RELIEF DUE

Showers and thunderstorms predicted by the Weather Bureau, the first of which arrived early today, were expected to break the heat wave which caused two deaths in the Pittsburgh district yesterday. The mercury yesterday climbed to 90 degrees.

The first victim of the heat was Michael Sigella, 32, of Willock, who fell dead while mowing the lawn in front of his home. Heart failure superinduced by the heat was attributed as the cause.

Earl Robinson, 21, a Negro, of Hogan way, Turtle Creek, was drowned while bathing in the Monongahela River at the foot of Oliver street, Duquesne, last night. The body was recovered a few minutes later.

The will of Paul S. Whitman, of Ingram, filed for probate today, disposes of an estate estimated at $18,000. The income goes to his widow for life. At her death the estate is to be divided equally between his two sons, John L. and Paul S. Whitman, Jr. The Union Trust Company is named executor.

WASHINGTON July 1.—(INS.)

Congressional recognition of unemployment as a permanent national problem neared today as Speaker Longworth, of the House, announced he would permit a vote on two bills of the Wagner program under suspension of rules.

One measure provides a $150,000,000 public works fund to be drawn upon in time of emergency, and sets up a cabinet board to plan in advance to meet periods of economic depression and unemployment.

The second provides a system of gathering accurate statistics on unemployment which is expected to give a basis for legislative action.

Fearing their children might contract infantile paralysis, at a time when it was epidemic, Mary M. Kerr, 314 Woodland road, Edgeworth, left Columbus, O., to live with her mother in Edgeworth. However, when her husband finally returned from Columbus, after losing his job, he would hardly speak to his wife, and refused to live with her. Kerr is now living in New Brighton. Judge James B. Drew has granted Mrs. Kerr a divorce on grounds of desertion.

Burial will be in Rock Creek Cemetery. He died yesterday at 86, from heart attack.

Rites Held for Victim Of Park Chief's Boy

Funeral services were to be held in Alliance, O., today for Joseph Neiberding, 16, of Sherman avenue, North Side, who was fatally injured Friday when struck by a bat in the hands of William Hartlep, supervisor of North Side parks. The body was removed to Alliance Sunday night.

Neiberding died in the Presbyterian Hospital Saturday morning from a fractured skull. He and several companions had been playing baseball in West Park and Hartlep had broken up their game by taking a baseball bat and several gloves.

Conflicting stories are told how the youth was injured. Hartlep says he believed the youths were about to attack him and that the swung the bat in self-defense. dead boy's father says his companions inform him Hartlep struck the boy bent over to pick up a had fallen from the pa hands.

Coroner William announced yesterday ers, for the inquest in death would not be thorough investigati made of Hartlep's s defense and of the ho Hartlep swung cause.

GEORGE HEARST HEADS AIR FIRM

SACRAMENTO, July 1 (AP)—Hearst Aircraft Corporation, to engage in the manufacture of aircraft, was incorporated here today with a capital stock of $1,000,000.

The corporation plans to engage in the aircraft operations, including the manufacture of aircraft engines, flying equipment and the building of aircraft. Extensive hangar buildings, hangar and landing facilities were included in the program.

Proposed activities were also said to include establishing aerial transportation for passengers and property, and the use of aircraft in advertising work. A state charter was issued.

The Hearst Corporation will begin business with an issue of $500,000 divided into 50,000 shares of $10 each.

In addition to George R. Hearst, directors include Randolph W. Hearst and Julian Heywood, of San Francisco, where headquarters of the corporation will be maintained.

BIDS ON 4 CITY JOBS OPENED

Bids for four projects were received today by County Commissioners Charles C. Mellor, Jr., and Edward V. Babcock and Controller Robert G. Woodside.

S. T. Brickenstein & Sons submitted a low bid of $177,155 for the construction of the Chartiers Creek Bridge. The high bid for this bridge was $277,111 from John F. Casey Company.

The Union Engineering and Construction Company with a bid of $61,443 was low for Dunlap Bull Creek Bridge.

The low bid for electrical work on the West End-North Side Bridge was $17,770 from Delmar Electric Company. Sprague & Hemwood were low with $432 for test borings at the new juvenile detention home.

It isn't necessary to work at a job you do not like. Sun-Telegraph Classified Ads will help you locate a position more to your taste.

GOSSER TURNING OVER HIS OFFICE

POSTMASTER GEORGE W. GOSSER

INSPECTOR WILLIAM S. KENYON
will have charge until a new postmaster is appointed. Leading candidates are L. L. Hill and Bert Anderson, both now in the service.

Says He's Czarevich, Gets 8-Year Term

MOSCOW, July 1.—(INS)—A man who claimed to be the Czarevich, only son of the late ill-fated Czar Nicholas of Russia, today began an eight-year prison term imposed by Soviet judicial authorities.

Four members of a religious cult have been sentenced to death under conviction of charges of instigating a counter revolution. One is Alla Gravati, who claims to be Princess Anastasia, a daughter of the dead Czar.

Imprison President Of Indian Congress

LONDON, July 1.—(INS)—Pandit Motilal Nehru, president of the All-India National Congress and strong supporter of Mahatma Gandhi, today was sentenced to six months' imprisonment for his activities against British rule according to a Central News dispatch from Bombay.

KENYON TAKES GOSSER POST

William A. Kenyon, postal inspector today was in charge of the Pittsburgh Postoffice, having formally relieved Postmaster George W. Gosser last midnight. Postmaster Gosser retired after nine years of service in that position. Kenyon will conduct the office until Gosser's successor is named by President Hoover. Senator David A. Reed has indicated that he probably will not send a nomination to the President until the Senate reconvenes in December.

When the stamp windows closed last evening at 6 o'clock, auditors checked up on stamps and money on hand in the local banks credited to the postoffice accounts.

M. E. MERGER UP AT MEET HERE

Basis for merger with the Methodist Episcopal Church North was being determined here today, by the church's joint commission of the Methodist Protestant Church of America in session at the William Penn Hotel.

The findings of this group was to be discussed later in the day or tomorrow with a corresponding commission of the Methodist Episcopal Church here. The Rev. Dr. J. C. Broomfield of Pittsburgh, president of the general conference, was presiding as chairman of the commission. The Rev. Dr. L. B. Smith, president of the Maryland Conference was elected commission secretary.

Recommendation of the title Methodist Church of America was agreed upon shortly after the session opened. That the status of the ministers would remain unchanged in regard to the pension fund and representation of the layman at the general conference as now established would continue were to be recommended. The merger would join 200,000 Methodist Protestants and 4,000,000 Methodist Episcopals.

Mine Parley Goes On Without Lewis

NEW YORK, July 1.—(AP)—Representatives of anthracite coal operators and miners resumed their deliberations today in an effort to formulate a new wage and working agreement to take the place of the one expiring August 31.

John L. Lewis, International Union president, still was missing, detained in Springfield, Ill., because of injury to his wife.

3 CHURCHES GET BLACK ESTATE

Unconfirmed report of the will of Miss Cortesia Louisa Black who left all her property, $13,500 to three churches was revealed today when the document was admitted to probate.

Miss Black, member of an old family near Monongahela, Pa., left her estate to the Smithfield Street Methodist Episcopal Church of this city and to the Methodist Episcopal and St. Paul's Protestant Episcopal Churches in Monongahela. No bequest was made to relatives.

Marcus Black, 75, a nephew, filed the contest setting forth that his aunt was not of testamentary capacity. Judge E. C. Chalfant in Orphans Court, dismissed the case and ordered the will probated.

The Rev. George E. Brenneman, of the Smithfield street church named as executor opposed the contest. Miss Black, who lived at the Monongahela House, was the daughter of Cyrus Black.

Fashionable Little Summer Frock
Pattern 1909
New Telegraph 'Practical Pattern

By ANNE ADAMS

If you would be cool choose this simple little one piece model pictured today. The square neck line, the short flared shoulder capes, the long notched front panel and the scalloped skirt flares are interesting features that pleasantly relieve the frock of plainness.

Pattern 1909 is delightful fashioned of flat crepe, voile, dimity, [illegible] gingham. This model, if worn printed on a white or pastel ground of a plain pastel shade would be lovely. Tiny buttons trim the feature panel.

May be ordered only in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Size 16 requires 3¼ yards of 39-inch material.

Master Mysteries

By ARTHUR HOERL

The Wayne Murder Case

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Silas Wayne, eccentric millionaire, is mysteriously murdered in the presence of eight witnesses. In the act of reading a will to his heirs, he crumples to his desk and a dagger is found stuck in his back. Robin Dale, reporter on the Daily Journal, is assigned to the case.

Now go on with the story.

CHAPTER II

The room into which Robin Dale and Sergeant Jardin stepped had a distinctly old-fashioned air, with its heavy overstuffed furniture and the huge, ugly polychromes on the walls. There were four people in the room, two of whom Dale knew—Captain Blake, chief of the homicide squad, and District Attorney Wilfred Sands, who had apparently taken personal charge of the investigation. The other two were obviously Miss Sheen and Dr. Bailey.

The district attorney turned at the intrusion and nodded his head curtly to Dale.

The fact of the matter was that Robin Dale had covered many previous cases which had been handled by Wilfred Sands and had, through some uncanny instinct or by his own analytical deductions, pointed directly to the solution of a number of the mysterious crimes which had the authorities thoroughly baffled. These exploits had proven an open sesame to the inner workings of every big criminal case, a fact which the Daily Journal took advantage of by assigning Robin Dale to one as it arose. The arrangement was unanimously satisfactory because Dale was happier than when trying to piece together the clues of some intangible mystery or to fathom the motives of some writ concerned with a capital crime.

The case had already got his skin and his blood tingling as he realized the district attorney's short greeting. He remained near the door with Jardin half in the shadows. He listened intently as Sands spoke.

"I'm sorry, Dr. Bailey, but it is our duty to question every one in the house. As you know, I've tried to be as brief as possible with Miss Sheen."

"And driven her almost into hysterics," Dr. Bailey had his arm comfortingly about Miss Sheen, who sat with lowered head sobbing softly. "Why don't you police look for a motive instead of trying to browbeat a woman who couldn't possibly have had any motive to kill Silas Wayne?"

Speaking of motive, Dr. Bailey," said Sands sharply, "one of the witnesses said that you and Mr. Wayne had a violent quarrel during the afternoon. Can you tell me what it was about?"

"I can." He insisted upon remaining in the house and I refused. He became quite violent and threatened me."

"But it was his house."

"And the two ladies were my patients."

There was something brazen about the way Dr. Bailey stood his ground, an authoritative manner by which one sensed that he felt justified in every action he took and had no fear of the consequences.

"I believe that will be all for the present," Sands addressed both of his witnesses. Dr. Bailey helped Miss Sheen to her feet and kept his arm about her as they moved toward the door. Dale was watching the two closely. Suddenly the door opened and one of the district attorney's assistants entered with a packet of papers. He went directly to Sands.

"Found these in a secret safe in the library, sir. One of the papers seems to be the will making the bequests that Mr. Wayne started to explain."

Wilfred Sands looked hurriedly through the documents. He was soon intensely engrossed and read more slowly as he went on. Finally he looked up and spoke to Captain Blake.

"Plenty of motives here, Blake. I believe it's the strangest document I've ever read. It's unsigned, and I believe he intended to sign it before his heirs. I want everybody in the library at once."

While the order was being carried out Wilfred Sands stepped by Dale.

"This should make a sensational story for the papers, Dale."

Sands had taken out a package of cigarets. Dale helped himself to one, causing Jardin another grimace of disgust.

"Sounds interesting, chief," said Dale as he lit his cigaret. "Any idea who did it?"

"I had none, frankly, before I read that will. Now I have too many. Jardin explain the circumstances to you? What do you think?"

"I'd rather have a look at all the suspects first, and hear what's in that will. I'll make a bet the secret is right in there!"

The words had scarcely finished when there was a loud cry in the lower hallway, directly outside the living room. It was a woman's voice, raised in a tone of frenzy.

"Robert!" Robert!"

The three hurried through the door. Standing at the foot of the stairs, a look of terror upon her features, was a young woman whom Dale guessed immediately was Miss Gloria. She was looking upstairs but turned as the three men entered the hall. Fear had put its tragic touch upon her. An involuntary sob escaped her as she stepped nearer to Wilfred Sands, as though instinct told her that he was there to protect her. There was a paper gripped in her hand. She held it out to Sands and Dale saw that her hand was shaking violently.

Sands took the paper, spoke a comforting word in a low tone, and then unfolded the note. As he read, with but a single glance, a deep frown came over his features. He glanced at Dale, who was waiting expectantly, and handed the slip of paper to the reporter. There were two words, in printed letters, upon it:

"YOU NEXT!"

(To Be Continued Tomorrow).

(Copyright, 1930, King Features Syn., Inc.)

SLAYING OF SIX LAID TO 'HEX'

DETROIT, July 1 (AP).—Police are looking to the Pennsylvania hills for a solution of the ax slayings of Benny Evangelista, faith healer, his wife and their four children here July 2, 1929.

A year of investigation, during which detectives delved into the lore of "hex" doctors and studied the evidence of several near York, Pa., the former home of the Evangelista family, has led to the belief that the slayings are all connected.

Eight months after the Evangelista family was hacked to death by the unknown assailant, Detroit authorities exhumed the body of the faith healer and found that his fingerprints resembled those marked in blood on the walls of the cabin where the children of Antonius Angelino were killed at Lancaster, Pa., in 1919.

Detectives say Evangelista and Angelino came from the same town in Italy at about the same time. Both were religious fanatics and both lived in the same region in Pennsylvania.

BANK SUSPECT SHOOTS SELF

CHARLESTON, W. Va., July 1.—Cornered by state policemen within five hours after he is alleged to have held up and robbed the First National Bank of St. Albans, Early Lyons, 42, of Nitro, shot himself three times. He was brought from near Winfield, where he was caught, to a Charleston hospital.

Police said Lyons admitted taking $900 from the bank while he covered S. D. McGee, cashier, with a pistol.

The fugitive was captured in a woods near Winfield after he had been frightened from a hiding place and started to run. Finding the policemen close, Lyons stopped and shot himself three times.

Fall from Haywagon Fatal to Farmer, 73

BLOOMSBURG, Pa., July 1 (AP.)—Pugh Clossen, 73, a Scott Township farmer, was killed when he fell from a hay wagon while hurrying to get the load into the barn before the approach of a storm.

It's comforting to know that if you need money you can get it. A glance at the "Loan Ads" in the Classified Section will give you the names of money firms which will be glad to serve you.

Sleep Soundly
Smile In Your Dreams!

This pretty nurse to say "good-night" is undoubtedly a help—not only because of her good-night smile, but because she brings a glass of Welch's. Taken just before retiring, this pure juice of luscious Concord grapes quickly leads to restful slumber. While you sleep, its rich fruit nourishment and mineral salts are readily digested and quickly assimilated into the blood-stream. They restore your broken-down body-tissues, build new ab. Make this two-weeks test. Each night before retiring, sip a large glass of Welch's—adding one-third water, if you like. Before long you'll find yourself sleeping like a top and waking up feeling like a million dollars! Try it also as a breakfast fruit. Six liberal portions to the pint make it the most temptingly delicious bedtime drink in America. Recommended by physicians and on the diet-list of leading hospitals.

HER BABY WAS BEING POISONED

Young Mother Tells Amazing Story—How Her Baby Was Saved From Poisoning.

Here in this enlightened country you would not think it possible that an innocent little five months baby would be poisoned. But sometimes it occurs. The following astonishing experience happened to the pretty young wife of J. Pelly, of McKeesport, Pa., who tells the story in her own words.

"When our third baby came," she says, "I was in a very rundown condition. The baby seemed sickly from the first four weeks. He cried a large part of the time, day and night. After nursing his poor little stomach would swell up and get as tight as a drum. It nearly broke my heart to see him suffer so terribly. The stools were the wrong color, full of foam and some months he did not gain in weight at all. When he was five months old I felt so discouraged that I decided not to try to feed him at the breast in Nature's way any more. So I changed to bottle feeding. And he starved just as weak and puny on the bottle as he had at the breast, crying for hours at a time, till I thought I would go crazy.

"At last, it was our good midwife who told me what to do. She said that my own system was clogged up with poisons and, therefore, my milk had been slowly poisoning my baby! She recommended World's Tonic as a fine medicine to give my system a good cleansing. I followed her directions and after a few days I felt better all over. My head was clear, I wasn't dizzy any more, my tongue was no longer coated. It wasn't too late to put the baby back on the breast. My milk was a little scanty at first but soon I had more than before. Baby picked up right away—no more gas, no more colic, no more unhealthy stools, no more long, pitiful crying spells. His cheeks got rosy and he put on good solid flesh so fast I soon forgot how sickly he used to be.

"But I will never forget that it was World's Tonic which saved us both. I always keep a bottle in the house and I use it whenever any of us need a good cleansing medicine. World's Tonic is different from ordinary American medicines because it is made from herbs brought from many different parts of the world. That's why it brings such amazing results to people of different races as well as to Americans."

World's Tonic is for sale at Dow's, May's & Liggett's, Mayflower, and other modern drug stores. (A-11)

What Is Your Opinion Of Alimony?

Support for minor children—or for wives who have grown old and sick in marriage service—of course.

But how about childless women who are perfectly able to support themselves? Should the courts force them to collect from men with whom they no longer live? Is it ever right for the woman who leaves home just with the thing and the wayward butterfly? And should a decent citizen support a parasite?

Bob wants to know. Incidentally does he think alimony is [illegible] racket it once was? Quite a number of people are [illegible] think it's a [illegible] our civilization. Read Bob's letter. And then let's hear your verdict.

"Dear Miss [illegible]

"I suppose I [illegible] to expect sympathy [illegible] question of alimony. [illegible] women always [illegible] even through it does. But it will be a relief anyway to hear what I really think.

"Five years ago I married a girl that I was [illegible] who worked in the same office with me. Every man in the office envied me. Every man was [illegible] for her—she was pretty and smartly dressed, a good sport, capable, and had a keen sharp line. When we married I thought I was the luckiest fellow on earth. What a sap I was!

LAZY AND WHINING

"As soon as she married she quit her job. That was my wish. I had dreamed as any normal fellow does, of coming home to a beautiful, happy wife and a comfortable home. But right from the start I found I'd made a mistake. As soon as she stopped working, my wife also dropped every other responsibility. She seemed to think she had settled herself pretty for life and didn't need to make any further effort.

"She not only let herself get sloppy, but she let our home get the same way. She was lazy and whining and ill-tempered. She sat around reading and let the house get dirty and disordered. She ran up bills for clothes, way out of proportion to what I made. Nothing I did ever suited her. She nagged me till I almost went crazy. And her mother piled into our affairs and unfailingly took HER side. So did her girl friends. You would have thought I was a second Bluebeard the way they acted. Especially when I tried to talk to her about keeping up her end, and remonstrated with her for the way she was acting.

CLASHES WITH WIFE

"Well, we had argument after argument, with her always the [illegible] was one. And she's being allowed by law to gouge me and to wreck my life. I couldn't possibly ever marry again with this alimony hanging over my head. I can't even lay by a few cents of alimony. A slave of the fiction that a happy liar her is a poor, helpless, innocent little lamb who has to be taken care of at my expense. I could get out of it by leaving this place and I may do it. But that wouldn't change this unequal, unjust law that allows such things to happen. What do you think of alimony anyway?

BOB GORDON."

I think plenty, Bob, and all of it BAD, but I'm not going to take the platform today. This question goes to the gang. What's your opinion of alimony? Let's hear it. The world is listening!

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Child Health Education Is Essential

During the last quarter of a century there has been a growing appreciation of the importance of child health and child welfare. The science and art of caring for the infant has been developed to a great extent. More recently much interest has been centered about the care of the child too young to go to school.

National conferences have been arranged to the need of health and education for the child. We have learned this must be looked after in the home, in elementary and high school and on up through college. In preparing for the World War thousands of young men were rejected on the grounds of being physically unfit. This taught us a salutary lesson.

Significant changes have been taking place in many schools in the country. It has been found health protection and education go hand in hand.

No more important and far-reaching plan for public health service has been prescribed than that given some weeks ago under the auspices of the White House conference on child health and protection. Dr. Thomas D. Wood, chairman of the committee on the school child, has stated the program of work outlined. By this every child of the nation is to have an equal opportunity for keeping and gaining the best health of which they are capable—health of body, health of mind, health of character, in short, health of the entire personality.

Under such a plan as presented daily health work in the schools would mean daily health inspection. This will be made by a corps of trained teachers and nurses in co-operation with the home, the family physician, the clinics and hospitals.

Elaborate plans for the nation's public school systems will in time, no doubt, result in adequate healthful school buildings which shall be health centers. The up-to-date school affords a healthful environment for the nation's future citizens.

With periodic health examinations for every child, dental inspection and treatment once or twice a year, health instruction, all promoted in the school as a health center—such a project is indeed a wonderful plan. Great things would come of it. I pray it may succeed.

A healthy child lives, acts and learns in an atmosphere created by the joy of living.

The co-operation of the home, the school nurse and physician is needful in this larger plan of education. Every parent and every teacher should be a health teacher, and by example and precept direct children under their care to sensible health habits and health knowledge.

Answers to Health Queries

Mrs. C. M. Q. My 11-year-old son, rather thin and underweight, is troubled with peeling of the fingers and toes. Is this serious and what treatment is advised?

A. Probably due to eczema. Regulating his diet and keeping his bowels active should be generally helpful.

A DAILY READER. Q.—I am a man of 30, 5 ft. 7 in. tall. How much taller should I grow? What will help to increase my height? What is the average height for my age?

A. You will continue to grow and develop until you are 21. Exercise and proper living will help to some extent. The average height for a young man of your age would be between 5 ft. 7 in. and 5 ft. 8 in. or so.

R. P. G. Q. I am troubled with headache, gases and poor elimination. What can I do to correct these disturbances?

A.—Indigestion and constipation would be apt to cause these symptoms. Correct your diet and take more exercise.

P. R. Q. Is there any way to reduce thick lips?

A.—No.

H. C. P. Q. What can be done for pimples?

2. What causes my throat to be clogged up?

A.—Correct you diet.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Refusing a Wedding Invitation

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Will you kindly give me the correct form to be used when refusing a wedding invitation. Is it necessary to give an excuse?

READER.

You don't say if the invitation is only for the ceremony in the church. If it is—if it is to be of your presence—it is not exact says, requests the honor necessary that we acan wi-ruler it.

But if you have received an invitation to the reception also, or if the invitation is for a home wedding, this is the form for the regret:

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Gregory regret that they are unable to accept Mr. and Mrs. ——'s bride's parents' kind invitation for Tuesday, the first of August.

If you wish to give the reason, it is most polite to do so, although this is not strictly necessary. Then the regret reads:

Regret that because of absence from town they are unable to acce,t, etc.

Offering One's Hand Upon Being Introduced

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1. Should girls between the ages of 16 and 21 have "Miss" engraved on their cards?

2. Should a young man, when introduced to a young lady, shake hands?

3. Should one lady, when being introduced to another lady, offer to shake hands?

4. Should she offer to shake hands when being introduced to a mixed group?

VIRGINIA.

1. Yes.

2. The man waits for the woman to whom he is being presented, to offer her hand first.

3. If she wishes.

4. If she wishes. This question of handshaking is a very personal one. And it resolves itself into the fact that, if she is especially cordial, one offers to shake hands, and if one is not of the handshaking kind, she doesn't.

Oh, These Women

By LEOLA ALLARD

When a girl gives a man the gate, why doesn't she tell him why she does it?

This question I can answer with another one. What difference does it make? Holding a post mortem over a dead love is the last word in misery for all concerned. And what's more there is nothing to be done about it, so it is a waste of time, effort and heartache.

I am always getting letters from both men and women who ask why they aren't notified of the details when love cools.

Well, the fact that you don't know it is cooling shows that there is a lack of sympathy between you. It's better to break off before marriage. It would have come anyway, and would have hurt more after the wedding.

A woman is ever so much more likely to explain why she is through—there is absolutely nothing that a man dreads half so much. So he stays away and says nothing.

And men telling me they get such "rotten deals"! A girl lets a man court her and then decides she doesn't like him and quits. It's all in the game. You have to court to find out how well you like each other, and if you aren't both in love you don't want marriage. What's so rotten about that?

What if you don't get the one you want? It's quite a common complaint. Suppose you love her and she doesn't love back? Is that her fault? She's not the one for you. Look for another.

Love has an arbitrary way of wanting what it can't get. But if you have tried to stir the interest of someone and failed, why should you feel that you have had a great loss? You merely thought you picked the one for you, but you didn't. Life is made up of such mistakes. If everybody who was disappointed in love became ingrowing, discontented and miserable, what a world this would be!

One man writes telling me all the things he gave the girl who jilted him. He wouldn't want a girl who wanted him merely for what he could give her, yet he lists the presents as if they should have completed the purchase. Queer reasoning that!

There is only one thing to do when the gaje is opened to you, and that is to go out and close it after you—quietly.

If I'm wrong, write me, care Universal Service, 63 Park Row, New York.

RICHER and CREAMIER

An old family recipe that grew into a Nation's mayonnaise

Once upon a time the mother of a large family made mayonnaise from a recipe of her own—a recipe that never failed! Of course, it took a lot of eggs, pure oil, the finest of spices and a long, long time to beat. But, what a mayonnaise it was—and is!

Finally so many folks heard of the delicious flavor of this mayonnaise that it was put up in jars, and sold in local stores. Visitors from other cities ate Ivanhoe and insisted on their grocers getting it for them. And so it went in villages, cities, and now in states all over the country. People know, appreciate, order and reorder this richer, creamier mayonnaise.

The old recipe is still used. Nothing has been taken out—nothing been added. You can't improve on perfection! Yet Ivanhoe costs no more than ordinary mayonnaise. Order it in any one of four convenient sizes—quarts, pints, half-pints and 3¼ oz. jars.

"SALAD LEAVES" is a unique booklet of salad recipes and balanced menus. Write for your free copy to Harriet Meaker Osborne, Ivanhoe Kitchen, Auburn, N. Y.

FILMS AND STARS AS VIEWED IN HOLLYWOOD AND REVIEWED IN PITTSBURGH

Directors and Stars Give Opinions as to Best Talkie Yet Made

By HARRISON CARROLL

HOLLYWOOD, July 1.

What is the greatest talkie made to date?

I have put this question to many famous Hollywood stars, directors and executives, and have received some interesting and significant answers.

It was apparent early in the quest that Universal's "All Quiet on the Western Front" would be a leading contender and that Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's prison picture, "The Big House," a Cosmopolitan production, would give it a close race.

D. W. Griffith said: "I believe that 'All Quiet on the Western Front' is the greatest talkie because it is the most adept combination of the technique of the old silent films with the new medium of sound and dialogue."

Wallace Beery

Wallace Beery also picks this war epic.

"Milestone doesn't stall or spare anything," explains Wallie. "He tells the truth and that's that."

Samuel Goldwyn and Fred Niblo are among the others choosing "All Quiet." In every case the realism of the picture was stressed as the reason for the award.

FOR "THE BIG HOUSE"

"The Big House" finds an adherent in Carl Laemmle Jr., producer of "All Quiet on the Western Front." Whatever mental reservation the young producer may have, he is strong in his praise of the prison story.

"It is the most realistic talkie I have seen to date," he affirms.

Josef Von Sternberg, the director, picks "The Big House" because of "its naturalism, its direction and its excellent dialogue." Ian Chaney likes it best because he describes it as a "picture of life."

"The Rogue Song" is named by

Colleen Moore

Colleen Moore because of Lawrence Tibbett's voice and performance. Bill Haines concurs in this choice. B. P. Schulberg of Paramount picks "The Virginian" because it combined all the scope and action of the silent picture with the great added power of sound and dialogue.

Charles Chaplin, a notorious unbeliever in talkies, thinks "Hell's Angels" is the finest yet made. Paul Bern, M. G. M. executive, likes "Ladies of Leisure." Darryl Zanuck, of Warner Brothers, gives his vote to "Moby Dick," as yet unreleased. Ramon Novarro gives the award to "Madam X."

"In this picture," says Ramon, "Ruth Chatterton rose above any other tragedienne I have ever seen."

WHAT, NO ORGAN?

Can it be that the old theater organ is to be relegated to the limbo? The new Pantages Theater in Hollywood, most modern of cinema palaces out here, ignored the time-honored musical instrument in its equipment.

Hollywood abounds with sad stories of those who come to the film colony with high hopes and depart defeated. Today, Paul Guertzman, 17-year-old protege of Jesse Lasky, bade this department farewell. Two years ago he dogged Mr. Lasky's footsteps in Paris until the producer brought him over here to become an actor. Then came the talkies, and Paul's accent was fatal. He's finally to be sent back to Paris, but Paramount is not cutting him entirely adrift. He's to be given a job in the French studio of the company.

FOREIGN FILM DRAWS

The foreign versions of which we've heard so much are not destined for Europe alone.

In Hollywood, at a midnight show, the Spanish version of "The Bad Man," "El Hombre Malo," with Antonio Moreno in the leading role, played near sell-out in one of the film colony's largest theaters. It is interesting to note, too, that it made it's debut before the English version.

Antonio Moreno

This is the fourth or fifth Spanish dialogue talkie that has been shown in Los Angeles. Studio officials tell me that they expect to reach a Spanish-speaking population of 180,000 in and around this city.

Nor is this the only foreign language film to be shown here. The first all-Japanese talkie was screened to a complete sellout at a suburban house. If this keeps up, the talkie theaters in metropolitan districts may become veritable Towers of Babel.

The John Barrymores left Hollywood on a six-weeks' trip to Alaska. They were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Cawthorn. The party will motor to Vancouver and there board the Barrymore yacht Infanta, from British Columbia they sail to Alaska, where they cruise in search of good fishing, which is John's prime hobby.

Do you know that Gary Cooper's first picture was "The Lucky Horsemen," made by Tom Mix in 1926? Gary had a bit in the film.

'Grandee' Just Talk, Wife Gets Divorce

CHICAGO, July 1 (AP)—Mrs. Sally Lopez testified her husband, George, courted her with a scrapbook and pictures of a castle in Spain. He told her he was a Spanish grandee, Mrs. Lopez sets forth in her divorce action.

For a year after her wedding she continued working, her husband explaining that his vast fortune was tied up in litigation. Now, however, she feels the grandee talk was highly exaggerated.

Judge Lynch granted the divorce.

COMEDY IS ABUNDANT IN FILM SHOWN BY SHERIDAN

By KATHERINE GODARD.

The Sheridan Square this week shows a most amusing comedy, "He Knew Women," featuring Lowell Sherman and Alice Joyce. The story goes that a handsome bachelor, a writer, becomes engaged to marry a wealthy young widow, first because he likes her money, and second because he's really quite fond of her. Complications set in when a sweet young thing, played by Frances Dade, becomes infatuated with the writer because of the romantic appeal of his work. She decides that he is madly in love with her and that, therefore, he should not marry his wealthy widow.

The situation becomes nearly hilarious with her insistent statement that he MUST marry her, and her own fiance's foolish attempt to kill the writer. One laughs at Lowell Sherman and applauds him for his characterization and the cleverness with which he arranges matters to suit all the people concerned. His nonchalant attitude and his appearance of calm collectedness are a delight on a hot day.

Another part of the program is an Aesop Fable entitled "A Bugville Romance," in which innumerable and varied animals dance gracefully around—like a musical comedy peopled with bugs! There also is a comedy, "Barnum Was Wrong," and Pathe news.

Emsworth Church To Hold Social

Emsworth United Presbyterian Church will hold a congregational social tomorrow night. There will be a literary and musical program followed by refreshments.

Little America Germless But Snowed In

Little America, on the Bay of Whales, 750 miles from the South Pole, has no germs, for germs cannot exist in a temperature of from 65 to 75 degrees below zero. The air is bracing and vital. The continent is a great plateau, 10,000 feet above sea level.

"The only drawbacks are the necessity of continued snow shoveling and the lack of convenient transportation," says Joseph Rucker, Paramount cameraman with the Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd South Pole Expedition, who brought back to the United States a film record of the expedition. "With Byrd at the South Pole," which will show at the Stanley Theater beginning Thursday.

Antartica is 15,000 miles from New York and the trip requires from 48 days to three months.

Neely Enters Senate Nomination Contest

FAIRMONT, W. Va., July 1—(AP)—M. M. Neely, former United States senator from West Virginia, will file notice of his candidacy at Charleston Saturday for the Democratic senatorial nomination at the coming primary, he announced here.

Neely was defeated by Henry D. Hatfield, present junior senator from West Virginia, when he sought re-election in 1928.

Pastor's Daughter Wins Scholarship

NEW BRIGHTON, Pa., July 1—Miriam Lindsey, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Earl Lindsey, and a graduate of New Brighton High School, made the highest grades in the state scholarship examination for Beaver County. The award is a scholarship of $100 a year for four years in any Pennsylvania college.

BURGESS' WAGE CUT BY COUNCIL

West Homestead's Borough Council last night reduced the official earnings of Burgess Robert A. Morrow. First the Council voted not to allow him any fees, and then voted him $10 a month.

Morrow recently had vetoed a measure raising the pay of all borough employes. The measure was later passed over his veto.

New plumbing fixtures for old
—convenient time payments

IS THE bathroom the least attractive room in your home? Are the plumbing fixtures twelve or fifteen years old? Then, it is none too soon to plan a new bathroom with a beautiful color scheme and new "Standard" Plumbing Fixtures.

You don't have to wait until you have the ready cash to buy the plumbing fixtures. Just go to your plumber or come here to the "Standard" Showroom to learn how, by making a small payment down, you can have the plumbing fixtures you want installed at once.

You can pay the balance, including your plumber's charge for installing the fixtures in convenient monthly payments. So now there is no reason why the leaky, old water closet, the hard-to-keep-clean bathtub and the water-stained lavatory should be made to do for another year or even another week.

Come in today to see new "Standard" Plumbing Fixture designs in white and nine distinctive colors. Then you will realize how the fashion in plumbing fixtures has changed and how much easier it is today than it was ten years ago to make the bathroom a room that is really beautiful.

WALTER WINCHELL On Broadway

This Town of Ours

Before sailing to Yurrup to fly here, Kingsford-Smith was beaten up by a cabman in front of the Lincoln Hotel over a steep fare fee . . . Buddy Rogers is Margaret Breen's new shadow . . . The Maxie (Champ) Rosenbloom-Inez Norton romance has melted. . . . Lhigle, the assassinated reporter, had turned Gentile, it appears . . . Carnera's "discoverer," Walter Friedman, and Evan Burrows Fontaine are Thatwaying it. "Stubby" Kruger, the water ace, being the Old Flame . . . Anna Fitziu and her ghost-writer arelikethis . . . Zukor and Laemmle, the movie moguls, have definitely ended a long palship . . . Another sotto voce Park Row merger was John O'Donnell, who absorbed Doris Fleeson recently. . . . Ursula ("Ex-wife") Parrott, now in a hosp with a fracture, whose next book is due Aug. 1, was secretly welded to the N. Y. Times man to whom she dedicated her swift-seller.

One of the provisions Jack Gilbert made for having Jim Tully appear with him in his next chin-ema (they would have you believe) is that he be allowed to "whip" Tully in it . . . Jesse James' daughter is in business in Culver City . . . Gene Tunney is dickering for a Conn. rag so he may write his own editorials . . . The Managers' Ass'n has shaved the annual dues from $250 to $100 to next members . . . Columbia will make phonorecords (both sides) of 6 different popular orchestras playing their versions of tunes. . . . Choruses only, that is . . . One of the newer novelists used to make a living peddling postcards . . . It's a lad at the M. Davids (Ray Matthews), and a gal at the Murray Brownes . . . Annette Bancy has reconciled with him.

In "The Social Lion," Capt. Wesley White, the horseman, got $100 daily to double for J. Oakie . . . Henry Carrington vows he will never Lohengrin it again . . . Thyra Samter Winslow, the novelist, is married to a phone company exec, but she has as much trouble getting numbers as you have . . . E. Graham, of the magazines, is wearing gray suede shoes to economize on shines, the illustrating racket being what it is . . . The Reorganization of Life included a hair cut for W. W. Scott . . . A. J. Gordon, of the Times, will center-aisle it with a Boston blueblood . . . Anne Kirkpatrick, divorced from her Park Ave. jeweler husband, is Wm. Hamilton's honey now.

George Gershwin is plenty burned up over the snub of the committee of the Conductorless Orchestra, who refused his offer of free appearances at Carnegie on the ground that he is "a vaudeville actor" instead of a musician . . . Belle Livingstone, whose salon (one L, please) was raided, will open again soon . . . Add similes, Thomas F. Healy's "As futile as froth on a glass of near-beer" . . . Bill Slocum, sports scrivener, who was punched by Ed Barrows, of the Yankees, pleaded with Col. Ruppert not to fire him . . . Dorothy Lee had the handcuffs Houdini'd in Chicago . . . The preview of the Byrd film did not contain shots of Russell Owen, the Times correspondent, which were cut in after inquisitive spectators asked questions.

Recommended to diversion seekers: Courtenay Terrett's "Only Saps Work," the lowdown on racketeers (Vanguard) . . . The El Patio Roof on W. 52nd . . . Ethel Merman's swelegant song styles at the Pavillon Royal . . . "Flying High" (Apollo) . . . Walter Donaldson's new torch tune, "Little White Lies" . . . Beth Brown's "Wedding Ring," pash in the blazing manner, (D-Doran) . . . Dorothy Heyward's "Three-a-Day" (Century) . . . And that "Bottle" dance by the Vanities' ensemble to bring a rush of blood to the head.

They will change the tag of the Theater Guild mag . . . The shortest mag article ever written is by Nathan in Vanity Fair . . . Frau Schumann-Heink did not rate 10 Gs at the Roxy, but merely $6,000 . . . Josef Israels, 2d, has sold his second unfinished book to Doubleday Doran. What kind of an author is that? . . . The president of the N. Y. Ad Club is a lawyer!

Among other reasons for the rift between Byrd and Owen is that the Admiral sent expedition photos to the Navy Dep't instead of to the Times . . . Morris Markey will cover New York for Life. . . . William Andrews Clark, who can afford it, pays his house chef $25,000 a yr. . . . Last yr. Bernard Gimbel's horses won blue ribbons at every show. This yr. all are ailing . . . Jean Barry and D. Fitzgibbon have deserted the Casino for a Cochran revusical and a command performance for the Prince . . . George McManus narrowly escaped being propellered to death at the Camden Airport. . . . Mary Nash, the star, and Chas. Hanson Towns are Altarward.

Ethel (Artists and Models) Dunton and Robert Smith, a non-pro, were Little-Church-Around-the-Cornered . . . The ciggie peddler at a W. 52nd Street night club once was a Somebody, who now is snubbed by former neighbors there . . . Sally Anderson, of "Ripples," ankled up a Virginia altar recently . . . Jack Casey, of Philly, and Dorothy (Everglades) Quinlan will blend in August. . . . Mildred Lovell, cub reporteress for an A. M. rag, is doing the Peggy Winthrow Advice to Unhappily Married Women on the air. . . . Neither of them is a bride!

Add Foul Blows: The raiders at the Central Park Casino asked a waiter to pick up a bottle of laughing soup from under a table and then arrested him! . . . The sequel to the one about the heeb who went from Poland to Polo in one generation deals with the dialectician who went from a pants-house to a pent-house . . . The phone company is going mad trying to invent something to stop people from getting free calls via the dial system . . . Among other reasons why local playboys should thank heaven for the pride of the Winchell tribe is this warning: Look out for three young-looking femmes who operate together. One is brunette, one blonde and the other is red-head . . . Badger workers.

Witwer Suit Against Harold Lloyd Halted

LOS ANGELES, July 1.—(AP.)—Trial of the $1,000,000 plagiarism suit brought against Harold Lloyd, screen comedian, by the widow of H. C. Witwer, the author, over the film play "The Freshman" was recessed in Federal Court due to priority of another case. It will be resumed Thursday if the calendar permits, and otherwise Tuesday, July 8.

27 Words on Small Card Comprises Will

Twenty-seven words written on a small card by Mrs. Caroline Ropar, 943 Kirkbride street, was admitted to probate today as her will. She leaves $3,400 to her two daughters, Helen Ropar and Mrs. Rosella C. Rodgers. The latter took out letters of administration.

CASH BOX CLUE HINTS ARSON

An empty cash box found today by E. B. Rhodes, manager of the Watkins Babbitting Company, 5706 Harvard street, near his place of business, proved a clue to a robbery and a supposed arson attempt in the office of a firm to which his company had sold goods.

Rhodes noticed a bill head of his own company in the box, recording the sale of an article to the Comercial Credit Company. He carried the box to East End Police Station. There he learned that firemen had just returned from a blaze at the credit company's garage, rear of 301 North Highland avenue.

Detectives went to the scene of the fire and found that the cash box, containing $25 and stamps, had been stolen. They believe the fire was started to cover up the robbery and are looking for a suspect. Firemen extinguished the blaze with $500 loss.

C. E. SOCIETIES IN STATE MEET

HERSHEY, Pa., July 1.—(INS.)—A full day's program faced the 5,000 delegates attending the convention here of the Christian Endeavor Societies of the Presbyterian churches in Pennsylvania, today.

The convention, which is to last until Friday evening, started last night after a day for the registration of the delegates, who came from all parts of the state.

The opening address was delivered by Dr. Daniel A. Poling, New York city, international leader of the Christian Endeavor.

An honor guest of the convention is Mrs. Frances E. (Mother Endeavorer) Clark, whose husband established the organization.

Lyons Mentioned As Engineer's Aide

F. W. Lyons is slated for re-appointment as assistant chief engineer of the Department of Public Works, it was reported today. Lyons held that position for many years, but lost his place shortly after Mayor Kline began his second term. Meanwhile the position has been vacant and the salary in the 1930 budget was reduced from $7,500 to $4,500 a year. According to reports, Lyons will begin work at once.

Permit Granted to Operate Gas Plant

Judge George V. Moore, of Common Pleas Court, has granted the receivers of the Standard Plate Glass Company permission to allow the Keystone Traffic Bureau to operate portions of the company's plants at Butler and Springdale to make rough glass. Attorney C. F. C. Arensburg representing the receivers, informed the court it would be advisable to permit this to be done as it also would give work to 30 or 40 men.

Schroeder, Dague Trials Cost Set At $18,962

NEW CASTLE, Pa., July 1.—The trials of Irene Schroeder and W. Glenn Dague for the murder of Corp. Brady Paul cost Lawrence County $18,962.11, according to figures given out by William A. Eakin, county commissioners' clerk. The amount is considerable less than unofficial estimates which ranged from $25,000 to $75,000. The total includes jurors' fees, tipstaves and all expenses incurred by the county in the prosecution of the cases.

WOMAN SHOT, HUSBAND HELD

NEW BRIGHTON, Pa., July 2.—Mrs. Sarah Harlow, 40, Aliquippa, is in the Beaver Valley Hospital here with two gunshot wounds in the chest. Her husband, Granville Harlow, 27, is held in the Aliquippa police station in connection with the shooting. Mrs. Harlow is expected to recover.

State Policemen Foley and Hartzell say Harlow reported to them his wife had been wounded by a burglar. Harlow said he was putting his car away, heard the shots and ran to his home to find his wife wounded. She confirmed this story.

Anna Davis, 17, a niece, who lives with the Harlows, told police her aunt had told her Harlow had shot her following a quarrel. Grilled by the officers, Harlow finally admitted, they say, that he took the pistol from under his wife's pillow and shot her twice. A third bullet went wild.

DRIVER INJURED AS TIRE BLOWS

Robert Campbell, 26, of 297 Forneth street, was in serious condition today in Allegheny General Hospital with injuries suffered when his automobile crashed into an iron pole and then bounded against the brick dwelling of Anna Erdeljak, at 1614 East Ohio street, last night.

Witnesses told police the accident occurred when a front tire on the machine blew out and hurtled the car against the pole. Police began a search for two other men who were in the machine but disappeared.

Wooden Leg Stolen, Honeymoon Delayed

SEATTLE, July 1.—(AP.)—The honeymoon trip of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Burns was being delayed today while police hunted for the thief who stole the bridegroom's wooden leg.

PLANS SOLO HOP OVER OCEAN

ST. JOHNS, Newfoundland, July 1.—(INS.)—Maj. C. S. Wylie Eyton, noted for his flight research work in India and Africa, made ready today for an attempted solo flight to London in a light Dehavilland "Puss" Moth airplane. He will take off from Harbor Grace.

He plans to leave there July 7 to brave the North Atlantic crossing in a sport type plane that requires but 150 gallons of gasoline for a 3,000-mile radius.

The youngsters of Bar X ranch turn actors when Arthur Tuttle induces Alda to take him in the production of an amateur play.
The play is pictured for the benefit of the boys and the neighbors who live within a hundred miles of the ranch. Cliffey Wallace is cast in the role of hero and has to wear romantic clothes much to his discomfort. Alda, of course, plays the heroine. A love scene is important and Arthur is assigned to the Shotgun Wilson who uses the gun to cover up extra emotion. He threatens to kill Alda's leading man if he kisses her. Whole town is aroused when tribute arrives. Comedy climax.

DODGE BROTHERS
ANNOUNCE
DODGE EIGHT MILEAGE MARATHON
AND DODGE NATIONAL DEMONSTRATION MONTH

Thousands of owners of the Dodge Eight-in-Line are acclaiming it the greatest performer and the finest example of Dodge dependability ever produced by Dodge Brothers.

To get an accurate measure of the dependability of this car—its stamina—its economy—just what total mileage it can achieve—Dodge Brothers announce a Dodge Eight Mileage Marathon.

A Dodge Eight-in-Line sedan selected from stock starts from Detroit. It will be driven back and forth across the country from coast to coast—over all sorts of roads in every part of the continent—until it literally can be driven no longer. We confidently expect that the total mileage attained will startle the world.

To give every motorist a first-hand acquaintance with the luxury and sparkling performance of the Dodge Eight-in-Line, a Dodge National Demonstration Month will be held during July.

You are cordially invited to come in and drive the Dodge Eight-in-Line. Thrill to its flashing acceleration—its sureness and steadiness on the road—its ability to do the difficult without effort. Test its internal hydraulic brakes. Experience the luxury of its beautiful, safe and silent Mono-Piece Steel Bodies.

Here is a car that is going to be driven across the continent as no car has ever been driven before. Learn from that what a sound car it is—learn from your own experience what a glorious performer it is.

CARTOON No. 6

The correct title for Cartoon No. 6 can be found in this list. "Wings," "The Great Gabbo," "The Prisoner of Zenda," "The Iron Horse," "Rolling Through," "Don Juan," "Merry-go-Round," "The White Sister," "Rosita," "Charlie's Aunt," "The Circus," "Shoulder Arms," "Ella Cinders," "The Yellow Cameo," "The Dragon," "The Cock-Eyed World," "Orphans of the Storm," "The Hunchback of Notre Dame," "Pointed Heels," "The Sea Hawk."

Here's the Idea of This New Contest

Notice the cartoon printed at the left. It represents the title of a motion picture. The correct title is included in the list of titles printed below the cartoon.

The $5,000 Movietest now being conducted by the Sun-Telegraph consists of thirty cartoons similar to this one. With each one there's a list of titles that includes the correct title for that particular cartoon.

Your job is to name the movie title represented by each of the thirty cartoons.

Fifty cash prizes will be awarded contestants submitting correct or nearest correct lists of titles for the thirty cartoons. YOU CAN WIN TWO OF THE PRIZES.

To obtain the complete set of thirty cartoons at once, simply mail the coupon printed at the bottom of this page.

Mail the Coupon!

This contest has nothing to do with getting into the movies. Neatness doesn't count. No letter to write. You compete against no one as far as obtaining the greatest number of subscriptions is concerned. Just a slight personal effort on your part. Mail the coupon below. See exactly what you are up against before you start.

DIVORCE GIVEN MRS. BUSCH

ST. LOUIS, July 1.—(AP)—Mrs. Florence Parker was granted a divorce from Adolphus Busch III in a secret hearing in the chambers of Circuit Judge Mullov at Clayton late yesterday.

Mrs. Busch is the former wife of Marion I. J. Lambert, vice president of the Lambert Pharmacal Company, whom she divorced in 1912. She married Busch a year later and they separated in November, 1928. They have one child, Marie Eleanor, 16, custody of whom was granted to Mrs. Busch. Mrs. Busch also has three children by her marriage to Lambert.

She is ten years older than Busch. At the time of their marriage he was 22 and she 32. Busch is the son of August A. Busch, president of Anheuser-Busch, Inc.

Boy Fails to Save Sister, Both Drown

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., July 1.—A brother and sister were drowned and another brother escaped with his life in the main fork of Elk River near Webster Springs.

The victims were Ralph Bennett, 16, and Edna Bennett, 14. Ralph was drowned trying to rescue Edna. Clarence Bennett, 18, who sought to save them, was rescued with a pole as he was sinking the third time. The girl was wading and stepped off an unsuspected ledge.

1 KILLED, 2 HURT IN 3 HOLDUPS

NEW YORK, July 1.—(AP)—A robber was killed, an aged candy store proprietor was shot and seriously wounded and a jewelry store owner was slugged in three holdups today. Three suspects were arrested.

David Fuchs, 28, was shot and killed by Patrolman Harry Roth as he fled with two companions after holding up six men and a woman in a produce exchange. Alexander Friedenson, 26, and Fred Rocco, 26, were captured and identified Fuchs. About $2,000 reported stolen from the exchange was recovered.

Oscar Ihle, 52, was shot when he resisted a bandit attempting to hold up his candy store in Morningside avenue. The bandit escaped.

Two bandits held up Louis Fried in his jewelry store in midtown Broadway and escaped with jewelry valued at $5,500. Fried, 34, grappled with the bandits and was beaten almost unconscious. Later a suspect picked up was identified by Fried as one of the bandits. He gave his name as Walter N. Biggano, 30. The stolen jewelry was not recovered.

Shortage Revealed, Bank Cashier Quits

CONNEAUTVILLE, Pa., July 1.—(AP.)—Officers of the Citizens National Bank of Conneautville made it known that a shortage of $28,394.23 had been found in the accounts of Cashier O. I. Dean by national bank examiners and that Dean's resignation had been requested and submitted.

The shortage it was said represented losses suffered by Dean in the stock market. The amount it was added was practically all covered by Dean's bond. No charges have been made against him.

SOUND ADVICE!

When tempted to over-indulge

"Reach for a Lucky instead"

"Coming events cast their shadows before"

Be moderate—be moderate in all things, even in smoking. Avoid that future shadow* by avoiding over-indulgence, if you would maintain that modern, ever-youthful figure. "Reach for a Lucky instead."

Lucky Strike, the finest Cigarette you ever smoked, made of the finest tobacco—The Cream of the Crop—"IT'S TOASTED." Lucky Strike has an extra, secret heating process. Everyone knows that heat purifies and so 20,679 physicians say that Luckies are less irritating to your throat.

"It's toasted"

Your Throat Protection—against irritation—against cough.

*"I have come to the conclusion," writes Sir Henry Thompson, M.D., F.R.S., "that more than half the disease that embitters human life is due to avoidable errors in diet." We do not represent that smoking Lucky Strike Cigarettes will bring modern figures or cause the reduction of flesh. We do declare that when tempted to do yourself too well, if you will "Reach for a Lucky instead," you will thus avoid over-indulgence in things that cause excess weight and, by avoiding over-indulgence, maintain a modern, graceful form.

SIDE WALKS of PITTSBURGH

by WILLIAM PFARR

Mr. Guillaume Lerolle, European representative of Carnegie Institute, who has returned from Russia, found that the Soviets were going in for efficiency in capital letters, like this: EFFICIENCY. For example, in addressing a letter to the Society for Cultural Relations between the Union of Soviet Socialistic Republics and Foreigners, the Soviet Republic has decided that the letter may be addressed simply WOKS, Moscow, 5, 17, 76, thereby earning the mailman's gratitude.

These numbers happen to be the telephone number of the Woks, but that is how they do things in Russia. If you sent a letter to Mayor Kline complaining about the antiquated maypole in the playground in your district you would, by the Russian system, address it:

Mayor Kline,
Atlantic 3900.
(Please forward)

The circus has been to town. And if you have a keen eye for sophistication, you noticed that the circus of your younger days no longer exists. The youngsters of today, according to circus people, refuses to be entertained by the same naive tumbles (a naive tumble is a tumble which illustrates naivete!) which once entertained you. The clown especially find this premature sophistication a problem. Once an uncomplicated somersault was enough for a clown's complete routine; now a backward, farward, half-sitting, half-standing somersault merely wins a grudging nod of approval. There are no more Penrod Schofields, it seems.

Hyman Labelle, who was a four, five or six-letter man for Fifth Avenue High School some years ago, is now distributing insurance. And his finger tips are weighed down under the insurance statistics he announces with or without provocation.

Take the items "Stepped On or Kicked by Animals" and "Falls in Bathtub." Whereas only 14 of the clients of Mr. Labelle's company were stepped on or kicked by animals in the last five years, 505 were injured in the bathtub in the same period.

It is a sad state of affairs when, for every one stepped on or kicked by an animal, 36 1-14 persons are injured in the bathtub. Bring back Coolidge!

To the Editor of the Sun-Telegraph:

MINNEAPOLIS, July 1.

We are a good-natured bunch of saps in this country. When the President is wrong we charge it to inexperience; when the tariff is wrong we laugh it off; when Congress is wrong we charg it to habit; when the Senate is right we declare a national holiday; when the market drops off 50 points we are supposed not to know it's through manipulation; when a bank fails we let the guy go start another one; when a judge convicts a murderer that's cruelty; when enforcement officers can't capture it fast enough to fill orders that's good business. Everything is cockeyed, so what's the use kidding ourselves.

Yours,
WILL.

Morgan Confesses That He Is Escaped Convict

CHAPTER XIV.

It was Duncan Morgan's second Sunday at the Marlowe suburban home. He had seen Anne every day during the past week, and each meeting had brought them closer and closer together. He had followed Ruby Barlow's advice and had changed his rooming house. It was more convenient now, anyway, for he had settled more closely to the bookshop. Saturday night Anne had said:

"Of course you will be out tomorrow."

"And how!"

They both laughed and both blushed.

"It's home to me, now," Morgan said.

"Mother and father think so

BRIBE SUSPECT HELD HERE

Word was expected here today from Little Rock, Ark., concerning the return to that city of George Partin, 43, held in the Allegheny county jail. Partin is said to be wanted in Little Rock for an alleged attempt to bribe a state senator while a horse racing bill was being considered last year.

Partin, declaring he is an engineer from Memphis, Tenn., refuses to talk about the charge made by Little Rock authorities. Little Rock police say Partin is under indictment there for the alleged bribery attempt.

Reece Caudle, state railroad commissioner, also was indicted, but the charges against him were quashed, it was said.

NORTH SIDE MAN HURT IN CRASH

Demetro Geogels, 35, of 202 Goodrich street, is in Presbyterian Hospital with a fractured skull as a result of an automobile accident on the Butler state road near Bakerstown yesterday.

The car in which Geogels was riding was hit by a truck, and crashed into a telephone pole. The driver of the car, Peter Scoutelis, 38, of 1026 Liverpool street, and another passenger, Peter Muvweds, 30, of 412 East Lacock street, went home last night after being treated for minor injuries.

State police did not blame the driver of the truck, and did not announce his name.

TEMPLE VOTED PORTER'S PLACE

WASHINGTON, July 1.—(AP.)—Representative Henry W. Temple (Rep.), Pennsylvania, was elected by the House to succeed the late Representative Stephen G. Porter as chairman of its Foreign Relations Committee.

Poison Causes Death Of South Side Man

Poison swallowed with suicidal intent caused the death last night in the South Side Hospital of John Fox, 58, of 200 South Twenty-first street, according to a morgue report. Fox, said to have been mentally unbalanced, drank the poison in his home several hours before.

Officers Elected By Bellevue Aid

Members of Circle No. 6, Ladies' Aid Society, Bellevue Methodist Episcopal Church, have elected these officers for the coming year: Chairman, Mrs. Birdie Gibson; vice chairman, Mrs. C. L. Jacobs; secretary, Mrs. Harry Stern; treasurer, Mrs. Clyde Mulvey.

Broken Six Times, Window Smasher Is Fined

Six times this year a brick or a milk bottle has been thrown through the $40 show window of Harry Baver's confectionery store, 2228 Tustin street. Today in Morals Court Frank Tatomer, 20, of 2220 Tustin street, admitted he did the throwing one of the six times and was fined $5 or five days in jail on a disorderly conduct charge.

Some of the missiles have had threatening notes wrapped around them, but Tatomer denied that he delivered any note.

OFFICERS FETE HENNESSY

South Side police officers last night honored Dennis F. Hennessy, who yesterday was appointed inspector of the newly created Seventh police district, at a party in the South Side station. He was presented with a traveling bag, a derby hat, a cane, spats and a toilet set.

The speakers were Lieut. George Schmotzer, Alderman John P. Kearcher, Lieut. Albert Jones and Plainclothesman George Franz.

STATESMEN PAY PORTER HONOR

Senators and Congressmen had returned to Washington today after attending the funeral yesterday of Congressman Stephen G. Porter, to turn their attention to selection of leaders to fill the committee posts held by the late Congressman.

Three hundred statesmen, friends of the Porter family, and admirers of Congressman Porter paid tribute to his memory yesterday when they gathered for the impressive funeral services held at the home of his brother, L. K. Porter, of Center avenue, Emsworth. The services were held on the spacious lawn of the Porter home. Flags at half staff dotted the thoroughfares to the Highwood Cemetery, where the body was interred near the grave of Mrs. Porter.

Among prominent Pittsburghers present at the funeral were: County Commissioners E. V. Babcock and Charles C. McGovern, former Mayor William A. Magee, Judge Samuel H. Gardner, former Judge Robert Ewing, State Legislators Herman P. Brandt, Thomas W. Neely, Louis W. Hagmaier and Morris Einstein.

'PART AS FRIENDS,' RODGERS, SUED FOR DIVORCE, DECLARES

The Camera Question Box

Today's Question—In a straw vote to select the "best brains" in England, George Bernard Shaw won by a big majority. Who, in your opinion, has the best brains in the United States?

Walter M. Napp

WALTER M. NAPP, salesman, Lawrenceville:—I think Thomas A. Edison has about the best brains in the country. Our business would never have progressed at all if it weren't for electricity and, without him we wouldn't have had that.

Mrs. Leifer

MRS. RUTH LEIFER, saleswoman, Oakland:—Well, Al Smith isn't the most brilliant man in the country, but he has good brains. He's plain, of course, but he's a most sensible man.

W. R. Bassett

W. R. BASSETT, florist, North Side:—Andy Mellon certainly is making a success of himself and it takes a lot of brains to do that. He's continuing his success, too, which is more than a lot of people can do.

C. A. Wetzel

C. A. WETZEL, salesman, North Side:—It takes a most active brain to make the progress in the automobile business that Henry Ford has made. I think he has about the best brains in the country.

Miss Camino

MISS LOUISA CAMINO, stenographer, North Side:—Rockefeller has had brains enough to do something really worth while for humanity. The Rockefeller Foundation is one of the most helpful institutions in the country.

George G. Root

GEORGE G. ROOT, shop-owner, Pittsburgh:—Well, I think Elihu Root is a wonderful statesman and one of the best lawyers there has ever been, and statesmanship certainly takes mighty good brains.

NO ANIMOSITY TOWARD WIFE MAINTAINED

Professes Ignorance of Grounds for Charges by Wife; Not Yet Notified

"There is no animosity of any sort. We part friends."

This was the comment of Donald S. Rodgers, investment broker, on the libel for divorce filed by his wife, Mrs. Frances Burke Rodgers, daughter of James Francis Burke.

CHARGES CHANGED

Rodgers said today that he understood his wife was going to sue him an a charge of cruel and barbarous treatment. Instead, she charges him with indignities.

He declared that he did not know on what grounds she was bringing such a charge.

Rodgers declared:

"I understand that the papers for divorce were filed last Thursday. So far, I have received no formal notification. The relations between Mrs. Rodgers and myself are amicable."

HAVE LIVED APART

Mr. and Mrs. Rodgers were married November 10, 1921, but have been separated for several months. She has been residing with her father at his home, 820 Devonshire street, and the husband has been living at Haddon Hall.

They have two children, Donald, Jr., and Thomas.

Rodgers is a son of former Judge Elliott Rodgers, deceased.

G. O. P. LEADERS STUDY WARDS

Officers of the Republican City Committee today are considering a decision on contests concerning party chairmen in the Third, Fifth and Thirtieth wards.

Claim of the contests were set forth at a meeting yesterday in Traffic Court room, Broad street and Euclid avenue, in charge of W. J. Soost, chairman; Mrs. Lillian Margort, vice chairman, and Robert Murray, secretary of the city committee.

Contestants were Joseph Engelsberg and Harry Levine, representing John J. Verona, of the Third Ward; Harry Feldman, of the Fifth Ward, whose opponent, James F. Malone, was not represented; and Lon MacIntosh and John Donley, of the Thirtieth Ward.

Engelsberg contended he was elected by ward committeemen and women on the night of June 4, the date fixed by party rules, and that Verona was elected by his friends on the ward committee two nights previous in conflict with the rules.

In the Fifth Ward case, Feldman claims to have been elected at the regular meeting of the ward committee in Watt street school. Reports of that meeting had it that Malone's friends were denied admittance to the meeting and elected Malone at a "curbstone" session outside the school building.

Board at Bellevue Names 5 Teachers

Five teachers have been chosen by the Bellevue School Board to fill vacancies in high and grade schools. They are Miss J. Jemima Sutton, Butler, Pa., girls' physical director, high school; Orville W. Hittle, of Meyersdale, Pa., biology, high school; Miss Louise E. Fehr, Freedom, Pa.; Miss Harriett E. Dean, East Conemaugh, Pa., and Miss Helen Cooley, Bellevue, to grade school positions.

Fence Hurts Son, Father Asks $25,000

A paling pence at 1631 Wylie avenue which toppled over on Lawrence Cotton June 1 last, has resulted in a $25,000 damage suit being instituted against Anthony DelSardo for a broken right arm suffered by Cotton. The suit was brought by Jesse Cotton, father of the injured lad.

OBITUARY

Stewart Funeral.

Funeral services were to be held today for George W. Stewart, 71, who died Sunday in his home, 5816 Wilkins avenue. The services were to be in the home of his daughter, Mrs. W. Y. Cocken, Jr., 21 Robin road, with interment in Uniondale Cemetery. Mr. Stewart was born in Port Homer, O., and came to Pittsburgh 40 years ago, entering the shoe business. He leaves a son, J. Porter Stewart of Los Angeles; two daughters, Mrs. Cocken and Mrs. W. A. Scott of Pittsburgh; two brothers, William and Arthur Stewart of Pittsburgh; a sister, Mrs. George C. Thompson of East Liverpool, O., and five grandchildren.

Jennie Robinson.

Funeral services for Miss Jennie Robinson, who died this morning at the Homeopathic Hospital, will be held Thursday afternoon from the Moreland funeral home, Highland avenue. Miss Robinson was born in Pittsburgh, the daughter of the late Joseph A. and Sarah Robinson. She was a charter member of Liberty Chapter No. 118, Order of Eastern Star, and a member of the First Unitarian Church. Miss Robinson leaves two sisters.

THE BIG HOUSE

By JACK LAIT

much of you—they like you more and more——"

"And I like them, too, Anne—very much. And you—how do you feel toward me?"

"I? I—like you—because you are so handy with the ice-cream freezer."

And, in fact, on his second visit he was again assigned to the task of freezing the ice-cream for dinner. He was busily engaged in turning it, humming all the time, when Anne came up.

"Hello, Anne," he called, "I'm almost through. Lady, I get a kick out of this. When I was a kid, there was a family in our neighborhood who used to make ice cream every Sunday—a bunch of us would sit on the fence with our tongues hanging out. How rich we thought they were. Once they let us taste it. And I swallowed mine so fast it made me sick. Funny how such things break in life, isn't it?"

Kisses Anne

Says She Doesn't Intend To Marry Kent

"John—John—" faltered Anne.

"What—is it, Anne?"

"I—I was just talking to mother," she began in a voice which seemed on the verge of breaking. "I was telling her that I had explained to you all about Dean and had asked your advice about getting him out—"

"Yes, yes, but why should all this make you so unhappy?"

"She wanted to know if I had told you I intended marrying him when he came out. She thought I should tell you—she said it was only fair."

"Yes," Morgan's voice was low. He scraped the toe of his shoe on the earth floor and swallowed hard.

"But I don't intend marrying him, John," Anne looked up into his eyes, a suppliant. Morgan could not contain himself. The next thing he knew he had her in his arms, her warm, soft body close to his.

"Anne—Anne, I love you so!"

He kissed her again and again. Her lips were yielding and half-parted. She had lost all resistance.

"Let me go, John—please," she begged.

A Blow

Says She Could Never Marry Ex-Convict

She seemed terrified at his passion. Then his burning kisses awoke in her a response and she clung to him and kissed him, too. She became more passive and freed a long, deep sigh. Morgan's sense of possession was now complete, and he held her away from him so that he could look upon her beautiful upturned face. Her lips were crimson with his kisses and her eyes were limpid and half-closed.

"Oh, my Anne, how I love you—how I have loved you! So long—longer than I could tell you—harder than you could understand—"

"And I love you, too, John. I did from the first—and even then it seemed—it—wasn't the first."

She drew herself away from him.

"John, let us be sane for a moment," she said. "You must guide and guard me. I have told you everything now—everything about Dean. The thing has worried me unspeakably. I have felt that it was my duty to him to wait for him. I did feel that I loved him when he was sent to prison, but long since I have found that I didn't. Until you came I never had the grit to admit this to myself. But John—"

She laid both hands into his.

"Anyway, now, I could never marry an ex-convict— Oh, it would be too terrible."

Her words sank life shafts into Morgan's soul.

He drew back from her.

"—never marry an ex-convict!"

He was staring at her with eyes which tried not to comprehend. At last he had her and he had no right to her. How could he shackle her with the weight of his own stigma? Why had he waited until now, until this moment, to tell her? Why had he been too yellow to give her the truth? His head sank into his hands.

"John—John—" Anne arose, terrified—"what's the matter, John?"

"Don't touch me!" he cried, as he arose and stalked back and forth before her. "Don't come near me. You don't know who I am. I should have told you. Oh, Anne, I meant to tell you. Why did I wait?"

"What—what is it, John?" Nothing can matter!"

Anne had caught his arm and her face, reflecting her panic, was close to his. He stopped and held her away from him. His voice was hard and cold. Passionless now—his voice.

Tells Truth

Morgan Tells Anne About Being in Prison

"Anne, I am an ex-convict! Not once, but twice. And now I am an escaped convict. I was in prison with Kent. I was in the very cell with him. It was through him that I knew of you and made up my mind to hunt you out!"

He paused. Anne was facing him in a dazed manner.

"I found you and all this happiness—a home—things I had never known before. It all changed me. It made me see everything with new, clean eyes, from a new angle—on women, on everything, Anne. I'm sorry I made you love me. The Big House couldn't hold me in when I wanted something; how could you?"

He was pleading.

"You mean—we had no right to make love—it was my fault, too," Anne's voice was empty, colorless. Her hands hung listlessly to her sides. Her face was lifeless and there was a strange, ghastly look in her eyes.

"You think you can forgive me?"

"Yes."

"And forget?"

"Yes."

"Yes."

"And the thoughts of you always will keep me straight, Anne—always. Goodby."

He turned and stumbled away, and didn't look back. Anne stood in the same spot. When he had rounded the corner of the house she piped an inarticulate moan and sank to the ground. Her mother's voice, cheerful, teasing and benign, called:

"You children must not forget to turn that ice-cream freezer. It must be hard and cold."

"Hard—hard!" gasped Anne, inaudibly.

Rankin Dwelling Damaged by Fire

Fire of undetermined origin caused $2,000 damage to a vacant two-story double frame house at 105 Second street, rear, Rankin, early today. The structure is owned by Leo Markowitz, of 205 Second street. The damage was estimated by Fire Chief Dan O'Connell.

Divorce Granted on Desertion Charge

Mary M. Wingard, 23, of 517 Murtland avenue, who believes her husband married her for spite, only knew Clarence Wingard three months, when they were married in 1926 and their courtship lasted about 30 days. Judge James B. Drew has handed down a decree, divorcing her on grounds of desertion. Mrs. Wingard said she asked her husband, now living in Wilkinsburg, to move out of the place in which they had started house keeping, for the reason that it was not a respectable place and he later left.

LIEUT. THOMAS A. LAKEMAN

HURT BY AUTO, $50,000 ASKED

Thomas E. Utz, East End, run over by an automobile which had been struck by a street car, has sued the Pittsburgh Railways Company for $50,000 damages for bodily bruises and cuts.

Utz alleges he was crossing Frankstown avenue June 14, last, and that Henry L. Coleman, driving an automobile which had stopped at a crossing, signalled Utz to go ahead. As he started to cross the thoroughfare, a street car struck the rear of the Coleman machine, which was shoved against Utz, running him down, dragging Utz under it.

Play Instructors Holding Institute

An institute for summer appointees who will conduct recreational activities during the school vacation period will be held at Washington Park tomorrow. Beginning at 9:30 a. m., the playground teachers will be instructed in their work and discuss playground problems. W. C. Batchelor, in charge of the playgrounds, will speak.

SPANISH WAR BOOTH SET FOR PICNIC

Display Planned at Annual Sun-Telegraph Outing Scheduled for Saturday

Veterans of the Spanish-American War are to be represented at the eleventh annual Sun-Telegraph picnic for former soldiers, sailors and auxiliary services of all American wars, by a booth of the Alfred E. Hunt Camp No. 1, United Spanish War Veterans. The outing will be held Saturday at Kennywood Park.

D. G. McCafferty, commander of the camp, has detailed two of the boys of '98, Sergts. McCartney and Probst, to take the camp colors to the park, with Sergt. Maj. King in charge of guard detail.

Last year the display attracted considerable attention at the picnic. A number of veterans registered and a few pension claims are said to have been filed.

Adjt. McClymonds and Quartermaster Edward Windhorst will assist Miss Jeanne Hayes in writing pension applications and registering.

WOMAN HONORARY MEMBER

Miss Hayes has the distinction of being the only woman in the United States to hold honorary membership in a Spanish War Veteran organization. The honor was conferred on her by Camp Hunt Wednesday night in recognition of her services.

Besides former members of American wartime services and members of present outfits, America's former foes and allies in the World War have been invited to attend the picnic.

Uniforms are the best form of identification, according to General Chairman Jack L. Bingham. These are not necessary, however, and service buttons, identification disks, and discharge papers will serve.

GUESTS TO GET TICKETS

Guests at the picnic will be presented with cards as they enter the park, on which they will mark their names, addresses and company and regiment numbers. They will take these with some identification to the dining pavilion, where they will be presented with strips of tickets admitting them to park amusements. Each guest is allowed to bring one companion of the opposite sex.

The Pittsburgh Railways Company is to furnish street car transportation to the park for disabled veterans in the Marine Hospital. The most comfortable equipment possible has been promised to the vets.

Harry S. Hall, assistant to Bingham as general chairman, announces the following committee representing the Veterans of Foreign Wars: Alfred E. Schwenke, chairman; James J. Pirt, John A. Kroll, John E. Robinson, P. D. Seybold, M. P. Breen, W. A. Wolffe, B. S. Morris, Jeremiah J. Madden, Peter Wilderman, William Glover, George Bummer, Homer A. McCauley, Joseph M. Stack, George D. Evans, R. G. Miller, E. G. Haldie, G. W. Anderson, James Boyle, Jack Allan, W. L. Hitt, N. A. Eckert, William F. Pruss, H. K. Hall, Robert Laedlein, Edward J. Kirby, Clifford B. Wilson, H. M. Lee, R. E. Gibson, B. E. McDermott, John J. Kowalski, Clarence Woodings, Thomas J. Peterson, Neal Middleton, Robert M. Benny, Edward F. Dehler, Aaron McClintock, John E. F. Byrnes, George Haberman, M. MINERS STRIKE AT M'KEESPORT

Patrick J. Fagan, president of the United Mine Workers of America in the Pittsburgh district, revealed today that about 300 miners employed at the McKeesport mine of the McKeesport Coal and Coke Company have gone in strike in protest against a 10 per cent wage reduction.

According to Fagan, operations are at a standstill. Company officials refuse to comment.

Miners had been paid at the rate of 62 cents a ton and had averaged $4.50 to $5 a day, but had been working only a few days a week, Fagan said.

MOCK AIR RAID TO BE STAGED

A mock air raid on a model town will feature the military maneuvers to be staged at the Pittsburgh-Butler Airport as part of the Fourth of July program.

The attacking squadron will be composed of heavy planes and the town will be defended by a unit of small fighters. In event of the attack being beaten off, a demonstration will be staged later, showing effects of a successful raid.

Throngs Greet Curtis, Schwab as Cambria Fair Opens

By WILLIAM PFARR,
Staff Correspondent

EBENSBURG, Pa., July 1.—Probably the best way to tell about the exposition is to say tritely that a good time was had by all.

It was only a county fair, eloquently labeled an industrial exposition, but the visitors included Vice President Curtis, his celebrated sister, Mrs. Dolly Gann, her husband, Edward Gann, and the United States Marine Band.

And the host was Charles M. Schwab, a steel magnate, but still a country boy.

ENJOYS HIS ROLE

Schwab, a native of this section, admits he gets a big kick out of staging fairs at this county seat of a few thousand taxpayers, and making the city folks sit up and take notice.

He made 'em sit up yesterday. For he brought attractions that spend a lot of time on Page One.

Schwab told an audience of 800 at the luncheon to the vice president:

"I like to do this . . . I like to get together with my old-age friends and have a good time."

A few minutes later Curtis added:

Nothing really important happened but everybody had, you see, a good time.

MRS. GANN PLEASED

The celebrated Mrs. Gann, seated without controversy, was smiles and graciousness all day. When she departed in late afternoon with her brother for Washington she said:

"I'm glad I came. I had a splendid time. I like the people here."

The Vice President made two speeches, one at the luncheon, another in opening the exposition, which endures for one week.

PRAISES KEYSTONE STATE

At the luncheon he praised Pennsylvania and Pennsylvanians:

"No other state has ever sent such distinguished representatives to Washington. . . . The Secretary of the Treasury (Mr. Mellon) is superior to any in this country's history. . . . Charlie Schwab is among the first of the nation's business men."

In opening the exposition, he predicted agriculture would soon regain its prosperity and he reported a sincere desire of the people for world peace. Speaking on a platform which looked down on a race track, he recalled:

"These surroundings, the track and the crowd, are familiar to me. For eight years, as a boy, I was a jockey."

The crowd interrupted him with generous applause.

CURTIS SPURNS WAGERS

The vice president watched the first two running races on the program and then departed on Schwab's special car, attached to a Pennsylvania Railroad train at Cresson, for the capital.

At the track he did not venture near the betting windows and politely he refused a reporter's suggestion that he try to pick a few winners.

3 of 9 Children In Family Drown

NEWPORT, Wash., July 1 (AP.)—Three of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Sibbets' nine children drowned while wading in Cusick Creek near Locke yesterday. They were Bertha, 10; Howard, 8, and Fred, 6. Bertha was dragged from the stream by older sisters but died because they did not understand methods of resuscitation. The mother stood by while the bodies were recovered.

Reservoir Fish Prove Costly To Angler

Two small fish caught in Highland Park reservoir cost Leonard Adams, Negro, of 719 Anaheim street, $35 in East End Police Court today.

The Negro paid his own fine to Magistrate Charles Papale, and also a $10 fine against William Kline, of 749 Sterrett street, who was with him when Adams caught the fish yesterday.

The two were charged with violating a city ordinance. Adams said he did not know it was against the law to fish in the reservoir.

Weir's $5,000 Gift Saves California Church

SANTA MONICA, Cal., July 1.—A gift of $5,000 from E. T. Weir, Pittsburgh and Weirton steel magnate, who is chairman of the board of directors of the National Steel Corporation, today had completed a three-year campaign conducted by the Rev. Charles M. Watson, pastor, to place the Santa Monica (Cal.) First Christian Church on a firm financial footing.

Commemorating the drive, which averted financial collapse of the church, Mr. Watson, a native of Pittsburgh, was presented with a purse as the feature of a jubilee day celebration. Since Watson took the Santa Monica pastorate in 1927 the church debt has been reduced from $105,000 to $50,000, a pipe organ purchased and the church completed.

Mr. Watson has been pastor at Bellaire, O.; Connellsville, Pa.; Norfolk, Va., and Berkeley, Cal. He is a graduate of Bethany College and of Yale University.

Mr. Watson was born at 1107 James street, North Side, in the home still occupied by his mother, Mrs. Robert Watson.

ACCUSE PEEPER IN OLD KILLING

ASHLAND, Ky., July 1 (AP.)—A jockey, arrested last week when he was caught peeping in windows here, today was in jail on a charge of murder, accused of killing a rival in a love affair in Virginia 23 years ago.

Police said they had received "confidential information" that the jockey, who gave his name as Jack Turner, was Edward D. Saul sought for the shotgun slaying of Marshall King in 1907 in Franklin County, Va., near Rocky Mount. They said that a reward of $300 was still outstanding for his capture.

The jockey admitted that he was from Virginia and that he knew Marshall many years ago. He said that he met Marshall when he was 11 years old, and expressed surprise when informed that he had been killed.

Consolidation Buys Rose Hill Coal Co.

GRAFTON, W. Va., July 1.—(AP.)—Sale of the Rose Hill Coal Company properties on Simpson Creek, Taylor County, to the Consolidation Coal Company for $7,000 became known with the filing of deeds.

The sale was made by Tusca Morris, trustee, and it was understood the Consolidation bought the property to protect its financial interests, as it was a heavy lienholder.

Third Dive Saves Youth from River

ELLERSLIE, Md., July 1.—Raymond Rider was rescued from drowning at Blue Rock by Lawrence Miller, who dived three times before he located the youth and dragged him out by the hair.

He worked with Rider for two hours before he was revived.

50-Cent Offer Fails to Halt The Law

August Gurgeolo, 26, of 1614 Penn avenue, today found that the persuading power of 50 cents is about nil. He offered that amount, Policeman M. P. Cox declared, for the release of himself and a companion, Nathan Lepack, 38, of 2248 Webster avenue, arrested after they had driven past a traffic light at Sixth street and Penn avenue.

Being a regular policeman, Cox spurned the 50 cents and docketed Gurgeolo at Central station on a charge of disorderly conduct and Lepack on a charge of violating the automobile laws.

Heinz Co. to Build Plant in Virginia

Fourteen and a half acres of ground have been purchased in Winchester, Va., by the H. J. Heinz Company for the erection of a cider vinegar plant, according to an announcement from the real estate department of the company.

It is believed work will begin within the next two months. The property is located in the heart of the apple-raising district of the Shenandoah Valley.

WOMEN VOTERS' GIFT UNTAXED

WASHINGTON, July 1.—(AP.)—The Board of Tax Appeals has held that Charles W. Dahlinger, of Pittsburgh, was authorized to deduct from his 1921 return $250 he contributed to the Pennsylvania League of Women Voters.

In the same opinion the board gave judgment for the commissioner of internal revenue, who determined the following deficiencies in Dahlinger's returns for the years indicated: 1923, $1,817; 1924, $364; 1925, $490.

The question of determining the deductibility of a donation to the League of Women Voters provoked extended comment by board members. Commissioner Murdock wrote the majority opinion which sided with Dahlinger. Four commissioners recorded dissent.

8,540 Pints Brew Seized by Raiders

WHEELING, W. Va., July 1.—(AP.)—Seizure of 8,540 pints of home brew was made in three raids by police and Federal agents last night, shortly before transfer of prohibition enforcement from the Treasury to the Justice departments became effective.

Avalon Arranges Fete For Pool Opening

Borough officials, civic and military organizations will participate in a parade that will mark the opening of Avalon's Fourth of July celebration, Friday. The parade, beginning at 1 p. m., will terminate at the new swimming pool which will be formally opened and dedicated.

P. L. Jarrett will be master of ceremonies. Speakers will include W. D. Kelley and C. S. Newell, president of council, and Burgess Grant Ritchie. An athletic program, under direction of Howard Wandless, will be held at 2:30 p. m. School children will sing in the evening under the direction of Miss Marion Jones. A fireworks display will conclude the festivities.

Edgewood Women's Club Year Book Promises Enjoyable Year

One can always rely on the Edgewood Woman's Club for something interesting in the way of an annual program. The new year books announce the terse and significant query, "What's New" as the study topic for the 1930-31 season, which will begin October 8 with president's day.

The topics as set down for the semi-monthly meetings show comprehensive thought and augur for a season of unusual enjoyment. "The Probable Influence of China Upon Modern Thought" is the starting point from which the members will go on to consideration of "Communism: Would It Be Good for the United State to Adopt It?" (this in the form of a debate with general discussion to follow), the international art exhibit, "Present-day Society Contrasted With That of the Forties" (with a playlet and songs as adjuncts); Christmas Stories; "What Are the Present-day Prose Writers Offering?" "The Russia of Today—Whither Bound?"; "Who's Who in the Field of Drama Today" (with group reading of a play); "Recent Archaeological Discoveries," "The Child in Our Midst," "Present-day Poetry," a musical, a play and a club magazine.

Many of these topics will be further enlarged upon by illustrative readings appropriately chosen. Mrs. R. W. Cummins is now president; Mrs. J. S. Helm and Mrs. A. C. Manning are first and second vice presidents; Mrs. A. E. Gray is recording and Mrs. F. B. Maxfield, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. C. S. Krouse, the treasurer. The program committee is made up of Mrs. Russell C. McElfish, Mrs. Leighton H. Campbell and Mrs. T. S. Grubbs.

ORIGINALITY DISTINGUISHES NEW PRESENTATION GOWNS

Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, JULY 1.—Every year the ingenuity of the leading couturiers is taxed to create frocks for the royal courts at Buckingham Palace that will be of charm and originality while yet subscribing to the rigid requirements laid down by the Lord Chamberlain for these ceremonies. And each year, the seemingly impossible is achieved in the form of lovely court frocks that appear to be more suitable for story-book princesses than women of this modern age, even if they are planning to make their obeisance before their Britannic Majesties. Some of the really patriotic women prove their patriotism in having their presentation gowns made in London, many others fly across the Channel and consult with their favorite couturiers. Worth is one of the leading houses for these frocks and this year has been especially in demand, particularly by the wives of members of the corps diplomatique.

JUST TO SHOW you how very lovely a presentation gown can be, even if it is worn with a train and the archaic three-feather headdress, we have secured a sketch of the gown made by Worth for Mme. Dore Gulbenkian, wife of the Persian Ambassador in London. It is of pale blue marquisette with an all-over design of silver thread. The regulation train is of blue velvet embroidered in diamante, and is lined with silver tissue. The shoulder straps are also of diamante.

TO GET BACK to the realm of the practical, we show you a bolero dress of dark blue heavy crepe de Chine with a blouse of printed crepe in three shades of lighter blue. Wide scallops edge the flaring-over sleeves and the tunic which forms the upper part of the skirt. The underskirt is laid in light box-pleats. This is a Lenief model and is good for either town or country use.

THE BEGINNING OF ROMANCE...

a moonlit night . . . the deck of a great ship . . . dance music . . . pretty girls in pretty gowns . . . personable young men . . . and over all that indefinable spell that invariably brings ship companions into pleasant relationship.

Every time the Great Lakes cruise ships, the Tionesta, Octorara and Juniata leave port there is a repetition of this delightful picture. A romantic voyage through a land of romance. The cruise is more than a voyage—it is transitory delight and a lifelong memory.

Newspaper Gets Tip On Pending Divorce

CHAPTER XXIII

Linda nodded and [illegible] leave him. At the door she turned. Eaton was sitting with his hands clasped between his knees, his head bent. He had a curiously defeated look.

In the morning, as they had agreed, they talked things over. Paris [illegible] the days of quick Paris divorces was waning.

"Reno [illegible]

"I'll state [illegible] requisite [illegible]

"I want [illegible] on you."

"No, please [illegible] errors. I [illegible] quarters of [illegible] There's more [illegible]

"But [illegible] much you're [illegible] last few years. [illegible] you know."

"Helped!" She looked at him in astonishment. "You have taken the [illegible] your business. Darn, don't you know it." [illegible]

"Yes. But there are other angles. The political [illegible] You've been a fairly [illegible] working partner."

"I can't see it. I won't take money from you, my dear," she declared firmly.

When everything was settled she asked him, a little embarrassed:

"If—if you [illegible] to see [illegible]?" He wanted to talk to her.

Eaton made a gesture of pure horror. "No. I like Jamieson," he told her simply. "We've been good, if not close friends. I bear him no malice. And you and I know, Linda, that this is no triangle-drama."

Linda's removal to Reno was accomplished with little fuss and no publicity. Her arrival there was not heralded.

Eaton Remains Silent

Eaton went to his office as usual. Nothing was said and nothing conjectured. But Anne, with her quick intuition where he was concerned, was aware that something was wrong. He appeared so abstracted and as if purposely he shut her out. Their business relations were unaltered, but the unacknowledged personal relation seemed finally shattered.

It came about because Eaton was putting a closer control upon himself. Until his marriage with Linda was over and done with, he was in honor bound to say nothing, to any one, least of all to Anne. He must wait until everything was clear between them. Then he might go to her.

Until the hour arrived he felt he owed it to all of them—to Linda, to Anne, to himself—to be silent. Linda had not been silent, but that was her situation, not his. His was entirely different. The girl he loved was working for him in his office. He could not expose her to gossip, to speculation, until the divorce was procured and the gossip and speculation might die aborning in the mere statement of a fact.

Besides, he could not know until he spoke whether or not she cared for him—enough.

There was a certain feeling of pride within him that he and Linda could face their problem and solve it with self-respect and decency. Sometimes thinking it over, it appeared to him that he would have been far more honest had he told Linda that he, too, cared for some one else. But that would involve Anne, and of Anne's feeling for him he knew nothing, could only guess ardently and with hope, wonderingly and with the seesaw extreme of despair.

Newspaper Gets Tip

And so he kept silent and Anne was terribly troubled, yet in a way it was a bitter relief to her to be treated in this new impersonal fashion. But she was hurt. Had she done something? Had she—and here their respective positions of employer and employe were clearly defined—had she in some way overstepped the boundry line?

It is probable that Mrs. Eaton would have obtained her divorce and the public been none the wiser until the decree was a fact, if it had not been for a young woman who was also whiling her time away in Reno upon the same errand, and for a second time. Her unimportant name was Hallie Martin, and she was, by profession, a newspaper woman, having long been employed by the Daily Record as a writer of special articles of the hearts-and-flowers sob-sister type.

She had served an apprenticeship as society editor. She was a clever woman and she never forgot a face. And Reno is not large.

Mrs. Martin wrote back to her city editor:

Linda Schuyler Eaton—Mrs. Lawrence Eaton—is here. She has an apartment, a maid, a car and chauffeur and an Airedale pup. She keeps to herself and is never seen at parties and such. Perhaps the climate attracts her. Who knows? But there is something secretive about it. Verbum sap. • • •

The Daily Record wired Mrs. Martin carte blanche and sent a reporter to Eaton's office. The reporter did not get farther than Anne.

Returning, he announced that Eaton refused to be seen and that his secretary was "the prettiest little trick that these old eyes [illegible] they were 26 years old—have ever looked upon."

[illegible] the city editor [illegible] a smile. When Hallie [illegible] Linda Eaton that night he was [illegible] by the admitted [illegible] of [illegible].

About [illegible] Mr. Eaton began the [illegible] of sex.

"I decline to be interviewed. But I'll state that [illegible] Mrs. Eaton is here and has filed her suit."

When you go out quietly [illegible] I drive you out?" asked Hallie [illegible]. He was [illegible] to treat [illegible] in the press.

The reporter went out quietly. He was accustomed to threats. But as everybody knows, the right hand is no hand to play with the newspapers. For the Daily Record managed [illegible] to have an ace up its sleeve.

Reporter's Hunch

"Nothing to be learned from Eaton," reported the newspaper man. "But it's always possible to dig up a little dirt."

Inquiries were made guardedly at the office. It was a large office and hard at all to find someone who had the entree there, someone who worked there for a living. But quiet excavations could disclose nothing. The office literally knew nothing—and it was loyal.

It was virtually established by Mrs. Martin's efforts that Linda Eaton was suing her husband for divorce but that was a latter story. It was necessary in behalf of the great reading public to provide more than a bare statement of fact.

Disgruntled wives who dislike their husbands and who live with them for support of home and children, must be permitted their righteous moment, and young girls going to work on misty mornings must be provided with their vicarious thrills.

Jackson, the menaced reporter, sleuthed a bit around town. He had nothing to go on but a hunch. And his hunch was a simple problem in mathematics. A wife in Reno minus a husband in business, plus a ravaging beauty in the husband's office, equals—divorce.

Equals, also—scandal.

Jim Gets Assignment

He was able to learn how long Anne had worked for the agency, how long she had been in Eaton's private office. He became more friendly with an acquaintance of his in the office, a young man in the art department, a newcomer.

Through him he met Polly Ames, and Polly talked rather freely. And young Jackson went back to his job and announced that Mr. Eaton was pretty thick with his red-headed secretary.

BEAUTIFUL SECRETARY STEALS RICH HUSBAND FROM SOCIETY WOMAN was the way the Daily Record's mind worked.

Jim Murdock was called in. Jim was the boy to handle undeveloped scandal and handle it within the libel laws.

"Lawrence Eaton," he was told, "of the Eaton Advertising Agency, is getting a divorce—or rather, his wife is, very quietly. There's been nothing said; nothing has broken. But it all leads up to a girl in his office, his secretary," said Jim's chief vaguely, and frowned because her name had slipped his mind. Which was just as well.

"Find out what you can. See the girl. Make her talk. Take a photographer with you."

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Wednesday, July 2

Rather uncertain and perplexing state of affairs is forecast from the planetary configurations in the ascendant on this day. While there is some encouragement for new projects and for negotiations with large corporations, yet there is danger in the signing of all papers and contracts, and also the financial outlook is not strongly fortified. Personal associations assume surprising and compensatory angles. But guard against physical dangers.

Those whose birthday it is are on the eve of a year of some complications and perplexities, although there is some promise for new undertakings. With care as to money and in signing papers things may thrive. Personal relations may assume irregular or intriguing aspects. Be careful as to the physical well-being.

A child born on this day should have a polished and outstanding personality, but may be disposed to be crafty, clever, and given to expediency rather than high principle.

Children's Lives Are Shaped by Parents' Treatment, Fay King Warns

A CHILD MAY FORGIVE—BUT NEVER FORGETS A CRUEL, UNHAPPY CHILDHOOD
IT IS THE LOVE, TRUST, AND AFFECTION OF CHILDHOOD MEMORIES THAT LAST THROUGHOUT LIFE
FAY KING

By FAY KING

A CHILD'S entire world is wounded by his parents and his home.

Many thoughtless parents do not realize how great is a child's disappointment in a broken promise or his fear of their anger.

The time comes, of course, when a child grows up to know a wider horizon, and does perhaps forgive—but never forgets—a cruel, unhappy childhood.

If all parents could only appreciate how great is the foundation of love, rooted in affection and understanding, they would never fail in their trust.

Respect founded in fear is vastly different from respect founded in affection.

The child, who can turn to parents in time of trouble sure of sympathy and understanding, will never cease to love and respect them in all his life.

Madge Checks Over "Doings of the Day"

My story session with Junior and Roderick was a short one. From experience I knew what would happen, so I tucked them up in their respective beds and kissed them good-night before I settled down to read from the dog eared volume which is one of Junior's treasures. But not even Kipling's immortal picture of Kaa, "pouring himself along the road" to the sound of Mowgli could keep either boy awake after his strenuous day—and evening—and it was but a few minutes before both lads were sound asleep.

I saw that the blankets were pulled well up above their shoulders, opened a window wide, switched off the light and stole out of the room, closing the door behind me. Later I knew that Katherine, when she had made ready for bed would make another tour of inspection, and with the relaxed, satisfied feeling which comes when one has successfully passed through some strenuous ordeal, I went down the hall and tapped on Mary's door, where I guessed that I also should find Katherine.

I saw that my guess was right when Mary opened the door to my knock, for my brother-cousin's wife was sitting by a table with a stocking basket at her elbow, a sock stretched over one hand and a darning needle and wool in the other.

"I'm having a darning lesson," Mary explained, her cheeks slightly flushing. "The way I mend socks or stockings would give corns to a goat. But Aunt Katherine is going to 'learn me right' unless she dies under the strain."

"I congratulate you or your ambition," I said, laughing, "but I am afraid I sympathize with Katherine."

"You would," she said, pretending to pout. "Just for that I hope Grandma smeared you all over the field."

"You appear intact, however," Katherine put in smiling, and I had no opportunity to give Mary any other reproach than a helpless shake of the head for her atrocious language. To tell the truth, I was glad that Katherine had made it impossible for me to say anything. It was no time for captiousness.

"Not a bruise on me," I said laughing. "I just stopped in to tell you that Junior and Roderick are sound asleep after having made their peace with each other and—their grandmother."

Katherine put her darning in the basket, rose and swept me a low bow.

"Bring a laurel wreath, Mary," she intoned, "bring two of 'em. Any lady who can straighten out that ruction successfully deserves one depending from each ear."

"I'll consider them presented," I returned, retreating to the door. "How is Noel?"

"Also sound asleep, thanks be to Allah!" Katherine returned. "He had the sweetest temper fit, as I told you when that blare of jazz burst forth, and it's been as good as an old-fashioned blood-letting. I expect to see him decidedly better in the morning."

Mary's eyes were starry at the phophecy, and I shut the door with the comfortable feeling that another snarl in my twisted domestic skein had been unraveled.

Dickey instantly answered my tap at his door, and I guessed that he had been anxiously awaiting the result of my session with Junior and Roderick. But he put no questions when I entered the room. With a protective, possessive air he slipped an arm around me and drew me to his big arm chair before the fire.

"I know there are no casualties or you wouldn't be here," he said, "and you appear in no present need of a surgeon, so let's leave the autopsy for awhile. You told me a little while ago that you 'didn't pet in business hours,'"—he grinned down at me teasingly, "but am I in error in thinking you've punched the time clock for today?"

Something deeper than teasing in his tone made my voice tremulous as I answered him.

"I have nothing on hand except——"

"Except me," he declared triumphantly and drew me closer. "Everybody in this house 'gets attention,' as Junior says, save me, and it's now your old man's turn. Kiss me prettily, for a beginning, and tell me you love me. We'll turn the clock back a few years and stage a real petting party. These modern youngsters are only giving jazz imitations."

He bent his head to mine and for a blessed interlude that most rapturous of all happiness to a true wife came to me, the knowledge that after years of marriage she is still first in her husband's heart, and that he desires her companionship above everything else. It was not until the world fell (or moved) ominous and sorely needed reminding that Uncle Jim pulling me up with him.

"I'll just put some more wood on, Josie," he said, "and then you shall spell me all the breaks about our little gamecocks. You'll probably explode if you don't get the story out of your system."

Good laughters seldom have hollow cheeks. They are constantly exercising those muscles that face and inheritance between tongues and jaws. They keep you strong and in order. And Molly grumble gets a thin face, the fatiguing look, a pinched narrow nose. Laughter is a good thing. It helps a woman to endure her own society, gives her pleasant thoughts, and the lines against her face wrecking itself before its time.

When life gets nutty, nothing seems of much use, the tick of the clock is harassing, and something has to be done to prevent a complete skidup, a woman should put on her seven league boots, fare forth and buy a new hat. There is nothing like a sassy lid to straighten out the knots and tangles of human life. It increases the circulation of the blood and puts zip-pep into heels. What it does to that same old face is sumpun wunnerful.

She of the golden halo is in luck if her blond threads stay shining after the age of 35. Often chemical changes occur in the coloring pigment and the hair darkens more and more at the roots. Goldie Locks can resign herself to darker wool, she can take to the bleaching bottle or she can use what is known as a drab dye. Neither bleaching nor dyeing should be attempted without careful instruction and the gathering of authoritative information.

Thousands are learning to know the Three Distinct Types of Ginger Ale Flavor

Here we show how to get even greater pleasure from this sparkling drink than ever before!

We urge that you make the "Taste Test" described below.

THERE are three distinct types of ginger ale flavor! And Clicquot Club makes them all!

Many people have failed to find the flavor that particularly suits their taste, but they do not realize that there are two other flavors which might please them.

Already it has been a revelation to thousands—the simple comparative test which we are now urging people to make!

Choose from these three flavors the ginger ale you like best

To make this test you go to your dealer and get a bottle of Clicquot Club Golden, a bottle of Clicquot Club Pale Dry, and a bottle of Clicquot Club Sec. Sample them all, one by one. Note the mellowness of them all. And note especially the difference in their flavor!

Clicquot Club Golden has long been known as a delightful, healthful beverage, an especial "treat" for children... Clicquot Club Pale Dry is famous for its beady "dry" flavor either in recipe drinks or alone... and Clicquot Club Sec is very dry, the ginger ale supreme! You are sure to find, in one of these ginger ales, exactly the flavor you have been looking for.

Remember, please, that these three ginger ales are alike as regards quality. All are made from finest ingredients. Pure water from deep rock springs. Pure Jamaica ginger. Finest table sugar. Real fruit flavors.

And all Clicquot Club ginger ales are fully carbonated to give zip and sparkle.

Nor is this all. Clicquot Club is aged six months in the making, for the sake of a finer, richer flavor. And, as a final guarantee of purity, all Clicquot Club beverages come only in clean new bottles—bottles never used before.

These Clicquot Club ginger ales are at your dealer's now. In all the wanted flavors—Golden, Pale Dry, Sec. Remember to say "Clicquot Club" because it is only Clicquot Club which offers you a choice of the three types of ginger ale flavor.

For your pleasure The Clicquot Club Eskimos—every Friday evening at 9 o'clock, New York Time, from WEAF and associated stations.

Keeps Pennock Winning. • More Hurlers Pass Out.

FOUR WALKS BY VET IN 68 INNINGS

THE VALUE AND importance of control are being shown once again in the case of Herb Pennock, veteran left hand pitcher of the New York Yankees. Pennock, a victim of neuritis in the fall of 1928 and now 36 years old, was thought to be about done as a major league slabman. He won only nine games against 11 lost last year, though nursed along carefully and used only under the most favorable circumstances, and it was figured that his arm never would regain the old cunning that had caused him to be ranked by many smart baseball men as the best southpaw in the country.

Herb Pennock

But Pennock has upset all predictions, for since losing his first game of the year he has won seven in succession, having defeated the Red Sox and Indians twice each, and the Athletics, Browns and Tigers once each. His first victory of the season, by the way, was the 200th of his career, and he now has 206 to his credit against 140 defeats, not counting his perfect world series record of five games won and none lost.

IT ISN'T HARD to find the secret of Pennock's success in hanging on this year and winning seven games in a row after he had been pronounced at the end of his rope. Control spells it. Appearing in nine games up to date he has pitched a total of 68 innings, and during all that stretch he has given only four bases on balls, an average of one walk in every 17 innings.

That's one of the most remarkable exhibitions of command and steadiness given in recent years, and it demonstrates again as it did recently in the case of Grover Alexander, that even though the rubber has gone out of an old pitcher's arm and he has lost most of his other stuff, he can still get by in the big show as long as he knows his batters, can cut the corners and can put the ball where they don't like it.

ANOTHER VETERAN PITCHER who refuses to be counted out is Fred Heimach. The Yankees sent him to Toledo this year after all the other major league clubs had waived on him, and that was thought to be his farewell to fast company, but now it looks as if he would come back again.

Fred Heimach

Heimach has been pitching so effectively in the American Association that Cleveland has opened negotiations for him, and there is a strong chance that he will be added to the Indians' staff at an early date. It will be the fourth time he has come up to the majors.

AS PART OF the same deal, the Indians may rescue another former big leaguer from the minors, as they have made an offer for Butch Henline, ex-Robin catcher, who also is with Toledo. A new backstop is needed because the splints were removed from Luke Sewell's broken finger too soon, causing a new separation of the bones and putting Sewell out of action for another month. If Henline is obtained, Grover Hartley will be missed. The Indian management is scouring the country for new playing material in the hope of putting a stop to the slump of Roger Peckinpaugh's ballers, whose victory yesterday was only their third in the last 18 games.

ST. LOUIS is a troublesome spot for the Giants this year. On their first Western trip the McGrawites made a fine showing until they struck the Mound City as the final stop. Then they dropped the two games played there and went into a slump that saw them lose 12 of their next 15 contests and sink to sixth place with a percentage of only .436.

On their present trip, the New Yorkers appeared to have conquered the jinx when they won the first two games of their series in St. Louis. They gave them six victories out of their first nine games in the West. But the Cardinals grabbed the next three numbers, and in the opening game of their Chicago engagement yesterday the Giants went down for the fourth time in succession. As a result the count is now against them, seven defeats to six victories, on a trip that had promised to put them back in the fight for first place.

LLOYD WANER'S appearance in center field during yesterday's game here for the first time this season failed to save the Pirates from defeat, but it gave assurance that he soon will be ale to go through full contests and that at last it will be possible for the Bucs to present their regular lineup.

Lloyd Waner

When the younger Waner is back on the job permanently the return to normal ought to mean better things for the Rovers. Eight or nine games have slipped away through center-field weaknesses, to say nothing of the loss of Lloyd's help on the offensive. His absence has meant as great a loss to the Pirates as the Cubs, Robins or Giants would suffer if deprived of the services of Kiki Cuyler, Johnny Frederick or Mel Ott.

A BASEBALL SEASON that has seen many veteran big league pitchers on the down grade and failing to live up to their reputations of earlier years continues to be marked by the passing of familiar sized figures from the major picture. The latest to go are Johnny Morrison, one-time Pirate, and Douglas McWeeny. Morrison has been released unconditionally by the Robins, and McWeeny, released to Columbus by the Reds, says he has decided to retire and will not report. Ken Holloway would have followed Morrison and McWeeny had the Yankees not grabbed him yesterday when the Indians asked waivers on him. Previously the year's list of pitching fade-outs included Grover Alexander, Howard Ehmke, Jess Petty, Percy Jones, Carmen Hill, Joe Shaute, Bob McGraw and Lil Stoner.

IF IKE BOONE, the outfielder purchased from the Mission club of the Pacific Coast League, by the Robins, makes good in the National League, he will have accomplished something that he failed to do in three chances in the American. The Yankees, White Sox and Red Sox all found him wanting.

Boone turned in another impressive record in the Coast League last year, when he led the loop in hitting with an average of .407. He made 323 hits in 198 games, including 55 homers, eight triples and 49 doubles, and batted in 218 runs. He also led the outfielders in assists with 44. He is a left-hand hitter and right-hand thrower.

THE PENNANT CHANCES of the Cubs will be strengthened greatly if the exhibition given by Fred Blake in beating the Giants yesterday means the return of that pitcher to winning form.

MISS NUTHALL DEFEATED AT WIMBLEDON

By F. A. WRAY.
International News Service.

WIMBLEDON, Eng., July 1.—Mrs. Helen Wills Moody, unconquered queen of the courts, won her way to the semi-finals of the women's singles in the Wimbledon tennis championships today by defeating Phyllis Mudford, the 17-year-old English marvel, in straight sets, 6-1, 6-2.

The match consisted mostly of baseline driving with the world champion constantly keeping her opponent on the run and holding the upper hand.

Elizabeth Ryan, native Californian now living in England, overcame Betty Nuthall, England's famous young International-alist, in another of the quarter-final match by scores of 6-2, 2-6, 6-0 to join Mrs. Moody in the semi-final round.

Miss Nuthall, England's premier woman player, fought bitterly, and while her variety of strokes was superior to that of Miss Ryan, she lost by continuous errors.

JOAN RIDLEY BEATEN

Madame Rene Mathieu, first ranking woman player of France, speedily disposed of Joan Ridley, of England, 6-2, 6-1, in a third quarter-final, thus qualifying as the semi-final round opponent of Mrs. Moody.

In the men's doubles, the American team of John Doeg and George M. Lott defeated R. D. Poland and C. F. Malfroy, 7-5, 2-6, 14-12, 6-3. The Americans trifled foolishly, playing casually and without great interest.

HELEN JACOBS BEATEN

In the last of the women's singles quarter-finals, Cecile Aserm, Germany, defeated Helen Jacobs, Berkeley, Cal., 6-2, 6-1.

Miss Jacobs' physical condition, which has been somewhat below par ever since her arrival in Europe early this year, appeared partly responsible for the decisiveness of her defeat.

She tired rapidly and after winning the second game of the second set the American girl hit wildly and seemed near exhaustion. She was unable to win another game. All through the match Miss Jacobs lacked control, over-hitting the lines repeatedly.

Bill Tilden and his Dutch partner, Hans Timmer, defeated Berkeley Bell, Dallas, Tex., and Gregory Mangin, Newark, N. J., in the third round of men's doubles in straight sets, 7-5, 8-6, 6-2.

Edith Cross, of San Francisco, and Sarah Palfrey, Boston, advanced in the women's doubles by defeating Mrs. M. A. O. Mayne and Miss V. H. Montgomery, England, 7-5, 6-4.

The British team of Ian Collins and Dr. J. C. Gregory reached the fourth round of the men's doubles by defeating Sharpe and J. D. P. Wheatley, 3-6, 6-0, 6-8, 6-2, 7-5.

Shamrock V Quits Long Race on Clyde

GOUROCK, Scotland, July 1.—(AP.)—The Shamrock V, which started in a 42-mile race on the Clyde today, gave up after about a half-hour's sailing. The White Heather followed suit when her struts gave way.

The Shamrock V stopped from "safety first" policy. The wind was fresh in the channel and Capt. Heard decided to take no risks of damage to Sir Thomas Lipton's challenger for the America's Cup.

FIGHT DATE CHANGED

PHILADELPHIA, July 1.—(INS.)—The Tony Canzoneri-Benny Bass bout booked for the night of July 28 at the Phillies park here has been moved up to July 21. The shift in dates was made because Canzoneri has a bout carded in Detroit which calls for his arrival there July 18.

TOMORROW—THE LAKE OF MYSTERY.

REGAL WELCOME AWAITS JONES

NEW YORK, July 1.—(AP.)—The emperor of golf, Bobby Jones, will come home tomorrow to a welcome such as no golfer before him ever has received.

A celebration of a size that ordinarily is reserved for trans-Atlantic fliers, returning war heroes and foreign dignitaries, has been arranged when Bobby steps off the S. S. Europa on his return from England, where he won the British amateur and open championships.

In the crowd that gathers to do him honor as a great sportsman will be hundreds of friends from his home-town of Atlanta. A "Bobby Jones Special" steamed out of Atlanta yesterday with a trainload of the golfing wizard's admirers. Preceding their fellow-townsmen by a full day, Mr. and Mrs. Asa G. Candler, Hunter Terry, Atlanta real estate man, and Ralph Smith, representing the Atlanta Journal, landed at Newark, N. J., airport yesterday after a five-hour flight from Atlanta.

Under plans arranged by Grover Whalen, New York's official greeter, and interested Atlantans, Bobby will be taken off the Europa at quarantine on the municipal tug Macom. The city will have a chance to hail a golfing hero on an automobile ride up Broadway.

Mayor Walker will give the metropolis' official greeting at City Hall. Visiting Atlantans have chartered the excursion steamer Mandalay and plan to trail the Macom on its trip from quarantine.

Glenna Collett Trails In Cleveland Tourney

CLEVELAND, July 1.—(AP.)—Miss Glenna Collett, national women's golf champion, today found herself trailing two other stars, Mrs. E. F. Lenihan of Cleveland, and Miss Peggy Wattles of Buffalo, at the half way mark in the Kirtland Club invitation tourney here.

Mrs. Lenihan, playing on her home course, broke women's par by one stroke in making the first 18 holes in 79 strokes. One stroke behind was Miss Wattles, with even par 80, while Miss Collett had an 81.

Robins Buy Boone, Yanks Get Hurler

NEW YORK, July 1.—(AP.)—Both Wilbert Robinson of the Brooklyn Robins and Bob Shawkey of the New York Yankees, have dug into the bankroll to strengthen their clubs for the dash down the major league home stretch.

Robinson announced yesterday that the Robins had purchased Ike Boone, slugging outfielder from the Mission club of the Pacific Coast League, for immediate delivery. Boone, who was up with the Boston Redsox a few seasons ago, is expected to fill a bad hole in left field for the Robins.

The Yankees, seeking additional pitching strength, secured Ken Holloway, veteran right hander of the Cleveland Indians, on waivers.

Long Shot Wins In Circuit Upset

Stokes sent Patsy under the wire first in straight heats to take the seventeenth renewal of the $7,000 Fasig stakes for 3-year-old trotters eligible to the 2:16 class. The winner's time was 2:08 4-5 and 2:06 and she never was pressed.

In the second event, the Forest City handicap, the favorite, Winnipeg, fell in the first heat and caused a mixup which resulted in the judges ruling out Winnipeg, Kinney Direct, driven by Parker, won the race, defeating among others Chancellor Cigar, which had not been defeated in 19 races.

THE LOWDOWN ON THE BUCS

By THE BENCHWARMER.

Well, folks, I guess it looked kinda nice to you to see Lloyd "in there" yesterday, but I don't know how you could see him, bein' as we haven't got television yet. There wasn't enough of you at the ball park to mob the umpires.

Lloyd hit both of them balls good and that second one looked like a hit to tie up the game when it left the bat. We can't get a break against the Braves. They don't look like such a hot outfit, but they certainly are trimmin' our sails this year. And they made most of their runs yesterday after two was out. That guy Richbourg goes daffy when he comes to Forbes Field.

LIKE LOCAL PARK

It seems like a lot of fellows act like colts when they get to the nice green pastures at Forbes Field. Look at Fred Leach. There's a county butter boy who is findin' it hard to hit .300, but we can't get him out when he plays on our home grounds.

Speakin' about colts in pasture, did you get a load of Rabbit yesterday. They tell me he's playin' his nineteenth season in the big league. If that's the truth I know a lot of indifferent young fellas in the league that ought to get a lesson in hustle and smartness while watchin' him. He's tryin' to so something smart all the time. Just when you think he's gonna push one to right, he'll fool you and pull it around to left. He got a coupla a doubles yesterday and almost sneaked another one in.

By CHARLES J. DOYLE

Defeated five times in seven brushes with the Braves of Boston, the Pirates today realized they were getting nowhere fast, so far as improving their position in the race. It is a fact that the Buccos were displaced by the Tribe yesterday as they bowed in a hard-fought battle at Forbes Field. The score of the game was 6 to 5.

The one big note of optimism struck in the whole game was recorded in the sixth inning when Lloyd Waner, under a barrage of cheering, picked up his glove and trotted out to centerfield to make his season's debut.

SOCKS HARD ONE

Lloyd came within an eyelash of putting the Pirates in a position where victory could easily have perched on their banner. The convalescent star all but drove in the tieing run in the eighth with two out. The youngster, at bat for his second time in the game, walloped a hard shot toward rightfield. A moment before he smashed out his fine drive, George Sisler walked about 10 bases from first base and was there to greet the smash. So Lloyd was retired and the needed run was snuffed out.

Harry Seibold was pitching at the time and runners were on third and first. Lloyd played a waiting game, and Sisler stayed close to the bag to hold up Jim Mosolf who was on first. The count on Lloyd eventually was three and two and Sisler naturally went back to his regular position in deep field as there was nothing to be gained by holding up a runner at first with two out and the count three and two. And that's why Lloyd didn't make an important hit as he returned to play.

Manager Ens stated this morning that in the event of Lloyd feeling as well as he did yesterday he would again use him in a part of the game, but he added that he probably would not start him in the contest. The doctors have ordered Jule to work Lloyd up to a nine-inning contest gradually. The little fellow hit two

Nick Altrock Says:

WASHINGTON.—Those Chicago boys that are up in the air after more than 400 hours didn't break the record of the White Sox pitchers. Say our Washington pitchers might as well be squirrels in a cage, the way we have gained on the A's the last two weeks. We have played gilt-edged baseball, but Connie Mack's boys were taping their bats with gold leaf too. If you want to know where the sardine industry got its ideas on packing just look at the leading clubs in an upper berth. And over in the National circuit Chicago and Brooklyn are so close together you'd think the Siamese Twins was leading the league.

HEARST TEAM CHAMPS TO DEFEND TITLE

CADDIES PRIME FOR JUNIOR GOLF EVENT

By VERN SWARTSLANDER

Qualifying tests seeking admittance to the annual Western Pennsylvania junior amateur golf tournament for the William Randolph Hearst trophy, which is to be played Monday at the Schenley municipal links, will be held at various country clubs and municipal courses.

In the tests conducted by Tournament Manager John J. Shannon, Stanley Kreindler and others by invitation at 36 holes each at the Castle Shannon course, the team championship and the individual honors in the tournament last year are eager to defend their titles. Four caddies are to represent each club in the fight for the Hearst trophy, and in addition, there will be individual honors.

BOOK, RONI ON TEAM

August Book and Sam Roni, members of Carrie Blast furnace bowling team last year, which defeated Pennovich and Kreindler to defend the Castle Shannon honors, they qualifying for the team by shooting 89 each. Other Mellon-Stuart members and their scores: Andy Elyvan, 39; Adolph Matlewicz, 40; John Kaval, 40; John Nemchanoff, 40.

Tom Wenskoff, aged 17, set the pace with a 76 at Brae Burn Country Club, caddies there qualifying tests conducted by Tournament Manager F. W. Hunt. Other qualifiers on the Club squad were George Frederick, 82; Wallace Averts, 87, and Tom Tatum, 87. The scores of the other Indian River Valley caddies who qualified to play individually: Calvin Kinnan, 87; Sam Nemchanoff, 89; A. Nesbit, 89; Kenneth Hunt, 92.

OTHER TESTS CARDED

Caddies at Highland qualified yesterday, and qualifying tests will be conducted at Highland Heights on Thursday and at Schenley Park on Friday.

Entries to the tournament will close tomorrow to all except club caddie and high and private school teams. There is no entry fee for the events and it is open to all amateur golfers 18 years of age and under who are not attending an institution of learning above preparatory school grades, which includes all caddies 18 years of age and under.

The entry list has passed the 300 mark, and it is still going up, and it is expected that this year's tournament will be bigger and better than ever.

All of the boys are talking about being good enough to supplant Joe Stevenson, of Penn Park, as champion—and the boy who wins gets a 26-inch Hearst trophy, a set of steel-shafted matched irons and a solid gold medal. Send your entry in now—before it is too late.

Homewood Quits West Penn League

The Homewood Club withdrew from the West Penn League this afternoon. It is understood that the Dalymen are going to apply for admission to the City League at a special meeting this evening to take the franchise of the Smith Club, which is throwing up the sponge.

Young Billy Haseltine of Philadelphia, hitch-hiked his way to Pittsburgh to play in the Western Pennsylvania tennis championships and carried off the men's singles title.

CORBETT SET FOR CHAMP

SAN FRANCISCO, July 1.—(INS)—Young Jack Thompson, newly crowned Negro welterweight champion, and Young Corbett III, flashy Fresno, Cal., Italian, appeared in perfect physical trim today as they settled down to their last days of training before their Fourth of July fight here.

The bout, scheduled for 10 rounds, is to be held outdoors at Ewing Field. Thompson's title will not be at stake.

It will be the fourth time the pair has met. Twice Corbett whipped the Negro before he became a champion and the third time they fought a draw. While Corbett remained a 10-to-7 favorite to win again, Thompson's supporters were confident that he would take the decision over the southpaw.

Joy Bath Takes Out

corn

New English Way

Now you can dance to your heart's content, run and walk and have good feet free from corns, callouses and hard skin.

The soreness, aching and burning quits with one exhilarating Radox Bath—3 or 4 baths, as many nights in succession and you lift out corns, roots and all.

No more foot agony—instead strong, vigorous feet that will never go back on you. Mayflower Drug Stores sell Radox—so do all leading druggists.

JOHNNIES NEAR FIRST HALF M.-A. FLAG

Nosing out Jeannette by a 5-4 score in a seven-inning game yesterday, Johnstown entered a tie toward the first half championship in the Mid-Atlantic League. Roberts gave up 14 safe hits but kept them scattered.

At Wheeling the Stogies failed in the ninth inning to defeat Fairmont, 6 to 5.

Clarksburg and both ends of a dual bill with Scottdale, taking the first game 4 to 3 and the second 3 to 1. Three runs in the eighth inning brought the first victory. Chadwin batted a two-bagger in the second.

Clarksburg scored four runs in the third inning and defeated Charleroi 13 to 12.

Pauperized Chisox Bid for Fans' Favor

CHICAGO, July 1.—(AP)—So as to offer the still loyal fans their money's worth, both Independence Day games between the White Sox and the St. Louis Browns will be played in an afternoon double-header.

For many years the two games have been played in the morning and afternoon, but the White Sox are imbedded in the American League cellar and bargain prices were decided upon.

Bucs Stronger Than Giants, Cubs--Robbie

ST. LOUIS, July 1.—(AP)—The Cardinals and Pirates, with all of their regulars back in the lineup, "probably are stronger" than the Giants and Cubs, in the opinion of Wilbert Robinson, Brooklyn manager, whose team opens a series with the Cardinals today.

Although the Robins have yielded the National League leadership to the Chicago Cubs, Uncle Robbie said he was confident his club would remain in the pennant scramble all season.

"I've been hearing and reading for many weeks that we're due to crack sooner or later," Robinson said, "but the fellows who are picking us to flop better watch their own teams. The Brooklyn ball club has strength in every department and the mere fact that we finished in the second division last year has no bearing on our present outlook."

Von Porat Stumbles, Gets Broken Ankle

CHICAGO, July 1.—(AP)—Otto Von Porat, the Norwegian heavyweight hope who took to the Wisconsin woods to recuperate after his stunning one-round knockout by Young Stribling, has found something more serious to recuperate from.

While browsing about his manager's summer home near Bayfield, Wis., he stumbled and fractured his ankle. The injury may keep him out of the ring for several weeks. He had been considered for a comeback match at the Chicago Stadium, July 16.

GREATEST SALE OF THE SEASON

This may be bad advertising . . . but it's HONEST. Here we are in July with a big store full of lightweight suits. Maybe we overbought! Maybe it was the weather! But it's too late to worry about that now. We MUST UNLOAD . . . and, to do it quick, we have disregarded cost and placed the suits in THREE SENSATIONAL PRICE GROUPS:

MEN'S SUITS $5 — Lightweight WORSTEDS FLANNELS CASSIMERES

ONE AND TWO PANTS—SOME WITH EXTRA KNICKERS . . .

MEN! Think of it! Clearance sales are usually held 'way after the Fourth of July, but we're afraid to wait, and that makes our hard luck your banquet. Thus, with one sweep of the markdown pencil, we create a sale that will take the whole city by surprise, and will shock the manufacturers who sold us some of these suits for as high as $35 wholesale. Our competitors say we are foolish . . . but don't you be. Get here before the Fourth, while selections are large and sizes complete.

GOODMAN and SUSS GILLMAN BRAND CLOTHES

Even our finer grades are included in this store-wide clearance. Our GOODMAN & SUSS, tailored at Rochester, and Gillman Brand clothes that reputable downtown stores are selling at $65, have been cut almost in half. At $35 they're remarkable values.

WOMEN GOLFERS CLASH AT WILDWOOD TODAY

PAIR OF OTHER TOURNEYS ON CARD

Three tournaments are being played today. The Women's Golf Association of Western Pennsylvania is staging a one-day tournament at the Wildwood Country Club, and the Edgewood Country Club is the scene of the Public Utilities and the Carnegie Steel events, in which executives and workers alike are competing.

Tomorrow the Western Pennsylvania team championship playoff is to be staged at the Westmoreland Country Club with Oakmont, Fox Chapel, Highland and Shannopin competing for the Claude F. Pugh vase emblematic of the championship, and the George J. Wilkock shield, which goes to the runner-up.

In the morning the teams will play two players from each club playing in eights, beginning at 10 a. m., while starting at 2 p. m., individual match play, one player from each club playing in fours, is to be held. Members of the winning team also will receive individual prizes.

TIE IN FATHERS, SONS

Yesterday the annual Fathers and Sons' championship of Western Pennsylvania was staged at the Pittsburgh Field Club. W. C. Fownes, Jr., and H. C. Fownes II, of Oakmont, and A. K. Oliver and J. W. Oliver, of Fox Chapel, being deadlocked for the honors at the end of the 18 holes with identical scores of 84.

In third place came J. B. and J. W. Crookston and A. C. and Robert Barclay with 85's. The Parks duo, S. M. and S. M. Jr., were next in line with an 86.

PRIMO CARNERA — JIMMY CONRAD

Primo Carnera, widely-discussed man mountain heavyweight fighter, of Italy, stopped off in Pittsburgh yesterday en route to Columbus, O., for an exhibition last night. Photo shows him being greeted by Jimmy Conrad, local manager of boxers, who conversed with him in Italian.

Wittenberg College Cage Coach Dead

DOVER, O., July 1.—Joe Herman, 29, assistant athletic director and head basketball coach of Wittenberg College, who in 1927 piloted the Dover High School basketball team to the state championship, died yesterday at the home of his sister, Mrs. E. J. Neidlinger, of liver and kidney disease, with which he had been ill since April.

He was coach here 1926-29. Herman, who also had played baseball in various minor leagues throughout the South, was a graduate of Mt. Union College, where he played football and baseball. He introduced a new style in basketball—the slow, delayed offensive, which won Dover the state championship.

10 STARS ENTER LOCAL GRIND

The imposing array of big circuit auto pilots who will show in the point championship speedfest at the Pittsburgh-Bridgeville board speedway Friday afternoon will include Frank Brisko of Milwaukee, and Burt Karnatz of Detroit, whose entry blanks reached headquarters last night. The latest additions boost the list of drivers to 10.

Billy Arnold, the winner of the Indianapolis and Altoona races this year, and leading contender for the 1930 title, along with Shorty Cantlon, runner-up in the Hoosier classic, were among the first to arrive on the scene of battle.

Sport Vignettes

In view of the disappointment caused by the non-appearance of some of the scheduled drivers in the Memorial Day automobile race at the Bridgeville track, it may be interesting to know that telegrams have been received at this office from Wilbur Shaw, Shorty Cantlon, Jimmy Gleason, Haustein, the winner on Memorial Day, and Paul Bost, stating that they positively will be here for the July Fourth grind on Friday . . . Two Pittsburgh college athletes of outstanding distinction will be in action abroad tomorrow, Pete Bowen, of Pitt, National A. A. U., and Intercollegiate quarter-mile champion, running at Cologne, Germany, in the first of the series of meets in which he and his American teammates will compete and Charles H. Moore, of Sewickley, a member of Princeton's 150-pound crew, rowing in the Henley Regatta on the Thames in London . . . The entries for the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph's third annual junior golf championship tournament for the William Randolph Hearst trophy close tomorrow . . . It would seem that, all in all, tomorrow is a pretty busy day on the sports calendar . . . Primo Carnera is a big fellow, but, during his brief stopover here yesterday, he did not impress as being as hefty as Jess Willard, the only ring giant to win the heavyweight title . . . However, he is more active than Jess was and is younger than Willard when the latter was fighting . . . The Primo (pronounced "Preemo") is a good-natured youth of few words . . . Jimmy Conrad, local manager of boxers and an Italian notable of the city, talked to Carnera in Italian and promised Satchel Feet a royal reception if he ever comes here to box or exhibit . . . He asked Carnera how he'd like a dish of spaghetti made in real Italian style and the beega fellah's mouth fairly watered . . . Leon See, manager of Carnera, after inquiring about the welfare of Frank Klaus, of Braddock, former middleweight champion, for whom he promoted five fights in Paris, years ago, gave this writer his version of the Carnera-Godfrey fight in Philadelphia Monday night of last week . . . He said he had instructed Carnera to start off slowly and to do little offensive work before the fifth round . . . "If Godfrey does not knock you out in two rounds, you are sure to win," See says he told Carnera. . . . He adds that Carnera followed instructions implicitly, which accounts for the fact that he was a mark for Godfreys attack in the first two rounds. In the third, Primo began to cut loose and he won that and the fourth round and was ahead when he was fouled in the fifth . . . The Primo is big enough and young enough to get somewhere and virtually everyone who has seen him in action is loud in singing his praises as a prospect.—HARRY KECK.

SIGN FOR BOUT

M'COY BATTLES RODGERS IN SUB ROLE

By HARRY KECK.
Sports Editor.

Johnny McCoy, one of the "middle men" of boxing, will do his specialty once more in the Meyers Bowl, North Braddock, tonight when he meets Jackie Rodgers, Negro knockout star, in the 10-round main bout of the show originally scheduled for last night but postponed until tonight because Johnny Datto, Filipino featherweight of Cleveland, who was to box Rodgers, was stricken ill and had to cancel.

A "middle man" in boxing is one who always is ready to jump in anywhere on a minute's notice and put on a good fight. McCoy is one of the veterans of the flyweight and bantamweight classes and has proved troublesome to all of the leaders.

McCOY WINNER HERE

This will be McCoy's third appearance in the Bowl. He first came here from Buffalo last year as a substitute for Bunty Graham against Benny Schwartz and defeated the Baltimorean, who previously had won over Rodgers. He made it unanimous by repeating the victory over Rodgers a short time afterward in a return bout in Oil City.

When he was asked via long-distance telephone yesterday if he would pump into the preach against Rodgers tonight, McCoy leaped at the chance.

"I'm one fellow Rodgers can't knock out," he said. "And, if he can't knock me out, he can't beat me."

In view of the short time the club had to rearrange its bill, McCoy would appear to be a happy pickup as a substitute. Certainly a man who already has beaten Rodgers twice does not measure up as any part of a mugg or setup for the local man.

PRELIM CARD STANDS

The entire preliminary card stands as arranged tonight. Harry Harris, of Bellaire, O., a young light-heavyweight, who presents a striking likeness to Gene Tunney in his facial appearance and manner of boxing, meets Harry Williams, clever local Negro, in the eight-round semi-final. Harris has been considerably bothered by bad hands, due to his heavy punching, but he recently returned to the ring following an operation and a layoff to score a one-round knockout in a bout in Wheeling, and his manager, Andy Vusky, of Bellaire, believes he is set now to begin moving ahead.

In the two six-round bouts, Eddie Speaks, a veteran from Louisville, who has met many of the good featherweights and lightweights, takes on Jack DeNeri, of the North Side, while Tony Marino, star amateur bantamweight of Duquesne, a brother of Tommy Ryan, the former bantamweight star, turns professional against Young Ketchel, of Steubenville, O. The first bout is carded for 8:45 daylight saving time.

Between Rounds

The injury to sustained to his left eye in his bout with Ray Collins at Hickey Park, Millvale, last Friday night has caused Andy Andriano to cancel his 10-round bout with Battling Giles at East Liverpool, O., tonight, and Dixie Eades of Indianapolis, has been signed to take his place. Eades has been around here for a couple of weeks waiting for a chance to break into the money. He tackled Jimmy Thomas here Tuesday. Reginald Kenny Travis meets Harry Morris and Eddie Flores is to go with Billy Feengel in the preliminaries.

Eddie Sage boxes Sparky Knight in the main bout of the amateur boxing show under the auspices of the Twenty-seventh Ward A. C., on its California avenue grounds tonight. The other bouts are: Butch Jacobs vs. Steve Stokes, Cecil Mallory vs. Walter Seitzwhich, Johnny Rivet vs. Pat Powers, Mike Sankey vs. Young Aurore, Clair Repole vs. Bernie Powers and Johnny Savile vs. Billy Rush.

Baby Joe Gans boxes Beryl Ramsey Baker in a 12-round bout in the Taylor Hotel, Cleveland, tonight, with Jimmy Reed meeting Frankie Challenton, Lynn Jordan opposing Nick Martin, Ray Edgell, tackling Frankie Wallace and Joe Zeppoli engaging Lou Nicholette in the preliminaries.

Sid Terris boxes Pete Nebo, Vincent Street tangles with Henry Goldberg and Marty Fox battles Ralph Fiorentio in 10-round bouts at the Queensboro stadium, New York, tonight. Earl Mastro meets Bud Taylor and Tony Herrera boxes Harry Dublinsky at Detroit. Young Stribling is carded with Bud Gorman at Newark, N. J.

The Hickey Park promoters are casting about for an opponent for Midget Mike O'Dowd, of Louisville, featherweight star Thursday night of next week. For their show this Thursday, they have a double windup consisting of 10-round bouts between Jackie Wilson and Young Baylor and between Mickey Solomon and Lynn Jordan, both middleweight affairs, and two six-rounders bringing Moss Dutch against Young Nanot and Hans Roberts against Irish Dave McConnell.

Primo Carnera, who "exhibited" in Columbus, O., last night, is booked for similar exhibitions at Dayton, O., tomorrow night; Indianapolis, Thursday night; Fort Wayne, Friday, and South Bend, Saturday. He shows at Canton, O., next Monday; Huntington, W. Va., next Tuesday, and at Youngstown on July 11. His next real bout is with Bearcat Wright at Omaha, July 17. A match is being arranged for him at the Atlantic City Auditorium some time in August.

regular lining squad. Prior to yesterday he had lost five straight games and seven of his last eight, whereas Guy Bush has won seven in succession, Pat Malone six of his last seven, Bob Osborn five out of six and Charley Root five of the last seven.

Charley Paddock

TOO OFTEN the man who makes long runs possible in football is overlooked. The crowd raves over the spectacular running of the player who carries the ball and makes him a hero, when the truth is that he owes his success to a team mate who runs interference and clears the way for him. The ball carrier gets all the glory, and the real star of the play is rarely given a tumble. Charley Paddock, former champion sprinter, has set himself to write a story which will be entitled "The Man in Front," and in which he plans to give some gridders of the past the credit which they did not receive during their playing careers. "Who made the late Walter Eckersall the ball-carrying hero of the early century?" asks Paddock. "Well, it was Hugo Bezdek, and that's what my story is going to be about. Everybody remembers Morton Kaer, of course, but how many remember the player who made him a hero with the ball? It was a chap named Manuel Lazaneta, but the fans will recall Kaer long after Lazaneta has passed from their minds. Then, there was a fellow named Earl Britton who made Red Grange famous. Of course, there are exceptions, such as Jimmie Nevers and Morley Drury, who were great in spite of everything and who would have stuck out like sore thumbs even on poor teams, but in the great majority of cases the player who really is the star in a play receives little or no mention."

EVEN IN A year remarkable for sport upsets, there has been nothing to compare with the staggering surprise that was pulled by the youthful American tennis player, Wilmer Allison, at Wimbledon yesterday, when he defeated the great Henri Cochet, of France, the defending title holder, in a quarter final of the British championship tournament, 6-4, 6-4, 6-3. Allison had not been considered seriously as having a chance to win at all, and that he would do it in straight sets had not been reckoned as being even remotely possible.

The best chance that had been conceded to the United States in the tourney was that Bill Tilden would go through to the final and fight it out with Cochet for the title, and even in that event the French star would have been the favorite. With the supposedly invincible Cochet eliminated, the outlook is good for an American victory in the men's singles, but that doesn't tell the full extent to which Uncle Sam's tennis prospects have been boomed by Allison's amazing triumph. It's going to help in the Davis Cup competition also, for the demonstration that Cochet can be beaten is likely to shake French confidence as well as relieve Cochet's American opponents in the cup round from going against him with the feeling that they are defeated before they start.

Two games are carded in the West Penn League this evening. One finds Dormont playing its last home game with Whitaker. The other finds the classy Arbutus nine hooking up with Homewood at the Playgrounds.

PLAY FOR LEAD

In the City League Beck Shoe and the North Side Clubs will be battling for the lead in their clash at the Salt Works grounds this evening. W. O. W. plays the Jimmy Smiths at Magee Field and Stowe and the Pleasant Valley Smiths play on the latter's field. Y. M. H. A. plays the Soho Board of Trade at Moultrie Park.

A meeting of the City League officials is scheduled for tonight at headquarters.

The feature battle of the Commercial and Industrial loop will be staged at Burgwin Field when the Baltimore and Ohio nine hooks up with Reliance Life. George Miller's classy Insurance boys apparently have the first half title in the bag unless they are stopped in the next couple of games.

REICKS VICTORS

In the C and I League last evening, Reick-McJunkins walloped the Mine Safety nine by a 19-to-2 score. Verona took over Edgewood, 4-2, in a Greater Pittsburgh League affair, and in the West Penn loop Dormont downed Universal, 8 to 3, and Homestead Aces knocked off Wilmerding, 9 to 7.

Arnold won over Ingomar in an independent tussle, 7 to 4. Collier Juniors defeated Colleryahn, 8 to 5, and Rinkeydinks won over Beck's Run, 7 to 5. The North Borough Collegians blanked the Hale Club, 8 to 0.

Fight Results

At Louisville—Carl Payne defeated Jackie Dugan, 10 rounds.

At Bethlehem, Pa.—Jack Renault defeated Harold Mays, 10 rounds. Ray Ivy defeated Donald Kerr, 8 rounds. Johnny Dougherty and Johnny Rose drew, 8 rounds. Johnny Bethea knocked out A. Ray, one round. Dewey D. Kammerer and Bob Bradley drew, 8 rounds.

At Flint, Mich.—Eddie Lord defeated Ray Miller, 10 rounds.

balls well in his two trips to the plate and he handled two putouts in a characteristic manner. He was quite fleet on the run to first but not as fast as he is when in his normal stride.

The idea of getting Lloyd into action yesterday came as a sort of a surprise but the little fellow has improved steadily since he returned from the Baltimore hospital.

BRAME, MEINE READY

Either Ervin Brame or Heinie Meine will pitch for the Pirates today. McKechnie has southpaw Eddie Brandt and Bill Cunningham ready. If the lefthander works against the Bucco Meine will get the assignment as the home management prefers to have Brame in action against a lefthander owing to the merit in Erv's ball.

Lance Richbourg's hot single through Suhr in the eighth inning with the bases loaded, two out and the Buccos leading by one run, gave the Tribe a 6 to 5 triumph in the first game clash of a four-game series. Suhr has held harder chances, but unfortunately he could not pick up this ball, which bounced through his legs. The Pirates tried hard to rally in the eighth and ninth round, but Berbold, an eighth inning entry, frustrated them.

Remy Kremer worked eight rounds for the Pirates, the veteran being off the pleasing form he has shown of late. Jim Mesolf batted and singled for Kremer in the eighth with two out and Larry French finished the game.

FIGHT FOR FIFTH

We're havin' a fight for fifth place, if you'll notice. There's nothing excitin' about that, but maybe there'll be some better things comin' before the season is over.

You know it's not half over yet. If it keeps warm in the next two months you might see a lot of upsets. It's about time for some of them fake .400 hitters to start foldin' up.

TWO FEATURE RACES CARDED

Two feature events head the program of dog races at the Bridgeville Speedway for tonight. The seventh event brings together the topnotchers of the course and three new arrivals, for a sprint affair.

The new arrivals are Lord Martin, Grid Leak and Vic Gay, speedsters de luxe and leading purse winners at many tracks. The eighth calls out all the old favorites for the futurity route. Jahala, with two firsts, three seconds and three thirds in 10 starts here, appears to be the most logical contender.

Last night, at New Kensington, Demuth, paying $6.80, to win, copped the feature race of the program, the Leon Wolf cup race. Lone Eagle was second and Blue Dust third.

Dr. Danner paid the biggest price of the evening, $33.40 to win the final event.

Next Step to Cure Oil Evil Is Here Told

—By B. C. FORBES—

CURTAILMENT of oil overproduction will not restore the industry's health if refining and marketing are allowed to run wild.

After many weary and sometimes discouraging months of painstaking efforts by far-seeing leaders, the majority of oil producers have been brought around to reason. This phase of the oil problem is within sight of solution.

But will restraint by producers be nullified by recklessness on the part of refiners and distributors?

I have induced President Kenneth R. Kingsbury, of the Standard Oil Company of California, one of the half-dozen most influential oil giants in America, to lay the whole oil situation clearly before readers of this column.

Without further ado let Mr. Kingsbury speak:

"All the California producing fields are under a proration agreement calling for a production of 596,000 barrels a day.

"This is on the basis of a potential production of over a million barrels a day.

"This curtailment of production has been accomplished through pinching back flowing wells and shutting in other wells entirely. Our own company, to illustrate, besides pinching back its flowing wells, has shut in completely 1,500 producing wells in California out of a total of 3,300 producing wells.

"It is somewhat unfortunate, I think, that the industry seems to feel that when production of crude oil has been curtailed to a point to bring it in balance with the demand, the conservation problem has been solved. This might be true were it not for the fact that there are nearly 700,000,000 barrels of crude oil and petroleum products in storage in the United States.

"Too little attention, I think, has been given to the next and equally important step in conservation, that is, orderly and stabilized refining and marketing."

"Only through the accomplishment of conservation in this end of the business can the objective be successfully attained.

"If the refiner, by taking advantage of his oil in storage, overproduces and forces products on the market which unsettle prices, bringing about an unstable and disorderly price structure, it tends to destroy the results which have been accomplished in the producing end of the business, for the reason that the producer, as a reward for his willingness to curtail his production, is entitled to a fair and stabilized price for his crude oil, whereas unsettled prices for the finished product naturally tend to unsettle prices for crude oil.

"It is my belief that we cannot maintain a voluntarily curtailed production in balance with consumption on cut prices for crude oil. In this connection you will recall the bitter complaint made to the President by Mid-Continent producers last spring when they were faced with a reduced price for crude oil at the very time that they were accepting the full curtailment program.

"The Federal Oil Conservation Board pointed the way in this second step in conservation, that is, orderly and stable refining and marketing, when it suggested a few months ago to the industry that refiners should close down on Sundays, or, in effect, run one-seventh less crude oil each week. Many refiners immediately complied with this suggestion, but many others did not, so it is not possible to determine definitely just what results were accomplished.

"The relations of conservation to stabilizing prices for finished products was referred to by the Federal Oil Conservation Board in its report to the President on September 6, 1926, when the board pointed out the desirability of less duplication of marketing facilities, which, as the board said, 'at times even involve an expense equal to cost of production and refining.'"

BUSINESS LULL GIVES TEST TO ESSENTIALS

Economic Transition Shows Relative Importance of Different Industries

By MERRYLE STANLEY RUKEYSER.

NEW YORK, July 1.—The business recession has revived popular consideration again of what products are essential and which are less essential.

Economic transition tests out the relative importance to the consumer of different industries. As a matter of fact, in spite of unemployment, consumption is the most stable factor in business, and fluctuates substantially less than production.

The variation in the volume of business as the cycle advances from prosperity to depression is due not simply to a falling off in consumption, but more particularly to a loss of confidence on the part of dealers who cease forward buying and permit stocks of merchandise on hand to decline. Thus, time is always on the side of recovery, for the public eats into accumulated stocks, and new shortages are in the making.

FOOD STABLE

As one would expect, food products are a superlatively stable industry. The volume of food consumption varies only negligibly in hard times, although there is some rearrangement of the family larder, with a swing toward the cheaper foods such as cereals and away from the dearer foods such as meats. Normally there is an annual increase of 1 per cent in food consumption, resulting from the gain in population.

While general industry was declining, the food products industry has been moving forward this year. In the first quarter, the earnings of 21 leading food companies showed a gain of 4 per cent over the same period in 1929. Those companies which sell in branded packages, though needing to operate skillfully in the raw material markets, can benefit through the decline in raw commodity prices, which tend to increase their profit margins.

Senator Glass' resolution for an investigation of banks, with special regard to the use of Federal Reserve funds in speculation, has added to the influences restraining confidence. There has been less apprehension over the fact finding investigation of the House Committee on Banking and Currency into branch banking and chain banking.

DEVELOPMENT REMARKABLE

The process in recent years of applying the principles of big business to banking has had a quiet, though remarkable, development. Group banking permits some of the attributes of branch banking in districts where branch banking is not permitted by law. On the constructive side, group banking offers the promise of better management, better diversification of loans, especially in one crop sections, and better handling of bank investments.

But where a holding company gets control of banks it can elude the double liability feature of stock ownership and can also come between the public regulators of banks and the banks themselves. Recognizing these aspects, John T. Flynn, Goucher College economist, in the New Republic, takes an extreme position, and urges the curbing of group banking, saying:

"The guardians of our national banks will have to come to the conclusion reached by the Interstate Commerce Commission with reference to the railroads — that the holding company defeats control of the road which it dominates unless the commission can control the holding company along with the individual road. In case of banks the government should go further. It should absolutely outlaw the ownership of bank stock by a holding company formed to control it, or by any substitute for it or any device designed to achieve the same purpose."

INTERMEDIATE STEP

I am inclined to look upon group banking—the linking of individual banks operating under separate charters under the control of a holding company—as an intermediate step between unit banking and more extensive branch banking. All signs indicate that the evolution in banking will go forward until banks are set up more efficiently to serve the public. Desiring to protect outside districts from dominance by Wall street, the comptroller of the currency has recommended a compromise in the form of regional branch banking within Federal Reserve districts. Secretary Mellon has not definitely committed himself on this issue further than to recommend intensive study of the problem.

The general level of commodity prices in the United States is now distinctly below the 1921 deflation level, and, in fact, is lower than at any time in 13 years. The price level should be, and to some extent already is, being reflected in a declining cost of living.

Artificial attempts on the part of governments or private agencies to keep up prices in the face of deflationary tendencies have broken down. The collapse of the Brazilian coffee valorization plan was the most decisive blow to artificial governmental interferences and the recent yielding of the Copper Export Association on copper indicated that a coalition of producers could not indefinitely impede the working out of economic forces.

New Trunk Line Hearing Date Set

WASHINGTON, July 1.—The Interstate Commerce Commission has assigned for oral argument here on July 15 proceedings involving the proposal of the New York, Pittsburgh and Chicago Railroad to build a new line of railroad across Pennsylvania from Easton on the New Jersey line to the Pittsburgh area.

The construction is sponsored by L. F. Loree and projected as a new Chicago to New York line.

Bituminous Coal Production Higher

WASHINGTON, July 1.—Bituminous coal production, while still materially under the figures for 1929, registered an increase of 1 per cent for the week ended June ... as compared with the previous week. Output for comparable periods is given as follows by the Mines Bureau: Week ended June 21, 7,994,000 tons; previous week, 7,986,000 tons; same week of 1929, 9,199,000 tons.

Firm Discontinues Margin Accounts

NEW YORK, July 1.—A letter sent to customers by Harvey Fisk & Sons, one of the largest commission houses of the New York Stock Exchange, announced that the firm had discontinued all margin trading accounts. The letter explained the decision was reached so that the firm may devote its entire business and attention to investment and cash commission business.

MEXICO LIFTS WHEAT BAN

WASHINGTON, July 1.—Exportation of wheat from Mexico previously prohibited has been authorized subject to an export duty of five cents per gross kilo, plus a surtax of 2 per cent of the duty, cables Commercial Attache George Wythe, Mexico City.

Effective July 26 cotton seed meal and cake and oil seed cake, not specified for cattle feed, will be permitted to be exported duty free. The latter products have formerly been subject to an export duty of 50 centavos per 100 gross kilos plus a surtax of 2 per cent of their duty.

Out of the Kitchen

Time was when the busy housewife spent at least one scorching afternoon every week in the kitchen "baking." Baking day was the most dreaded day of the whole busy week. It meant hours of mixing, beating, and kneading, and bending over a hot oven. And still the housewife was never free from the fear of failure.

Modern bakeries with automatic equipment have changed all that . . . Scientific methods have eliminated the "guess work" in baking. Results are always successful and uniform. Now the housewife can buy quite as good bread, delicious cakes, pies and cookies from the baker as she can make herself. The baker has taken the housewife "out of the kitchen" on baking day.

There are many bakeries in Pittsburgh of the highest type . . . as clean, bright and shining as the housewife's own kitchen. And the chefs that concoct the recipes and supervise the mixing and baking are most skilful.

To the bakers of Pittsburgh . . . the Mellon National Bank extends a cordial invitation to become depositors of the Bank and to make use of the Bank's facilities in transacting financial business.

Rails Provide Leadership In Early Rally—Trading Shows Some Acceleration

NEW YORK, July 1 (AP.)—The [illegible] prices lost some of [illegible] today's market, but [illegible] worked higher [illegible] with the rails, [illegible] group in the [illegible] leadership. [illegible] rise, and exp[illegible] ing checked [illegible] early afternoon.

The financ[illegible] whole, however, [illegible] ond half of the [illegible] hopeful. While [illegible] extent of the [illegible] during the [illegible] widely, there is [illegible] business trends w[illegible] as they normally [illegible] to December. Note [illegible] slack summer per[illegible] and second quarters [illegible] statements must be [illegible] first to appear w[illegible] statement from Du[illegible] ing at $1.31 as [illegible] $1.44 1929 and $1.05 in 1928.

RAILS IN DEMAND

Buying of [illegible] may have reflected [illegible] the reinvestment of some of $1,000,000,000 being paid out in mid-year interest and dividends, at short covering in anticipation of it. Although [illegible] for June, with practically all reports now in, average [illegible] better than those of April and estimates for June are not very hopeful, most rail executives expect substantial improvement during the next six months.

Merchandising shares were also firm. An indication of the comparatively satisfactory volume of retail trade was indicated by Montgomery Ward's July sales report, showing a gain of 9.15 per cent over June of last year. National Bellas Hess reported a drop of nearly 24 per cent, but this company has been having unusual difficulties.

Trading showed some acceleration over yesterday, but was still relatively dull. The announcement of Harvey Fisk & Sons that it would abandon carrying marginal accounts was regarded as at least a reflection of the change in speculative sentiment, but Wall Street was inclined to interpret it primarily as an indication that this house had decided to specialize in an individual type of business rather than as a precedent likely to be widely followed.

CALL RATE RISES

Call money again rose to 3 per cent, reflecting withdrawals estimated at about $100,000,000 for the midyear settlements and holiday cash requirements.

Atchison sold up more than 8 points, making a recovery of about 20 points from last week's low. Chesapeake and Ohio, Rock Island and New York Central gained 4 points and more. Such issues as Woolworth, Macy, Safeway, Kroger, Bethlehem, American Tobacco B, International Business Machines and Loew's gained 2 to 4 points, and such wide movers as Case and Ingersoll Rand sold up several points. U. S. Steel opened off about a point, rallied and sold up nearly 2, net, and turned downward again in the early afternoon. American Can and several other pivotal shares pursued a similar course.

Jay Reports Cotton Condition at 72.7%

NEW YORK, July 1.—The J. & W. Jay & Co. cotton report estimates acreage decrease as of June 24 at 3½ per cent. The condition is placed at 72.7 per cent of normal.

The official acreage a year ago was 48,457,000 acres. No official estimate of condition was given. Jay & Co. estimated the condition at 72.7 per cent on June 23, 1929.

The Gold Coin Mining Company announces that the time has been extended until July 10 for stockholders to exercise their rights to purchase the new stock on terms recently stated. The original date of expiration was July 1.

Indorses Holding Wheat Off Market

WASHINGTON, July 1.—The Federal Farm Board indorses the movement to hold wheat off the market instead of dumping the crop direct from the combine or thresher, in order to prevent congestion at the terminals. The board says prices may thus be improved.

Use of Gasoline Increases in April

Gasoline consumption in 42 states in April totaled 918,649,000 gallons, against 804,685,000 gallons in April, 1929, according to the American Petroleum Institute.

NEW YORK CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, July 1.—Resumption of short covering moved the curb market further today. All sections of the list advanced under the leadership of the oils, some of which rallied several points, but trading, although in larger volume than yesterday, was still of small proportions and the market was almost entirely a professional affair.

Following is the list of transactions on the New York Curb Exchange, giving all stocks and bonds traded in (00 omitted in sales column of stocks, [illegible] 000 omitted in sales column of bond list).

R. C. A. DENIES TRUST CHARGE

WASHINGTON, July 1.—(AP.)—David Sarnoff, president of the Radio Corporation of America, said his company had filed in the Delaware Federal Court an answer to the anti-trust suit recently brought by the Department of Justice. The answer denied the corporation had done anything of which the government should complain.

The suit was brought by the Justice Department to test patent arrangements by the Radio Corporation and nine other companies. Sarnoff commented:

"What was done in obtaining rights under the patents of others was necessary for and has resulted in the establishment of modern radio which could not otherwise have lawfully been established nor brought to its present efficient condition."

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, July 1. Bonds were steady today, little disposition being apparent in the listed market to move from the present base. Some signs of a firmer tendency developed but the upward movement was hardly perceptible and the sluggishness which has marked the course of public issues was still retarding improvement.

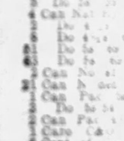
No Longer Skinny, Nervous. I Gained 4 Lbs. in 2 Weeks



"I was nervous, run-down, constipated until I took Ironized Yeast. Gained 4 lbs. in 2 weeks. Indigestion gone, clear skin."—Mrs. B. Rogers.

Thousands who were skinny, weak, nervous, write of 5 to 15 lbs. gained in 3 weeks with Ironized Yeast. Bony limbs rounded out, hollows fill in. Blemishes with clears like magic. Nervousness, indigestion, constipation end overnight. Sound sleep, new pep.

Two great tonics in one—special weight-building Brewers Yeast and strengthening Iron. Pleasant little tablets. Far stronger than unmedicated yeast. Results in a time. No yeasty taste, no gas.

National Tube to Use Electric Process

By GEORGE H. SNYDER.

PRODUCTION OF ELECTRICALLY welded pipe will be started by the National Tube Company, subsidiary of the United States Steel Corporation, within a few weeks. The first plant ever built by the corporation for the manufacture of this type of pipe is nearing completion at McKeesport. Officials of the company have not made public the number of men to be employed at the new unit or the range of sizes of pipe to be produced.

In making electrically welded pipe the National Tube Company is following a development which has proved to be of major importance in the pipe industry during the past five years. The outstanding success of the A. O. Smith Corporation of Milwaukee, pioneer in the field, has been influential in causing several of the leading steel companies to make experiments along the same lines.

The A. O. Smith Corporation is a newcomer into the pipe business but it has been able to secure a very large share of the orders for new pipe lines which have been placed by the oil and gas industries. The low cost at which the organization has been able to weld plates into the larger sizes of pipe has made it an important factor in the line pipe trade.

Other Companies in Field

TWO OF THE INDEPENDENT steel companies are also starting the production of welded pipe. Republic Steel Corporation and Youngstown Sheet and Tube are both entering the production of electrically welded pipe and have made large expenditures for new plant facilities.

Other companies are also planning to enter the electrically welded field within a short time so that within a few years nearly all the large makers of pipe will have sufficient electric welding equipment installed to take care of the line pipe business.

Future Trend Doubtful

WIDE DIFFERENCES of opinion are shown by steel men and consumers of pipe as to the future trend of manufacturing processes in the industry. Many production men believe that ultimately the methods of making seamless tubing will be so improved that this product will be on a more favorable competitive basin than electrically welded pipe. There are many difficulties to be overcome, however, so that even those expecting the most satisfactory results in seamless tube manufacture admit that the trend will continue toward electrically welded pipe for a long period.

The improvement of processes for making seamless tubes during the past 10 years was responsible for a rapid trend away from the older types of lap weld and butt weld pipe and towards the seamless product for many purposes.

Processes Explained

ELECTRICALLY WELDED PIPE is made by rolling cold steel plates into cylinders and then welding the edges. Seamless tubing is made by heating round billets and then piercing them. Following this operation the billets are passed between rolls with a circular aperture to obtain the desired outside diameter. As the pipe goes through the rolls it is also forced over a bullet-shaped casting to establish the inside diameter.

Butt weld pipe is made by drawing hot strips of steel called skelp through funnel shaped apertures called bells. These bend the skelp into cylinders and force the edges together.

In making lap weld pipe the skelp is first bent into cylinders so that the edges overlap. The material is then heated to welding temperature and is passed through pairs of rolls which squeeze the edges together.

The first five years have been marked by exceptional progress in all the methods for making pipe. Among these have been the introduction of jets of oxygen over the edges of skelp to be made into lap or butt weld pipe. This raises the temperature of the part to be welded and makes it unnecessary to heat all the metal to welding temperature. The continuous method of drawing butt weld pipe used by the Fretz-Moon Company is another outstanding development.

Bellas Hess Sales Decrease in June

NEW YORK, July 1.—National Bellas Hess Company's June gross cash receipts amounted to $3,232,338, compared with $4,250,666 for June, 1929, a decrease of 23.9 per cent, and for six months totaled $18,280,445, against $25,267,665 a year ago, a drop of 27.9 per cent.

Receipts this year include figures for certain stores not operated by the company last year. Therefore, the actual comparative decrease for the six months is 35.5 per cent.

Cooper Bessemer Gets Large Order

NEW YORK, July 1.—Cooper Bessemer Corporation received a $1,300,000 contract from Texas-Kansas City natural gas pipe line of Cities Service Gas Company for gas engine driven compressors, aggregating 24,000 horse power.

Estimate General Motors Earnings for Quarter At $1.25 Per Share

Unofficial estimates place the probable showing of General Motors for the second quarter at around $1.20 to $1.25 a share on the common stock as compared with the equivalent of 98 cents a share in the March quarter. Part of such earnings in the second quarter will, however, it is contended, be of non-recurring character, representing profit realized by the corporation on the sale of 1,375,000 shares of its common stock to the management corporation believed to have amounted to $7,500,000 or thereabouts. Following precedent the report should appear some time in the third week of July.

Earnings of Continental Baking Corporation continue to show slow but steady improvement over the rate reported in the first 15 weeks of this year. In 25 weeks ended June 21 net profit was roughly $2,500,000, about $500,000 in excess of preferred requirements for the first six months of the year. The balance would be equal to about $1.70 a share on the Class A stock.

While there has been some discussion in the Street of the possibility of Continental Baking Corporation reducing the dividend rate on its $8 preferred stock, there does not seem to be any likelihood of this as long as earnings continue to improve.

Between now and the closing on Thursday when the market takes recess for the balance of the week the size and character of the existing open short interest should be pretty clearly apparent. It is now rather definitely known that some of the bigger operators who had been active on the bear side of things recently completed their covering operations last week and departed for a short stay abroad, morever, it is hardly to be assumed that with the long holiday looming ahead, interests arrayed on the long side of the market will undertake any large scale operations this week. Thus the market will depend for its upward momentum, it appears on the proportions of the outstanding short account and its character. The action of the market yesterday certainly indicated clearly that orderly retreat had been decided upon in many sections of the bear camp.

Everything considered shareholders cannot complain over the report of American Car and Foundry for the year ended April 30. Earnings of $5.44 a share, compared with $1.02 a share in the preceding year, are not a bad showing. And a great part of the comeback is due to diversification of products. Both in volume and in profits the results of miscellaneous business were in excess of those of the preceding year. American Car and Foundry is still in a very strong cash position in spite of deficits after dividends for the last four years. Its cash holdings amount to $5,064,000, and government securities $3,288,000. The total is $3,800,000 less than in the preceding year, but there was an increase of $2,600,000 in accounts receivable and a decrease of $500,000 in accounts payable. The company still has a $5,532,000 reserve set up against future common dividend payments.

The continued withdrawal of funds from the call money market by corporations and wealthy individuals is clearly reflected in loans from "others" as reported by the Federal Reserve Bank. The latest statement shows the total of this account at $939,000,000, which is a decrease of $3,002,000,000, or more than 76 per cent, from the peak of $3,941,000,000 established October 9, last, before the big crash in stock values. This drop is much larger than bankers ever believed possible and probably means lenders are seeking higher yields in securities.

That there is only a scant supply of Ingersoll Rand has been shown several times when the stock ran up sharply during firmer market periods on small transactions. The company's business is being affected along with industry in general by the current business recession, but the diversity of its products and the extent of its field and organization tend to minimize the influence. Ingersoll Rand has a good earning and dividend record.

DAILY TRUE STORY

Her name was Daisy Cunningham.

Some parents actually do name children "Daisy," it seems.

There were [illegible] nor likely to be any [illegible] pathway.

Daisy's parents had been born in the country. They had been reared among [illegible] the farmers failed to [illegible] and insisted on calling it a "truck patch" and a "weed."

But after they had [illegible] married [illegible] a tough fight [illegible] memories of [illegible] and of the [illegible] take on a [illegible] Maybe that is why they loved the baby. Daisy.

By the time Daisy Cunningham was 16 she had seen a great many daisies [illegible] all artificial, though [illegible] to make them fit a real establishment that [illegible] artificial flowers by the [illegible]

On very rare occasions Daisy would go up to the Botanical Gardens and [illegible] of the flowers and she would always manage to [illegible] a few wild flowers outside of the park limits, which she kept in her cheap little room. It was useless; they wilted and faded with nothingness.

The parents who had bestowed the name of Daisy on their sole offering to posterity had gone on beyond where it is to be hoped there were fields of flowers and a haven of sorrow.

Daisy Cunningham was probably one of the least likely of the girls in the big factory where the artificial flowers were turned out.

She was not much like the "day's eye" which is the literal meaning of daisy. She was very prim, quite pale and one of the self-effacing sort which exhibit highbrows bar to [illegible] erity complex.

Smart Girl

But Daisy was small. From sitting on a stool all day and twisting green leaves on wire or colored petals on little wires she had worked up to the designing room.

In this room are the great volumes on botany, most profusely illustrated. Nearly every flower known, both wild and cultivated, could be found in these volumes pictured in bloom and also pictured taken apart—leaf, calyx, bud and stamen.

Daisy learned a very great deal from these tomes. To her was intrusted the making of a "pattern" copy from which the workers made up the commercial blooms.

And in this room Daisy met Ivan Hartley. Ivan was dark and ruddy and dashing—just the sort of a chap to make a mouse-like girl like Daisy dream dreams.

Daisy believed that she was in love with him. And because Hartley was in charge there and because he appreciated her knowledge of flowers and said in making up pattern copies he secured two increases in salary for her.

Hartley was always very gracious to Daisy. It didn't matter that he was gracious to all of the girls. Daisy believed he was especially fond of her and she held secret hopes that some day he would woo and wed her according to the manner of the old-fashioned novels.

But Mr. Hartley married Emily Wilson, floorlady in the stock-cutting room.

Emily was tall and had glorious golden hair and pink cheeks and blue eyes.

Daisy was home two days positively ill over this. And the girls knew well enough what the matter was—but they weren't so terribly sorry. They thought it was a great joke that such a homely, colorless, dumb girl as Daisy should have hope of getting a man.

So Daisy worked away. She was 24 and she might have been 34 from her looks. She remained in the dark, cheap little room and saved her money.

Daisy had one great fear that she would grow old and helpless and go to the poor house, or else be stricken with sickness and become a charity patient. And so she took no vacations because the company didn't give vacations with pay and she saved and scrimped.

Feelings Hurt

Every year the other girls would take from two weeks to a month's vacation. They would come back rosy and tanned and with sparkling eyes. They would talk of their wonderful times, of the nice boys they met, of the sports and dancing and such things and they had photographs galore.

Daisy Cunningham used to look at the little snapshots and wish she dared take a vacation.

As a matter of fact, Daisy could afford to take a long vacation, or a couple years' vacation for that matter, because she had been working since she was sixteen and she had saved more than half of her earnings during those eight years.

Of course, a great many new girls came to work because a great many of the other girls were getting married but Daisy worked on and on.

Once Daisy heard one of the girls talking about her. The girl said to her chum, Daisy is too wise to waste money on a vacation—she knows no man would give her a second look.

Daisy wasn't hurt any more. The hurt she got when Mr. Hartley married someone else was all over, if not forgotten. Daisy took it for granted that she wasn't the sort of a woman men wanted, and that her destiny was to make artificial flowers until she got too old and feeble, and then to sit in a sunny room in some exclusive [illegible]

Goes on Vacation

Mrs. Barton, where Daisy had boarded [illegible] years, had a daughter who worked down near Avenue A where styles are in rifts in advance of those on the Avenue. She told Daisy the sort of clothes she should wear on her vacation, she brought home sample suits that were fashionably cheap.

Daisy secured reservations in the country village of Rosemont, where Mabel Reardon had gone the previous year. And altogether [illegible] other girls went to the same country village [illegible] girls from the factory.

Daisy was amazed when she got there. She couldn't keep away from the wild flowers and within two days she was the joke of the place to her factory friends—she was almost immediately called Daisy Wildflower, so much so that several people thought that was really her name.

"My Gawd," Mabel said, "aren't we fed up on flowers all th' year? I should pick flowers and jab 'em in a book when I can go motoring, swimming and dancing."

No one danced with Daisy or went places with her or more than tipped their hats to her.

One day one of the girls cried: "For Pete's sake, Daisy has got herself a boy friend!"

Daisy came in with a tall, blond man who wore big spectacles and carried leather cases and an armful of flowers.

"A couple nuts—what a team," giggled Mabel.

The man was a Mr. Hutton. They called him "Mr. Nutty" because he kept to himself and poked around gathering flowers. Daisy had met him coming across a field where she was trying to photograph some wild blue bells and they had walked in together.

The very next day there arrived a great big car, one of those black jobs, imported sort, with a chauffeur in livery. Mr. Hutton came out with Daisy and they got in the car and were driven away.

Daisy's factory acquaintances nearly passed out with surprise.

Daisy and Mr. Hutton had a long day of it with a picnic luncheon. Mr. Hutton was enthusiastic over Daisy's knack for finding flowers. He told her that he would pay her five thousand for the idea of a monthly and explained that he was a book publisher and that botany was his hobby.

Married

Seven days later they had been on seven more trips and Mr. Hutton was calling her Daisy and she was calling him Paul.

The girls got a big laugh over the trip of her friend Daisy Wildflower had landed.

Paul told Daisy about the Bible flowers, thirty-three mentioned in the Bible. He was going abroad and get up a new edition of a book about them. He wanted Daisy to go with him.

I'd love to, Daisy said innocently. With the money you are going to pay me for that book alone I can afford it.

Mr. Hutton looked at her.

My dear, sweet girl, he said, hadn't we better be married before we go sailing around the world?

Why, why if you want me, Daisy stopped. She looked more like a crimson peony just then, as the meaning of what she said came to her.

In the fall back in the flower shop, one Monday, with details of her Sunday visit to Mr. and Mrs. Hutton.

Gee, said Mabel, they're going to go around the world picking wild flowers, can you tie that? And they live in a swell place, a house with a garden and flowers on top of a big apartment block, and I bet I saw a dozen different servants and the swellest furniture and a room full of books and pictures about flowers, and you can't imagine such a fool for luck, Daisy Wildflower, what the boys wouldn't look at, falling into it so nice and soft, can you tie factory Mabel Reardon regaled that one.

Our Court Congestion

Is the Summer Suspension Justifiable?

With Quarter Sessions Court so congested that judges have to be called in habitually from other counties to help try the cases, and with Common Pleas Court about 14 months behind in its work, these tribunals went on summer schedule today. For two months there will be no jury trials. In the meanwhile cases will continue to pile up.

If the administration of the courts were a private business, can anyone imagine an efficient corporation, confronted with the pressure of business that faces the Allegheny County tribunals, suspending for two months? Commercial enterprises do not suspend if there is work to be done. Even the colleges no longer close for the summer. The University of Pittsburgh starts a summer session today with thousands of students registered.

The suspension of jury trials in the courts is just another illustration of the fact that public business often is not conducted as efficiently as private business. But is there any good reason why it should not be?

For years our courts have been behind in their work. Various remedial measures have been adopted, but they have been only partly effective. When the Common Pleas Courts were consolidated, old No. 1 court was three years and five months behind. The number of judges was increased from 12 to 14, but almost from the outset it became necessary to assign the two additional judges to Criminal Court, and not only that but also to summon outside judges, sometimes as many as four at a time.

Some changes of procedure were placed into effect, and the work of the courts speeded; but although the number of cases disposed of has increased annually in recent years, the number of new cases has increased in greater proportion. On January 1, 1928, the number of cases at issue in Common Pleas Court was 4,011; on the same date the next year it was 4,021, and at the beginning of this year it was 4,104.

The county is growing and litigation is increasing. Something will have to be done, and that before long, if the courts are not to be swamped.

Anthracite Negotiations

It Is to Be Hoped a Strike Will Be Averted.

The anthracite miners' wage contract, entered into February 12, 1926, at the conclusion of the last big anthracite strike, expires August 31.

Philip Murray, of Pittsburgh, international vice president of the United Mine Workers of America, is in the East with his colleagues, negotiating with the operators for a new agreement. Mr. Murray and his associates are in a conciliatory mood. For the first time in the history of such conferences the miners are not demanding a wage increase. Murray will have to prevent a strike.

On the other hand Freeman Thompson, president of the National Miners' Union, a self-confessed Red organization, has national headquarters in Pittsburgh, has gone to the anthracite field with the avowed intention of causing trouble. From Pittsburgh the National Miners' Union is sending out thousands of circulars bidding the anthracite workers "prepare for a strike when the Lewis slave contract expires August 31."

As between the conflicting aims—the aim of Mr. Murray to prevent a strike and the aim of Mr. Thompson to foment one—there is no question where public interest lies. The public always suffers from strikes.

Fireworks Substitutes

South Hills Communities Set Commendable Example.

Since our legislative and police authorities have not yet succeeded in preventing the sale of fireworks, a very dangerous kind of plaything, to children, all other reasonable means of keeping the explosives out of the hands of the boys and girls deserve encouragement.

A number of the communities in the South Hills, including Brookline, Dormont, Mt. Lebanon and Beechview, have decided to set up counter attractions on the Fourth of July. They will provide entertainment in such abundance that there will be little time or temptation to shoot pistols and firecrackers.

There are to be movies and ball games and track sports and concerts and parades. The children's minds will be so occupied with other things that they will not miss the fireworks. At least, that is the plan, and it is a good one, and worthy of being copied by other towns.

Pennsylvania Oil Output

Another Example of the Futility of Worrying.

Producers of Pennsylvania petroleum in the Bradford field have agreed to curtail production, beginning at once. It is their second cut in output this year, and is prompted by the fact that overproduction had depressed the price to a level at which profits were being wiped out. And yet the Bradford field, in which the first well was drilled about 1876, was commonly regarded, 20 years ago, as at the point of exhaustion. Its sensational "comeback" illustrates the futility of worrying. Most of the things we worry about never happen.

In 1913 an increase in production was observed in some old wells that were still being pumped in a small way. Investigation disclosed that water had found its way into the oil sand and was forcing the oil before it into the wells. From this accidental discovery was developed the water-flooding method that is being used with such conspicuous success.

In the last five years production of Pennsylvania grade crude oil, the highest-priced petroleum, has increased 37 per cent. The Bradford field alone produced 6,000,000 barrels in 1928 and 7,600,000 last year, and it is believed it would go to 10,000,000 barrels this year but for the producers' agreement to curtail output.

Scarcely more than 10 years ago the early exhaustion of the nation's petroleum supply was foreseen by geologists, and plans were being made to extract substitutes from shale and coal. And now we are told there is more oil in the ground than has been taken out, and the problem is to reduce production so the producers may get a fair price.

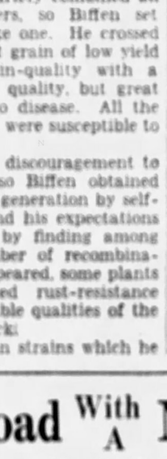
THE SCIENCE OF LIFE

By H. G. WELLS
In Collaboration With
Prof. Julian Huxley and George P. Wells.

SEC. 8. PLANT BREEDING—SOME PRACTICAL APPLICATIONS

Mendel's Second Law tells us how to shuffle and re-deal the characters of animals or plants and obtain new varieties.

If we take two markedly different strains and cross them, the first hybrid generation will be uniform, but in the next there will be a wild effusion of all sorts of combinations of the characters of the parents. This fact is obviously of practical importance.



H. G. Wells

If a breeder who possesses a good strain of animal or plant then finds another strain, in itself of poor general quality but with one desirable character which the other lacks, and if this desirable character depends on one or a few Mendelian factors, then by crossing the two and subsequently selecting from individually tested specimens in the second and later generations, he can build up a new synthetic strain, a new vital compound, in which all the desirable qualities of both types are united.

This method has been applied with great practical success to wheat by Sir Rowland Biffen. The National Association of British and Irish Millers, dissatisfied with the wheats at their disposal, requested Biffen to try to improve them.

They demanded a beardless wheat immune to the fungus disease known as rust, with a high yield per acre, and with "hard" grain, rich in gluten, and so of good milling and breadmaking quality.

No known variety combined all these characters, so Biffen set himself to make one. He crossed a rust-resistant grain of low yield and poor grain-quality with a wheat of good quality, but great susceptibility to disease. All the first generation were susceptible to rust.

This was no discouragement to a Mendelian, so Biffen obtained a large second generation by self-fertilization, and his expectations were justified by finding among the large number of recombinations which appeared, some plants which combined rust-resistance with the desirable qualities of the susceptible stock.

The two main strains which he manufactured by Mendelian principles, "Little Joss" and "Yeoman," though only put on the market in 1912 and 1917, respectively, occupied by 1927 about a third of the wheat-growing area of the world.

The American plant-breeder, Luther Burbank, who died in 1926, employed similar methods. He used to cross two widely separated varieties or species, and from the disappointingly uniform first generation to raise a huge second and then to select the best types from this.

His white blackberry was one success among 65,000 unsuitable combinations; the parents of his edible spineless cactus were isolated from among hundreds of grandchildren of a cross, some of which were more hopeless in appearance, more spiny and more woody than either parent.

Among two thousand in the second generation of a cross between Oriental and Opium Poppy, no two were alike.

This, of course, is entirely in accord with Mendelian principles; the variety of new types is due to new recombinations having taken place among the many different genes brought in by the two parents. Curiously enough, Burbank did not seem to realize this. He was a Mendelian without admitting it.

But the most remarkable success so far achieved in applying genetic principles to commercial practice has been the work of that practical people, the Dutch.

In 1928 two-thirds of the total sugar crop of Java (a sugar crop second only to that of Cuba) was grown from a pure stock of sugar cane known as "P.O.J. 2878." This year (1930) over 95 per cent of the crop is being grown from it.

This cane (we are utilizing the information in Mr. Ormsby-Gore's interesting report on his visit to Malaya, Ceylon, and Java in 1928) has a yield per acre nearly twenty per cent greater than any other known variety; and in addition is more resistant to the numerous ills that cane is heir to in the East Indies.

Only in 1921 was the possibility of creating such an improved strain first seriously envisaged.

CLIMBING MOUNT EVEREST

By Archibald Henderson

Great glory, innumerable prizes, medals, and distinctions and the entire world's acclaim await the daring adventurer who will be the first to ascend to the highest point on the world's rugged surface. It is estimated that Mount Everest, the highest peak on earth, is 29,141 feet high. Groups of adventurous souls, hardened by the severest trials and experiences in mountain climbing, continue to attempt this mighty task, resolute in their racial determination on conquest.

For a century adventurous spirits have been flinging themselves vainly at these inaccessible slopes and peaks. One must go back a century and more to the brothers Schlagentweit and to Sir Joseph Hooker, who were pioneers in mountain climbing in India. The highest mountain summit ever attained by man, Trisul in Garhwal, 23,406 feet, was won through the prowess of Dr. T. G. Longstaff.

The Duke of the Abruzzi in 1919 climbed even higher, coming within 500 feet of the summit of Bridge Peak, in the Karakorams. As it was, he reached a point, on this peak, 24,600 feet above sea level. Many others have won fame in this region. Mummery, Mrs. Bullock Workman, Pocock, Johnson, Graham, Jacot-Guillarmod and Sir Martin Conway, to mention the most conspicuous.

Three great assaults have been launched against Mount Everest, all being British expeditions. Almost three decades ago the world was startled and stirred by Maj. Younghusband's epochal penetration of Tibet. It is presumed that he was the first man ever to secure a full view of Mount Everest (1903), with the exception of the natives of Tibet.

The first attempt was launched in 1921, the leading figures in the small expedition being Howard Bury and George Leigh-Mallory. They launched their assault at Chang La, the historic North Col—a saddle on the mountain flanks. After a whole summer's work, after camping at an altitude of 20,000 feet, they finally surmounted this great wall, attaining an altitude of 23,000 feet. Everest loomed aloft, forbidding and inaccessible. The expedition was abandoned.

The following year they again attempted the impossible. They established four base camps, the last on the desolate North Col itself. Mallory, Somervill, Norton and Morshead were the first men on Everest (May 20, 1912), and the first three climbed to a height of 27,000 feet. Five days later Finch and Godfrey Bruce climbed to the dizzy height of 27,235 feet. They were within a half mile of the top—but the terrific weather conditions defeated their further attempt.

In 1925 Mallory, Somervill and Norton, accompanied by other adventurous spirits, Odell, Hazard and Irvine, attacked the task anew. From their sixth camp, 26,800 feet high, Norton and Somervill climbed higher, the former reaching an altitude of 28,000 feet. On June 8 Mallory and Irvine made one long upward thrust for the peak. They never returned. Perhaps they reached the summit, only to perish there in icy glory.

LISTEN, WORLD

By Elsie Robinson

Remember the autograph albums we had when we were youngsters, stranger? And how Lucy wrote—"Roses are red, violets are blue, pinks are sweet, and so are you"—and Alfred 'n' Miriam 'n' Stella followed suit with similar sugary sentiments? Well, the youngsters of today have like contraptions, but if you look for sugar in them, you will search in vain.

"Slam Books"—that's what they call these modern school day souvenirs and they are just that. Over his autograph each frank young friend writes exactly what he thinks of the owner of the book. And he usually thinks PLENTY!

Alice is informed that she's "too boy struck" or "too affected." Bill learns that he is "a flat tire"—"a piker"—"stuck on himself." If compliments are in order, they are also recorded, but never effusively.

Taken as a whole, the Slam Book gives a fairly accurate report of its owner's standing in his or her community.

Like it? They have to like it! Heaven help the youngster who yelps about the truth after he has asked for it! Forthwith he will be booed, razzed and ruthlessly branded as a bum sport by all his friends.

There's a sign of the times for you. Think of the tears and pouts and bleeding hearts if anyone had written slams in those gilt-edge brochures of our youth! Ours was a sentimental era. Truth was the last thing we wanted. And this applied to every department of our lives. We weren't supposed to discuss unpleasant things. We weren't even supposed to know unpleasant things about ourselves. Psychology, that snoopy science, had not as yet yanked the lid off our lives. The facts of life were discreetly covered with pink cotton wadding.

Theoretically, that should have filled life with sweetness and light. But actually it didn't. It was a dingy, sorrowful, covered-plumbing period, that Victorian era.

Remember how you suffered as a youngster from your secret confusions and resentment. You didn't understand yourself and no one could or would give you a hand. Your whole life might have been different if somebody had.

Psychology, industry—and the ghastly exposure of the late war—have changed all that. We have learned the price of sentimentality. The youngsters of today are facing life and themselves as IS. If they don't know what it's all about it won't be their friends' fault. The Slam Book and all it implies is a great thing for the human race. It will do for our minds what civilization has done for our bodies. Civilization brought our bodies down from trees and out of caves and made them walk like men. The Slam Book will bring young minds out of caves and teach them to stand erect and face the sun of reality.

Worst Story I Have Heard Today

By WILL ROGERS.

Girls that go to summer camps ought to learn how to swim. And matrons at summer camps ought to know how to swim, too. There was a terrible sad case of a Mrs. Thompson that was a matron of a camp up North somewheres. She fell into the lake, and she was almost alone at the time. But there was a girl saw her, a real good swimmer. She went in and pulled her out.

When she come to, Mrs. Thompson says, "Say, Rachael you're a hero. That was awful good of you to pull me out and save my life. What can I do to repay you?"

"Why, if you will Mrs. Thompson," says Rachael, "I'd rather you didn't mention it to any of the girls at all."

"Well of all things! Why not?"

"Well, you see, they'd never forgive me."

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELIS.

Words

There are words that shine and sing,
Words as gay as bird on wing
We hear, sometimes;
Words as sweet as any rose
Which upon the lips disclose
Their silvery chimes.

There are words like faith and trust
That can lift us from the dust,
Thrilling life anew;
There are brave words, hope and truth,
There are joyous words like youth,
Fresh as April dew.

There are words which all men prize,
Words whose magic never dies,
Love is one, and fame;
Some words ring with melody,
But the sweetest word to me
Is just . . . your name!

"Bugs" Baer Says:

Key States

New Jersey has grabbed the lead-off position in politics long held by the sovereign state of Maine.

"Bugs" Baer

Maine was Republican long before it got to be notorious. It was Republican when Washington held that winter sports carnival at Valley Forge and it will continue to be Republican until the sands of the desert are back on the barroom floor.

As Maine goes, so goes the election. We heard that slogan many years ago. We drank it in with mother's milk and they are still drinking it with father's gin.

Statesmen and other forms of vegetable life watched the Maine returns like an ant watches a picnic grove.

That was yesterday. Today the nation is listening to the state of New Jersey which has suddenly been wired for transcontinental sound and has burst into song like a talking picture. It started when Dwight Morrow announced that he would seek the senatorial nomination on a platform so wet that the plaster would fall off the ceiling of the apartment below.

And he grabbed it. He will be civilian observer in Washington. He is for beer for the working man at a time when the hum and throb of industry has crowded all the park benches.

Mr. Hoover was neutral during the contest but is normal again. Beer for the working man is great if you want his lunch hour to last for the rest of the day and most of the next night.

Dwight Morrow wants the Eighteenth Amendment blistered and peeled and a new coat of paint put on the Blue Laws. He wants the return of liquor control to the states.

He thinks he is perfectly Dwight.

But return of liquor control to the states may be impossible. The cities may refuse to give it up.

Three opponents ran against Mr. Morrow. Showing that you do not have to be on foot to be a jaywalker.

Two of his competitors were drys. A dry is a man who can fall into a lake of Scotch and not have sense enough to open his mouth and yell for help. At least you drown happy.

This is why New Jersey has taken Maine's place as the bell cow in the national herd. Jersey is wet. And admits it. While Maine demands a trial by jury.

Abroad With A New Yorker

By O. O. McIntyre

PARIS: After ordering a breakfast of oeufs, brioche et cafe au lait over the telephone in my well known French and receiving a strip of salt mackeral and a boiled potato I lit a shuck for the Cafe de la Paix. That's the place for a visiting yap anyway.

If you converse in French to a waiter there he sends for an interpreter. It is axiomatic that if you sit long enough in front of the Cafe de la Paix you will see someone from home. That is probably true of any place in the world—if you sit long enough.

However, to my mind a wicker chair on the Boulevard des Capucine's side of this famous restaurant is the most interesting observation point on the globe. The world drifts amiably and leisurely by. There is romance in the stately trees, spreading their foliage in a leafy arcade. And the birds are well mannered.

Down the middle of the wide boulevard is the caravan of red wheeled fiacres with blowzy drivers nodding under patent leather plug hats. The gaudy octagonal sign posts shriek of Paris—the Paris of Kub, Potages Maggi, the Fratellinis, Chocolat Menier, Au Bon Marche and La Grand Maison This and Dernieres Nouvelles That.

Too, the American newsboys with their tinge of Bowery patois, the Latin Quarter students in wide black hats, the provincials with Joe Weber derbies, timid school marms sipping their first cocktail guiltily, rachitic may sellers, whispering peep show guides, watery-eyed old men strapped to huge portable signs, etc.

The Cafe de la Paix is operated by the management of the Grand Hotel which occupies the corner. It is the biggest paying venture of the sort in the world. There are 318 sidewalk tables on its two sides. Its terrasse accommodates 1,200 people and in balmy weather does capacity business.

The Cafe de la Paix does not attract tourists only. In its small dining salons will be found some of the famous gourmets of France. There are many Parisians who make a custom of idling at a sidewalk table there for an hour or so every week. It is their relaxation—like going to the opera or theater. The French love to gawk.

Official dinner hour in French cafes is 9 o'clock. Not many natives attend the theater and cafes are always empty by 10:30 o'clock. There are few after theater supper places for dancing save in the district between Place Blanche and the Place Pigalle in Montmartre. Downtown Paris is as quiet as Gallipolis, O., after 10 o'clock at night. The caped gendarme with his white club and complete air of detachment is about the only figure seen after that hour.

Dancing here as in America has suffered a decline in popularity. The gigolo and professional dancers are in almost complete retirement. People who used to haunt dance places now idle at the brasseries where the favorite tipple is beer and where single plates of meats or vegetables are served.

To my notion the most charming square in Paris is the porticoed Place des Vosges. We walked there this evening in the gathering twilight. At No. 6 is where Victor Hugo lived and wrote—now converted into "a museum for" his relics. Dumas spent much time there, as did Balzac, de Musset and Charles Dickens. Madam de Sevigne lived here for 20 years and Henry II was killed in Place des Vosges skylarking with a chief of staff. My dog added a touch of history by bristling up to a French poodle and receiving a deserving nip on the haunch—the little smart alec.

There is a brooding melancholy about these coldly blue ancient Paris squares at night. The wayfarer feels as though he might be disturbing the ghosts of the gallant gentlemen and bepowdered ladies of long ago. Instinctively the step is lighter and the voice drops to a whisper.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

You long for a "loafing time."

You would like to be relieved of all responsibility, of the necessity of making a living.

You can think of so many things you would like to do if you had the time and the money.

But you haven't the money and you have not made any extra effort to the extent of being independent.

Would you be content to be idle without a bank account to carry out these much-thought-of plans?

You feel that you would not tire of a life which carried no objective requiring labor or exertion on your part.

But those who have tried such an indolent mode of living have not enjoyed its lazy lack of routine.

The normal person has a desire to accomplish something.

Admitting you are normal, you would soon weary of no ambition for the morrow and nothing in sight to achieve.

The privileges you now enjoy come as a result of faithful effort and bring a degree of pleasure you could not experience if they did not represent more or less sacrifice.

Text For Today

If ye abide in me, and my words abide in you, ye shall ask what ye will, and it shall be done unto you.—John 1xv:7.
